[illegible] Williams will drop from [illegible] on the list of thirty-five [illegible] Corps colonels to No. 22. ARMS MEET PLAN HIT

Coolidge Against New Parley

Opposes Japanese Idea for Meeting With England and United States

President Unwilling to Take Any Step Endangering Geneva Conference

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Emphatically and without any reservations President Coolidge let it be known at the White House today that he is wholly out of sympathy with the suggestion advanced at Geneva by the Japanese delegation to the preliminary arms conference that a second naval limitations conference be assembled at Washington, the United States, Japan and Great Britain alone participating, to consider further reductions in naval armaments.

Cabled reports from Geneva today said that "much interest is evidenced here as to the ideas of the United States and Great Britain on the viewpoint." That interest, so far as the United States is concerned, can be allayed. This government, just so long as a practical scheme of reduction of military strength has any promise of emerging from the Geneva conference, will not associate itself with any proposal for another sort of a conference to the same end.

WANTS TO HELP GENEVA

That is, the Coolidge administration will not permit itself to be entangled in any arrangement that by any possibility might serve to make the present effort at Geneva a failure. This government is going the limit to help the Geneva conference on the road to success. If that conference fails, something else may be considered.

President Coolidge wants it known that in stating the position of the United States he does not mean to criticise, either directly or by inference, the Japanese for advancing their proposal. It is obvious that the President appreciates the implied compliment that Japan has paid to America by expressing a willingness to come to Washington for further consideration of limitations on sea power. Nevertheless in the interests of promoting accord at Geneva he rejects the suggestion as inopportune and as tending to weaken the possibilities that now lie in the Geneva conference.

NOT CONSULTED

The President was particularly emphatic in making known that he had not been consulted in ad-

OIL COMBINE BLAMED FOR PRICE RISES

Senator Asserts People Victimized by Demands of Gasoline Companies

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Calling up his resolution directing the Federal Trade Commission to investigate the increased price of gasoline and other petroleum products, Senator Trammell, Democrat, Florida, declared today that concerted advances in prices indicated a violation of the anti-trust law.

"The oil companies are exacting millions and millions of dollars from the American people," he added. "When there is an increase in New York, there is an increase in Indiana and Florida."

Later he agreed to hold off action on the resolution until next week.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey today advanced the tank wagon price of gasoline 1 cent a gallon throughout its territory.

New quotations are 19 cents in New Jersey, Maryland, the district of Columbia, Virginia and West Virginia, and 19½ cents in North Carolina. The Texas Company followed the advance of 1 cent by the Standard of New Jersey.

DAVIS TELLS OF NEEDS IN WAR CRISES

Describes Difficulties of Planning Mobilization in Minimum Time

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Although the basic "six army" mobilization plan of the War Department involves forces aggregating only about 3,000,000, or one thirty-fifth of the population, the supposition that it would need only the diversion to its uses in war of one thirty-fifth of the country's productive capacity is wholly wrong, Secretary of War Davis told the Quratermaster Reserves today in convention here.

The task of carrying out the instructions of Congress to make plans for a "complete and immediate mobilization," he said, "involved an almost unbelievable amount of labor," but could be accomplished by decentralization of the load "with control and supervision only in Washington."

"Everything we can foresee that will enable the industry of the country to absorb readily the wartime load is being studied out and planned now, so that a minimum of reorganization or disruption will be necessary on the outbreak of an emergency," he declared.

The convention includes business men as well as Quartermaster Reserve officers and was called by Maj.-Gen. Cheatham, quartermaster general of the Army, for a two-day discussion of industrial mobilization and related supply problems.

GLOBE GIRDLER MAKES TIME

John Goldstrom Averages 563 Miles Daily Crossing Atlantic in Around-World Race

BY JOHN GOLDSTROM

[BY WIRELESS—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

[Copyright, 1926, by North American Newspaper Alliance]

ABOARD SS. MAURETANIA, May 21.—The around-the-world race is on in dead earnest now, with Capt. Rostron of the Mauretania and all hands helping me to make the minutes count. After losing five miles on my schedule yesterday, I was carried over 601 miles of

The course by this old ocean greyhound today and Capt. Rostron has promised that he will drop me off Plymouth six hours ahead of schedule time. There a seaplane will be waiting to carry me to Croydon where I can take a regular passenger plane to Berlin.

The passengers are taking great interest in my race and there are many pools on the daily mileage of the vessel, the time for our run, and a good many personal bets on my venture. I was fortunate enough to win one of the pools on the day's run myself.

The fog of yesterday had entirely disappeared today, though we had a light rain. Everything seems favorable to a quick completion of this lap of the voyage.

With almost everyone outdoors early this morning I lingered like a sleepybones in my berth, thinking of sleepless hours ahead. I mean to be in the best condition of my life when the really gruelling part of the trip begins, the almost continuous flying day and night from Plymouth to Yokohama. The great passenger planes from Croydon, outside London, to Berlin and from Berlin to Moscow are more or less luxurious and one can snatch naps in them but it is not like home and a bed.

I have now used two of my thirty-five days and 1126 miles of the 18,500 I have to travel are behind me. My daily average has been 563 miles, the average required is 530 miles. After reaching Plymouth I will log this trip with the time of John Henry Mears, the record holder, over the same distances so that readers of The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance will be able to estimate my chance of breaking his record from day to day.

VARIED PAR FOR STOCK HELD VALID

State Supreme Court, in Decision on Corporation, Rules Sale Within Law

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—A decision holding that corporations may conduct business in California with their capitalization represented by stock of different par values was handed down here today by the State Supreme Court. The Attorney-General had contended in the case at issue, the Commonwealth Acceptance Corporation against Frank C. Jordan, Secretary of State, that the corporation could not operate here because three different pars appeared on its stock issues.

The corporation was incorporated in Delaware. The Attorney-General held that it would not be fair to California corporations to permit "foreign" companies so to adjust their capitalization where purely California corporations are denied this right.

The court, in granting a writ of mandate to the Delaware company to compel Jordan to accept and credit its certificate of incorporation, held that a division or difference of stock pars is no barrier to the performance of commercial business in the State. The decision is regarded as an important one by court officials, as it may have the effect of changing the status of present stock issues.

ROYALTY OF JAPAN GO ON ALLOWANCE

Budget System Drawn Up for Princes of Imperial House to Follow

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TOKIO, May 21. — Members of the imperial family of Japan, where the prerogatives of royalty have been as little touched as in any modern land, are going on an allowance. A commission named by imperial edict to effect retrenchment in the expenses of the princes of the blood imperial has drawn up a budget system for the descendants of the sun goddess.

Heretofore living expenses of the imperial family have been met out of a yearly state grant of 4,500,000 yen (about $2,250,000) nominally apportioned by the Emperor. Under the plan drafted by the Emperor's commission it is understood that Prince Chichibu, second son of his majesty and next in line of succession to the Prince Regent, and Prince Takamatsu, the Emperor's third son, are to receive 100,000 yen ($50,000) yearly.

The annual state grant of 4,500,000 yen does not mean that the imperial family has been living within that figure. It is one of the richest reigning families in the world, holding lands and securities that make a neat family fortune totalling probably $500,000,000.

El Paso Nurses Refuse to Take Case of Typhus

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL PASO (Tex.) May 21.—Here's a chance for some trained nurse to earn $20 a day practicing her profession. A new case of typhus was discovered in the Mexican quarter here by the City Health Department. A call was sent to the City-County Hospital for a nurse to assume charge of the case. The emergency pay for typhus nurses is $20 a day because of the danger of contracting the disease. No volunteers from the hospital staff were forthcoming and it was necessary to instruct one of the members of the Mexican woman's family in the care of the patient until a nurse can be obtained. This is the fourth typhus case reported this year.

HAUGEN BILL DEFEATED

Aswell Will Combine Own and Tincher Bills as Substitute

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Farm-relief legislation received a setback in the House today with the defeat, 212 to 167, of the Haugen price-stabilization bill.

This action cleared the calendar of all farm proposals, as the two other bills, the Tincher credit plan and the Curtis-Aswell commodity marketing measure, were withdrawn by their authors.

After the adverse vote on the Haugen bill, Representative Tilson, the Republican leader, announced that the next move was up to the Agriculture Committee.

Representative Aswell of Louisiana, ranking Democrat on the committee and a co-author of the Curtis-Aswell proposal, said he will attempt to obtain a favorable report on a compromise measure containing the principal provisions of his and the Tincher bills. He had such an amalgamated bill ready for presentation today but the parliamentary situation prevented its consideration. He predicted that the two measures combined will command sufficient strength to pass.

The vote on the Haugen bill, which embraces the relief plan of farm organizations from the corn belt, was not in accord with recommendations of Secretary Jardine, came after a series of motions that tied the House in a parliamentary knot and kept it in an uproar.

Chairman Madden of the Appropriations Committee moved to recommit the bill to the Agricultural Committee and after a long wrangle over whether this motion was in order, Representative Mapes, Republican, Michigan, presiding, was sustained in his ruling that it was proper.

At first, on a standing vote, the House, 197 to 176, ordered the bill recommitted. A vote by tellers then was demanded, and by a narrower margin, 171 to 166, the House voted again to recommit, members filing up the center aisle to indicate their vote.

The parliamentary way finally was cleared for a roll call vote on the question, and then, as they went on record, enough members switched to make the result 182 to 200 against referring the bill back to committee. A roll call on final passage then was ordered.

After defeat of the Haugen bill, Mr. Aswell attempted to bring up his proposal as a substitute, but Speaker Longworth ruled it out of order in view of the previous withdrawal of this measure and the Tincher proposal.

On the roll call Representatives Barbour and Swing of the California delegation voted for the bill, while Representatives Carter, Curry, Free, Kahn and Lea voted against it. Representatives Fredericks and Lineberger were not present.

Salvation Army Head Suffers Serious Relapse

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Miss Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in the United States for twenty-two years, who is seriously ill with appendicitis at her home in White Plains, N. Y., suffered a severe attack of nausea tonight and her condition was pronounced by physicians to be "very low." A nervous collapse and kidney trouble has complicated her illness.

She was stricken with appendicitis while attending a Salvation Army officers' congress in Chicago, April 24, last. Gen. W. Bramwell Booth, her brother, who was in this country when she became ill, recently returned to England believing she was well on the way to recovery.

Lifting of Ban on California Cattle Sought

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SALEM (Or.) May 21.—Revocation of the quarantine order issued following the foot-and-mouth disease epidemic in California two years ago, has been recommended to Gov. Pierce by the State Live-Stock Sanitary Board and it is expected he will revoke the ban within a few days.

Oregon is believed to be the last State to recommend revocation of its quarantine order which prohibited shipment of live stock over the northern boundary of California unless the shipment had been certified by either the State of Oregon or Federal officials.

Prewar German Banknotes Are Held Worthless

BERLIN, May 21.—The hopes of thousands of holders of prewar German bank notes that some day the notes again will become legal tender have been crushed by an adverse decision by the court at Leipsig.

The decision upheld the contention of a lower court that these prewar notes have ceased to be legal tender.

FEDERAL DRY AUTHORITY GIVEN TO ALL OFFICERS

Coolidge Directs That Municipal, County and State Forces be Added to Andrews's Staff

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—An order by President Coolidge authorizing the appointment of State, county and municipal police as Federal prohibition officers was made public today at the Treasury.

The order was dated at the White House the 8th inst. and was issued in the absence of Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement, upon whose recommendation it was drawn.

While ready to take prompt advantage of the order, prohibition officers are not prepared to announce to what extent they will avail themselves of the authority to almost quadruple the strength of the enforcement army. It was indicated that this will be left in large measure to local administrators.

States which have laws prohibiting their officers from serving the government will be exempt from the order and it was explained that in the others local officers will be employed only by mutual consent and that the "nominal compensation" provided probably would be only $1 a year, a government salary which came into vogue with the World War.

CALIFORNIA IDEA

Commissioner Jones explained that one purpose of the order will be to permit local officers to ignore city, county and State lines in pursuing dry law violators. Another, he said, was to bring about a partnership between the Federal and local forces.

The plan was first suggested by the California prohibition administrator, and it is expected to be put in practice in that area first.

The order of President Coolidge reads:

"In order that they may more efficiently function in the enforcement of the national prohibition act, any State, county or municipal officer may be appointed, at a nominal rate of compensation, as prohibition officer of the Treasury Department to enforce the provisions of the national Prohibition Act, and acts supplemental thereto, in States and Territories, except in those States having constitutional or statutory provisions against State officers holding office under the Federal government."

Appointment of the State and city officers as Federal agents will be done only by mutual consent of all parties concerned, Commissioner Jones of the prohibition bureau, said.

PLANS SURVEY

Before any appointments are made prohibition officials have asked administrators to conduct a survey and to report as to the extent they wish to and can take advantage of the executive order.

In all States in which it is possible, however, it is planned ultimately to make a use of the new authority. How many States have laws which would prevent the appointments is not known at prohibition quarters.

Almost immediately after the order was published its constitutionality came under attack from Senators Goff, Republican, West Virginia, a former assistant Attorney-General; King, Democrat, Utah, a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and others.

DECLARED OUTRAGE

On the other hand, Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, another member of the Judiciary Committee, declared it is constitutional and asserted that the regulations promulgated by President Wilson in carrying out the draft act formed a precedent for the utilization of State and municipal officers by the Federal government.

Beyond characterizing the order as an "outrage," Senator Bruce withheld comment, explaining that he will express his opinions in a speech in the Senate. For more than four hours he frequently sought to get recognition, but was unable to do so until just before adjournment late in the day.

Declaring that he found no legal authority for such an order in the Volstead Act, the Marylander said that if he did not think so well of President Coolidge he would

STEIWER IN LEAD OVER STANFIELD

Oregon Senator Second in Primary Contest With Wet Far Behind

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 21.—Frederick Steiwer, attorney and wheat grower of Pendleton, held the lead in the race for the Republican nomination for United States Senator when early returns were tabulated tonight. Reports from 407 precincts out of 1847 in the State gave Steiwer 10,680; Senator Stanfield, 6571; Alfred E. Clark, 5226; L. B. Sandblast, "wet" candidate, 3133. The others in the race stood: Crossley, 2249; Shumway, 1024; Mrs. Rose Barrett, 814; Evey, 239.

These returns represented twenty-three out of the thirty-six counties in the State, but the bulk was from Multnomah county.

Gov. Pierce was leading more than two to one in available returns in the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor. With 238 precincts counted, Pierce had 2977; Mrs. Louise Palmer Weber, "wet" candidate, had 1208.

M. E. Crumpacker, incumbent, had a heavy majority over Norman S. Richards, "wet" candidate, and B. F. Mulkey in the race for the Republican Congressional nomination from the Third District. Incomplete returns from 405 precincts out of 532, give Crumpacker 16,492; Mulkey 5305, and Richards 2872.

France Denies Civilian Deaths in Bombardment

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, May 21.—The French government, in reply to an inquiry from the Associated Press, today authorized an official statement upon the dispatch published by the London Daily Express stating that several hundred civilians, including women and children, were killed in a bombardment of Damascus by the French on May 7.

The government statement says "it is false that hundreds of peaceable inhabitants, including women and children, perished in the fight." The few civilians who remained in the atacked section of the city were warned in advance and it had been evacuated.

The description of the fighting published in the Daily Express, the statement says, was incorrect and misleading.

CHURCH LAUNCHES DRIVE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, May 21.—The First Congregational Church tonight launched a $100,000 building fund campaign at a dinner attended by 125 church members and business men who will participate in the drive. The campaign will be of six days duration and will be led by Mayor Raymond J. Wheeler and others.

UNION RIOTER SENT TO JAIL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—For the first time since the inception of the carpenters' strike a rioter was sent to jail today. Two others were fined. While violence abated in San Francisco, a case of an attack on a nonunion carpenter was reported in Oakland. During the day the Mayor's conciliation committee of Supervisors met with strike leaders but what took place at the meeting was not made public.

Following a conference with Dist.-Atty. Brady, the grand jury's committee of investigation announced that a general session will be held by the grand jury next week to which city officials and all others concerned with the strike will be summoned.

SENT TO JAIL

Charles Hubbard, a union carpenter, was the man sent to jail. Police Judge O'Brien imposed a thirty-day sentence on finding Hubbard guilty of simple assault and fined him $25 for disturbing the peace. John Laurence and Alfred Bishop, co-defendants with Hubbard, were fined $25 for disturbing the peace and a fourth defendant, Charles Davis, was dismissed.

The four men were arrested by Detective Sergeant Millaken April 28, last, when they are asserted to have beaten William Unruth and James Lane, nonunion carpenters.

When their cases came up for hearing before Judge O'Brien today, Atty. James Brennan appeared as special prosecutor on behalf of the Industrial Association but was not permitted by Ass't. Dist. Atty. Cournen, prosecutor in that court, to participate in the proceedings.

NOTICE OF APPEAL

Atty. Carl Bucher, counsel for the four accused, immediately filed notice of appeal in behalf of Hubbard.

"I believe that the court has given a just decision in all of these cases except that of Hubbard," Bucher told Judge O'Brien. "I feel that he should have been shown greater leniency—that he should at most have been given a suspended sentence."

Judge O'Brien responded:

"The evidence shows that Hubbard not only took an active part in the beating of these nonunion carpenters but that he kicked them repeatedly after they were down."

KAISER TRANSFORMED BY YEARS INTO PATRIARCH

Journalist Who Knew Emperor in Berlin Before War Describes Him as He Appears at Doorn

The following dispatch was written by Elmer Roberts, who from 1902 to 1911 was chief of the Berlin bureau of the Associated Press and is now chief of the Paris bureau. While in Berlin, Mr. Roberts personally knew the German Emperor, but had not since seen him until his visit to Doorn, where this dispatch is dated. He was sent there on special assignment to tell how the kaiser appears at the present time.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

DOORN (Holland,) May 21.—While Emperor William of Germany ruled in Imperial splendor at Potsdam, the correspondent who writes this dispatch, from 1902 to 1911, was chief of the Berlin bureau of the Associated Press. He was frequently in personal contact with the Emperor. Since then he has been chief of the Paris bureau. He has now come to visit Doorn to observe how the one-time warlord is living the new life forced upon him by the fortune of war and how he appears after the passing of these fifteen eventful years.

The Kaiser has grown venerable; the gray-bearded, white-haired warlord would surely not be recognized in Berlin if he were to stroll through Unter Den Linden as he does today through the streets of Doorn. The rigid regimental face, greatly changed by the beard and by years, smiles benevolently, even patriarchically, upon the townspeople.

SPEAKS TO ALL

Everybody who lives here feels that he knows the former Kaiser. He never misses a day, no matter what the weather, in walking through the main streets. The women and girls nod or curtsey; the men and boys lift their hat or caps. William always responds with a certain impressiveness by raising his own hat, often saying "good morning" in Dutch, his face beaming. The contrast with his automatic military salute of other days is surprising.

Now he is civil. He wears a gray sack suit with an overcoat in darker gray, gray soft hat creased in the middle cocked at a careless angle and dark purple tie and a turndown collar. For dinner he puts on the fatigue uniform of a German field marshal, but he never appears in uniform on foot outside thte grounds.

He looks as though life goes well with him. He is straight and firm of step and talks animatedly with his companions. He almost always has a guest or guests stopping with him at Doorn house, and if by chance none is with him in his walks he is attended by an adjutant. He does not leave his estate alone. There may be Dutch secret service agents around, but no one looking the part follows him. The general impression his passage through the town might give is that of a kindly landlord among his tenants.

BECOMES ASSET

Everything has been done to cultivate the good will of the town and neighborhood. All the supplies for the House of Doorn are bought in the town. A subscription for any good work can always be had from the former Emperor. William himself and his wife bought almost the entire stocks of clothing and shoes for men, women and children flood sufferers a few weeks ago in Doorn stores.

William has become an asset of this pleasant town. The gossip that his consort, Hermine, is urging him to move elsewhere so that they may have a larger and more worldly life, rather distresses the burghers.

They do not wish to lose a resident who has put their town of 4000 upon the international map, as it were. They would miss him. Only one adverse comment is made by the townsmen to whom the correspondent has talked. "The Kaiser pays no taxes," they say.

"Everybody else is taxed, and taxed heavily, and why not the Kaiser?"

The correspondent could not answer this, but it appears from inquiries that it is true William is not taxed. He was taxed during the first two years, after he had bought his property here; but some arrangement was made, it is said, which exempts him. The equality-loving Dutch do not like that.

Up at 6 o'clock in the morning, William begins his daily routine; begins with breakfast in his room and then private devotions. He begins his walk about 8 o'clock, and at precisely 8:45 each morning he leads a religious service for all the members of the household. His wife, her two daughters and guests, his staff and secretaries, and the servants, about twenty of them, assemble in the large entrance hall. William, who as King of Prussia, was the primate of the State Lutheran clergy, takes a text from the Bible and speaks upon it for a few minutes. He closes with the Lord's Prayer.

Sundays, the service is at a later hour and longer. Pastor Herbst of the German Lutheran Congregation at The Hague comes out on Sunday once a month and preaches. Another minister of the Moravian sect also comes now and then from Zeist.

Week days, after morning prayers, William goes by auto to do his wood-cutting exercise in a small forest near Maarn, where he crossed the frontier into Holland in November, 1918. He uses a curiously shaped wide-bladed knife-like ax and a handsaw. After lunch he takes a nap and then works with a secretary. He writes a good deal himself and will leave as a legacy to his family, perhaps to the world, an intimate account of what took place behind the screen during and at the close of the war.

He has been described by guests as feeling deeply the constantly recurring assertion that he ran away when he had lost the war and abandoned his army and his people. He has explained this to his visitors substantially this:

Admiral Von Hintze, former foreign secretary, at the time of the revolutionary collapse, urged on William abdication and retirement from the country. The admiral implored this sacrifice on the ground that their country could obtain better terms of peace from the Allies. The Kaiser, as Von Hintze pointed out, was regarded by Germany's enemies as responsible for the war. If he were to give up the throne and leave the country a great step would be taken toward satisfying the Allies.

The Kaiser had much confidence ni Von Hintze. His plea was supported by the chancellor, Prince Max of Baden, by Von Hindenburg, by Von Tirpitz, and by Ludendorff. William had no one in his entourage to resist this view. He reluctantly agreed, but as he affirms, for the sake of Germany alone. This explanation of his motives is being widely circulated in Germany.

Escape from boredom and contact with the world are constant studies of the members of William's little court. This consists at present of Admiral Von Rebeur-Paschwitz, the Marshal of the Court; Maj. Mewes, Adjutant of the Emperor; Capt. Ilseman, aide-de camp; Herr Nitz, confidential business secretary, and Dr. Heinemann, physician.

MANY GUESTS

The guests coming and going almost daily are former officers in the army and navy; professors, noblemen of the ancient regime, members of the Hohenzollern family of which there are about fifty in good standing; clergymen and occasionally a business man or banker. There were twenty or thirty guests from Germany at Doorn house over Easter. Those persons who can make William laugh are the most welcome. It is considered quite a success to do so and a good many stories are told in the endeavor.

William and his wife, with one or two members of the staff dine out with neighbors. Following the royal custom they invite themselves and name the day. This part of the Netherlands is called the chateau country of Holland and is covered with beautiful estates and country houses, owned by the Burgomaster of Doorn and other prominent Hollanders.

J. B. Kan, Minister of the Interior, occasionally comes to see William as it is the interior department that has to do with foreign political refugees. The government keeps a major of gendarmes and three men on duty at Doorn House. They have their offices in a part of the rather large entrance lodge. Besides, some of the elite of the secret service are employed guarding the imperial exile. All this is something of a bother to the government which, however, acts upon the traditional principle practiced for centuries of asylum and protection for all political refugees.

William and the members of his staff are extremely cautious about publicity while the controversy is going on in Germany respecting the confiscation of the royal properties. He receives now from the revenues of the sequestered estate by agreement with the Prussian government 6000,000 marks a year ($144,000.) Out of this he makes allowance to other members of the family, however, his wife is reputed to have a fortune derived from her family, the Schoenlach-Caroleths. There is talk also of certain sums deposited by the Kaiser in the Bank of England that have not been confiscated and which he may receive.

COURT-MARTIAL CASE APPROVED

of the marine corps, would comment on the case. Both Rear Admiral Campbell, Judge Advocate General of the Navy, and Gen. Lejeune recommended that the Secretary approve the sentence.

The trial at San Diego was of unusual length, producing voluminous testimony, which was under review by the judge advocate general for more than three weeks before it reached the Secretary.

It developed today that while numerous questions as to legality of certain points of evidence dealt with by the court arose during the legal review, none of these involved more than a minor consideration and that none of the evidence which might have been affected, would have influenced the outcome of the trial.

In view of his conviction and sentence, it was generally regarded as certain that Col. Williams's name would not appear upon the list of colonels eligible for promotion to the grade of brigadier-general. The court-martial's result, however, does not constitute any binding requirement on the selection board, composed entirely of general officers of the marine corps, to pass him over.

TWO ARMY CAPTAINS ARRESTED BY DRY AGENT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OMAHA, May 21.—Two army captains were confined to quarters today as their superiors investigated their arrest by a Federal prohibition agent at the gates of Fort Crook Thursday night.

They are Capt. Allen and Capt. Arnold of the Seventh Infantry. Three pints of asserted liquor was taken from their car by the agent, who said he had trailed them from Omaha where he saw them come from a house under suspicion as a liquor resort.

Col. Ross, chief-of-staff of the Seventh Corps Area, said a report of the affair would be turned over to Maj.-Gen. Poore, on whose action the possibility of a court-martial will rest.

OLD METHODS AID APPLE MARKET HERE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The market for American apples and pears in Northern Europe depends largely on the refusal of peasants to abandon their old-fashioned methods of horticulture, says a report issued today by the Department of Agriculture. It says, however, that the present generation of American apple growers need not fear that the European peasant will alter his ancient methods rapidly enough to take over the markets.

ONE ROOM FOR DIVORCED PAIR

Moscow Couple in Unusual Predicament Owing to City's Overcrowded Condition and Court's Adoption of "Economic Determinism" Policy

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MOSCOW, May 21.—The overcrowding of Moscow is so acute that even divorce is becoming impossible. Hitherto a divorce by mutual agreement was a matter of two or three hours of waiting in a government bureau, two signatures and the payment of two rubles.

But today the sad story of Citizen and Citizeness Oscipik shows a different picture. And incidentally it occupied several hours on four different occasions in four courts.

Oscipik and his wife Natalia after a few months of conjugal life, found themselves uncongenial. She, barely 21 years of age, worked in a hospital. He, 37, was a night watchman in one of the departments of the Red labor international.

So in December they went and paid two rubles and obtained a divorce, and Natalia went to stay with a girl friend. Unfortunately, she omitted to register as a new inhabitant of that dwelling—to avoid paying rent—and her ex-husband omitted [illegible] register her departure for [illegible] similar reason, because, according to Moscow law, a single person has the right only to so much living space, and must pay extra if such a one exceeds it or takes some one else—in the room.

After three or four weeks the house committee of the building where Natalia was staying discovered her presence and expelled her. Having nowhere else to go, she returned to her former husband. He said:

"You wanted a divorce. Now you have it. Good-bye."

He slammed the door in her face. She appealed to the People's Court, which after a protracted argument decided that she had a right to share his room and that he must pay a fine for refusing admittance to her—because he had not removed her name from the register.

Oscipik appealed to the higher court, which quashed the verdict and ordered a retrial. The People's Court again pondered deeply and then decided that he must give his ex-wife temporary shelter, until his house committee on whose books she is registered could find her another room.

Oscipik once more appealed but this time without any luck. The higher court now decided that Natalia has as much right to the room as he has, and therefore can share it indefinitely, divorce or no divorce.

PRISONER'S CHANCE AS HEIR WANES

Nebraska Convict Under Observation as Result of His Claims

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

LINCOLN (Neb.) May 21.—The chance of L. A. Simmons, convict in the State penitentiary, obtaining a parole in order that he might gather testimony to show that he is the missing heir to two fortunes, have gone glimmering.

The prison doctor thinks that the man is the victim of delusions with respect to great heaps of money waiting him elsewhere, and the man himself is in the hospital under observation for his sanity and in the grip of a nervous breakdown. Meanwhile his attorney, Harry R. Ankeny, has withdrawn the application for parole, and shows signs of withdrawing from the case. His surprise came when the probation officer showed up with the records of other penitentiaries. These showed that the man had served time in the State prisons of Kansas and West Virginia and in one Federal prison. He had kept these facts from his attorney. Simmons is serving a four to seven years' sentence for forging a check for $200 on the American Bank at Sidney, Neb.

Simmons first enlisted the services of the attorney to go to Chicago and lay claim to the $50,000 estate of Mrs. Mary Church, an eccentric recluse in that city who had left her estate to persons other than members of her family. Simmons told so plausible a story that the attorney was impressed, and while he was on this quest he discovered some facts that tended to show that Simmons, who asserted he was her son, was also the son of Daniel Danielson, son of a Nebraska farmer who had disappeared years ago. When his father died he left an estate of $44,000, half of which awaits the missing son's proof of heirship.

The elder Danielson's daughter visited Simmons at the prison at his request, but came away unimpressed with his claims. Simmons stoutly maintains that he is the rightful heir of both the fortunes, but the prison doctor is skeptical that he may have been reading of the quest for missing heirs and merely imagines that he is the man sought.

PACT WITH TURKEY TO BE PRESSED

Ratification at Present Session of Congress Will be Sought, Says Borah

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The Lausanne treaty with Turkey is to be pressed for ratification at this session of Congress, Chairman Borah of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, announced today after a conference with Secretary Kellogg.

Secretary Kellogg called on Senator Borah at the Capitol and also held a long conference with Senator Curtis, the Republican leader, who declined to discuss what transpired.

Senator Borah said there had been no development in the Near East that caused a decision to press the treaty; that from the first he had taken the view that it should be disposed of at this session. Both President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg long have been urging action.

Some Senators predicted that the Senate will be in session at least until August if, an effort is made to get action on the treaty. Other said the fight will be carried through the entire summer if necessary.

PRESIDENT POINTS WAY TO BUSINESS

Coolidge Urges Creation of Better Understanding Among Industrial Groups

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—President Coolidge, in a letter read tonight at a get-together dinner for agriculture, industry and transportation, sponsored by the National Industrial Council, told the groups if they could create good-will and better understanding they could "not only help one another but make a genuine contribution to our common country."

"Those who follow the industries represented in your gathering live by the exchange with an another of their services and commodities," the President's letter said. "They cannot prosper separately, nor at one another's expense. Each can make a notable contribution to our common progress, but only by better understanding of one another's common problems can they make those adjustments essential to the prosperity of a voluntary society."

The conference was described by Judge E. Edgerton, chairman of the council, as the first practical step in an effort to correlate the efforts of the various groups.

Senator Fernald, Republican, Maine, told the gathering that "prosperity cannot come to agriculture, or to industry, or to transportation, without a corresponding measure of prosperity to either or both of the others."

COURT FIGHT OPENS OVER FISHER VOTE

Vare-Beidleman Managers Request Writ as Mellon Candidate Leads

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—While primary returns continued today to increase the lead of John S. Fisher over Edward E. Beidleman for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, Beidleman supporters instituted court proceedings in Pittsburgh to insure an accurate count.

Fisher, who was the candidate of the forces led by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, was credited in unofficial returns from all but thirteen districts of the State with 14,163 more than Beidleman, backed by Representative Vare and his organization. The vote was: Fisher, 640,671; Beidleman, 626,508.

At the request of the Vare-Beidleman managers, Atty.-Gen. Woodruff filed a petition in Pittsburgh asking that the County Commissioners be required to open the tally sheets for public inspection. Decision was reserved by the court until tomorrow.

With all but 308 districts in, Representative Vare was 89,750 ahead of Senator Pepper for the Senatorial nomination. The vote was: Vare, 589,814; Pepper, 500,164, Pinchot, 330,515.

DECLARES FOR RULE BY WOMEN

Mrs. Landes Says They Are Better Fitted Than Men to Hold Office of Mayor

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Every time a woman is elected to office it is a step forward, Mrs. Bertha K. Landes, Mayor-elect of Seattle, told San Francisco women at a luncheon here today. She spoke on "What the Mayoralty Means to a Woman."

Women make better mayors than men because they are not thinking of future political careers, she said. "Women should rule in cities, since city life centers about homes," she asserted. "Women are vitally interested in matters of food inspection, street paving, garbage problems, recreation facilities, and they are the best fitted to make a city a better home.

"Women get further by a dignified campaign than by mud-slinging methods," she continued. "But they must control their emotions and keep a sense of humor. A failure by a woman in office is a decided setback to other women wanting office. I look for the time when fitness and not sex will determine capability for office."

Seattle's police department will have an opportunity of working out its own problems and choose its own chief, Mrs. Landes said.

She will assume office June 7, when Dr. Edwin J. Brown, incumbent, retires.

Seeks Passage of Forest Bill at This Session

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, May 21. — In the absence of Representative Lineberger, author of the bill sanctioning Federal and State cooperation in protecting the forest cover on the Santa Barbara, Angeles, San Bernardino and Cleveland national forests, Representative Free of the Eighth Congressional District is striving to get that bill in position where it may be favorably considered before adjournment. Now on the House calendar the bill is in position where it may be considered either by unanimous consent or under suspension of the rules, but it has little chance of passing by unanimous consent in view of the fact that it would be in conflict with the financial program of the President.

That objection, however, did not present the House Committee on Agriculture from reporting the bill and with proper management and support, it may yet get through the House. With the author away, and no one else in the House actively pushing the bill, Representative Free has taken hold to see what he can accomplish in the few remaining weeks of the session.

vance by anybody regarding the suggestion of a second naval conference at Washington, and that the responsibility for advancing it rests entirely with the Japanese. At some other time and under some other circumstances a proposal for a conference at Washington would be considered with sympathy by this government, but just now the United States is committed to the conference in session.

BRITON'S WOULD INVITE ITALY AND FRANCE TO MEET

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

GENEVA, May 21.—Englishmen in Geneva who are not connected with the British delegation of the preparatory commission on disarmament, in session here, think it would be exceedingly difficult for Great Britain to participate in a naval conference between Great Britain, Japan and the United States unless France and Italy also took part.

The three-cornered naval conference is the unofficial suggestion of the Japanese delegates. Such a conference, it is pointed out by the Englishmen, necessarily would be concerned with smaller warcraft, in which France and Italy are particularly interested. These observers declare also that the United States and Japan, having a special geographical position remote from possible enemies, can afford to give relatively little importance to the smaller warcraft, whereas Great Britain geographically is close to great powers having strength as regards noncapital ships.

Viscount Cecil has told the disarmament meeting that it was possible further agreements might be made with respect to submarines and cruisers, but he felt it his duty to point out that the number of cruisers in the British navy was largely governed by needs created by having territories overseas. Yet, he saw no reason why "by general agreement" the size of cruisers should not be diminished.

Englishmen call attention to the remarkable utility of all kinds of small craft in the late war as indicating why Great Britain probably would hesitate to discuss submarines and light cruisers unless France and Italy had a part in the parleys.

Dr. J. Goudon of Holland, president of the preparatory disarmament commission, has been appointed chairman of the drafting committee which today began recasting the provisional agenda of the proposed international disarmament conference. When these agenda are returned to the commission they will reflect the opinions disclosed in the general discussion of the past week.

Hope is strong in Geneva that the disarmament pourparlers will at least culminate in some modest start toward reduction of armaments. Great results are not expected immediately in European land armaments, chiefly because of the absence of Russia from the deliberations, and the conviction of many states that the existing security is not sufficient to justify extensive curtailment of armaments.

The drafting committee today concluded examination of four questions of the six on the provisional agenda. Tomorrow it will discuss the relations of security to disarmament. It is expected that an agreement will be reached that armament limitation must be restricted to what is peace-time strength, and cannot be extended to ultimate war strength. The military experts will define just what is meant by peace strength.

The committee has laid down the principle that defensive armaments are those used in the defense of a country, but it is agreed that the experts must clarify defensive armaments and present views as to how far military and naval budgets are guides to answering the question whether armaments are offensive or defensive.

BANK ORDERED CLOSED

Livingston Institution's "Frozen Loans" Cause Action

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—State Superintendent of Banks Johnson ordered that the first bank of Livingston, in Livingston, Merced county, be closed. Issuance of the order was made necessary, he said, because of the institution's "frozen loans."

These loans, it was pointed out, were made by a former management of the bank and the present management has been unable to eliminate them.

The bank has a capital of $65,000, total assets of $304,000 and combined savings and commercial accounts of $156,000.

Because only 5000 of the 260,000 Italian women entitled to vote, have registered, the National Feminine Union has begun a campaign to increase interest in politics.

"I don't care whether you are or Presbyterian or In- or whatever you are, so long are a Democrat.

"Let us make Democrats here instead of enemies. Let us have harmony."

The two-thirds rule resolution, which started the first battle of the convention, was introduced by Isadore Dockweiler of Los Angeles, national committeeman for California.

Speaking for his resolution under suspension of rules, Dockweiler argued that the rule requiring a two-thirds vote to nominate a Democratic candidate for President or Vice-President is contrary to the very spirit of American popular government, which is based on the rule of the majority.

SAYS MINORITY DICTATES

"The two-thirds rule," he declared, "gives the minority the right to dictate to the majority. If the majority had ruled at New York in 1924 that convention could and would have selected a standard bearer in a few ballots.

Challenged by an excited delegate to cite one instance where the people had lost anything through the operation of two-thirds rule, Dockweiler cited the case of Stephen Douglas, who, he said, had a majority of delegates' votes but failed of nomination because of the two-thirds rule.

"If Stephen Douglas had been elected," he declared, "the Civil War might have been avoided."

This brought an acrimonious answer from W. B. Bunker of Alameda county, who pleaded with the delegates not to "drag the party down to the level of the boss-ridden Republican party" by helping to abolish the two-thirds rule.

"The Democratic party has prospered since 1830 under the two-thirds rule," he said. "It is the two-thirds rule which blocks boss rule in our conventions. Abolishing the two-thirds rule would only drag our party down to the level of the boss-ridden Republican party."

It was the two-thirds rule, continued Bunker, which blocked the nomination of Champ Clark at the Baltimore convention in 1912.

"Thanks to the two-thirds rule," he exclaimed, "the Baltimore convention escaped the disaster of nominating a man who could only have led his party to defeat, and instead nominated that splendid statesman, Woodrow Wilson."

GLENDALE MAN PROTESTS

At this remark, Mattison B. Jones of Glendale, Democratic nominee for Governor in 1922, was on his feet in hot protest.

"Champ Clark," he cried, "was long and ably the Speaker of the House of Representatives and a credit to his party. He cannot, at any Democratic convention where I am present, be spoken of derisively as a failure."

Swinging back to the issue of the debate, Jones urged the delegates to "bring common sense and sanity back to the Democratic party by abolishing the two-thirds rule."

J. Aubrey Jones of Alameda entered the debate to suggest that the unit rule which prevents individual delegates from voting as individuals at a national convention is just as iniquitous as the two-thirds rule and should be abolished as quickly.

TWO DIE IN BAY CITIES TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Two tragedies of hurrying street traffic today snuffed out two lives, one in San Francisco and one in Oakland. Edward O'Brien, 7 years of age, was killed beneath the wheels of a trolley car in the Mission district here, while George Madera, 38 years of age, lost his life when a bus of the Key System Transit Company collided with his truck on the Foothill Boulevard in Oakland. Four others were hurt in the collision, but none seriously.

GAS DISPATCHES NEVADA SLAYER

Inhales Deep Breath of Deadly Fumes

Girl Peeps Through Window of Lethal Cell

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

STATE'S PRISON, CARSON CITY (Nev.) May 21. — Stanko Jukich, murderer of a 16-year-old girl, was executed this morning by lethal gas, the second time this form of capital punishment has been used since legalized in 1921. He entered the cell at 10:55; the gas was turned on a minute later and he was unconscious in half a minute, but his head was moving.

Jukich was pronounced dead two and a half minutes after the gas was turned on.

Jukich went to his death without a tremor. Coming out of his cell shortly before 11 o'clock, he was escorted down the corridor and across the prison yard, 100 feet to the death chamber, a little concrete building.

Two guards held either arm lightly, but their assistance was not needed. The blonde giant, marked only by prison pallor, strode along, eyes up, and a smile on his lips. As he neared the group of spectators, he called out cheerily, "Good-by, boys. I haven't lost my nerve. I'll save a place for you there."

The guards hurried him into the vault, and strapped him to a wooden chair in the center of the room facing one of the three windows. The door was made fast and a charge of hydrocyanic acid sprayed in from the rear part of the inclosure.

Jukich looked up and saw a woman newspaper correspondent peering through the window. He smiled and said, "Good-by, girlie." They were his last words.

TAKES DEEP BREATH

A hissing noise at his back announced entry of the gas and a startled look appeared in his eyes. As the first fumes floated around his head he took a deep breath and ten seconds later sank into a coma. Just a few seconds later he was totally unconscious. Two and one-half minutes later physicians said that life was extinct; in that period his head nodded but four times.

The nerve that Jukich displayed from the time he learned yesterday his appeal for commutation had been denied until the execution, filled those in attendance with admiration. After an almost sleepless night, he called this morning for a cup of coffee. This despite the fact that he could have had his choice of foods.

At his request he received no spiritual consolation.

A cousin, George Jukich, witnessed the execution and prepared to claim the body. It will be buried in Carson City.

Jukich, 28 years of age, Serbian, was convicted of first degree murder for the slaying of Jennie Madek, whose parents had promised her to him in marriage. The girl, however, refused to go through with the marriage pact and was shot and killed on February 14, 1925, following a quarrel at the home of her parents in Ruth, a mining community in the extreme eastern part of Nevada.

Some time last night Jukich gave Warden Maxwell a verbal statement which he charged the official to give out to the public. Substantially it was that "if courts and judges knew how condemned men felt on the approach of death they would not execute them, but keep them in prison for life."

FUMES ESCAPE

Despite precautions taken today and efforts to hermetically seal the execution chamber, fumes of the deadly gas escaped to spread an invisible but threatening blanket around the building. It failed, however, to prove a deterrent to the forty-odd spectators who crowded about the three observation windows. A few experienced a feeling of nausea and smarting of the eyes.

It was the second time in the history of the State that lethal gas had been used to blot out the life of a criminal. This method of execution was legalized in 1921 and two years ago was used for the first time.

Gee Jon, a Chinese, convicted of a tong war murder, was the first victim. He remained alive in the gas-filled cell for about six minutes. The unusually long time before death in his case was assigned to the inexperience of the prison officials, it being the first execution of its kind here. The room had not been preheated and consequently the acid was slow to vaporize. An hour and thirty-nine minutes after Jukich had entered the death cell his body was removed and taken to the prison morgue.

PHOENIX, May 21.—That he cursed her until he would lose his voice is asserted in the complaint of Maude O. Willis against James Willis, a farmer from whom she asks divorce, division of $25,000 community property, $100 a month alimony and attorney's fee.

WINE TUB BATH DESCRIBED

Newspaper Men Tell of Girl's Alcoholic Ablutions While Guests Drank at Carroll Party

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 21.—The intimate details of Earl Carroll's bathtub party went into official court records today and with them went comment by attorneys and witnesses which drew several rebukes from Federal Judge Goddard.

The two witnesses today were newspaper men, both of whom attended the party as guests and reported it for their paper, the Daily Mirror. One was Philip A. Payne, managing editor; the other was Arthur F. Irwin, reporter and assistant night city editor.

HEATED CLASH

Heated remarks arose from questioning by Herbert C. Smyth, chief counsel for the defense, as to whether it was the gentlemanly thing to expose the party after having accepted Carroll's courtesy.

Payne said Carroll wanted publicity and told him to "go as far as you like." Payne then had painted a word picture of the party in his paper.

"Did you talk to Carroll about publicity after the party?" Smyth asked him.

"Yes, sir," replied Payne. "I called him on the phone the morning after the party and asked him why he was denying the Mirror's story. He said because it was making trouble for him. I told him I objected to his telling newspaper men that I had violated his confidence when I was a guest, when the truth was that I had published the story at his request."

"Mr. Payne," Smyth asked later, "you published this story, did you not, in order to increase circulation?"

"Every story I print is for the purpose of increasing circulation." The witness added he considered the story unimportant, although interesting.

TELLS ABOUT TUB

Irwin had testified at the morning session that the bathtub containing champagne was placed in the center of the stage. He said he had two drinks before Joyce Hawley, a show girl, stepped into it, entirely unclothed, after which about twenty men drank from the tub.

"Didn't you get word from Mr. Hearst to stop printing that stuff after Mr. Carroll had wired your boss about the stories you were running?" Smyth asked Payne.

"I did not," he replied.

When Smyth then asked Payne if he had controlling interest in a show competing with Carroll's Vanities, Payne answered in the negative, and Smyth then raised the point as to a guest's privilege.

"Weren't you there as a guest?"

"I was there as a reporter."

"Do you always go where you are invited as a reporter?"

"Wherever I go I am a reporter first of all."

"Then you are a dangerous man to invite anywhere, are you not, Mr. Payne?"

"Not to everyone," Payne replied.

"Most places I am invited to my hosts have nothing to fear."

TELLS HIS VIEWS

Irwin, at the morning session, had given a complete presentation of his views of the party.

When he testified that the tub, with Joyce Hawley in it, was full, counsel told him that it would be about 140 gallons of liquid.

"Have you ever seen that much champagne at one time?" he was asked.

"No, sir," he replied.

When he testified to seeing other bottles labeled whisky, Judge Goddard cautioned the jury that a label might be evidence but that it was not conclusive about what was in the bottle.

Carroll is charged with having denied that liquor was served, in his testimony before a grand jury which investigated the "bathtube party" given on the stage of his theater.

Irwin said he took two drinks of champagne from the tub before Miss Hawley entered it. In his testimony yesterday he named several prominent persons among the guests and at adjournment of court for the day had just testified that he saw some one in the tub.

ACCUSES CARROLL

He said on the stand today that Carroll himself invited the guests to line up and have Miss Hawley serve them drinks from the tub in which she was sitting.

Mr. Payne testified Carroll told him the tub was filled with wine.

"Don't go away, I'm going to pull a little wow of a stunt," Payne said Carroll told him as he was about to leave the theater. "I'm going to have a girl take a bath in a tub of wine."

Payne said he asked Carroll if it would be all right to publish the story of the wine bath.

"Go as far as you like," Payne said Carroll replied.

Guests were sitting in orchestra seats, Payne said. The bathtub was in the center of the stage. A girl in negligee approached Carroll who was standing by the tub, he said. Carroll removed from the shoulders of another girl a green cloak and placed it on the girl in the negligee, it was stated.

STEPS INTO TUB

As Carroll held the green coat over her shoulders, Payne said, the fluffy negligee garments were seen to drop to the floor. With Carroll still holding the green coat, Payne said, the girl stepped into the tub and Carroll removed the cloak.

"The line forms to the right!" Payne said Carroll shouted, turning to the guests in the orchestra seats.

Guests formed a line to the right of the tub, Payne said, and drank from glasses filled with the wine from the tub.

"Did you drink at that time?" Payne was asked.

"I did not."

"Was Mr. Carroll there at this time?"

"He was."

"How long was Miss Hawley in the tub?"

"Five or ten minutes."

Asked if he saw Miss Hawley leave the tub, Payne replied in the negative. He said the tub was pushed off stage while Miss Hawley was in it.

MANY SUBDIVISIONS MADE NEAR PHOENIX

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) May 21.—No less than eighteen subdivisions of suburban property have been made around Phoenix this year. Most of them are to the northeast, several are four miles from the center of the city. Most of the residential construction has been in the suburbs, outside the city limits. A State law gives the city authority over subdivision plattings that may in the future become a part of a municipality.

GIDDAP! DOBBIN WINS DECISION

Judge Rules That Horse-Drawn Vehicles Have as Much Right on Washington Streets as Any Other Sort of Equipage of Transport

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The picturesque horse-drawn carriage and its smartly attired coachman in high silk hat, will continue, at least for a while, to be seen on the main thoroughfares of Washington, where it is still regarded by some as a fashionable mode of transportation.

The recent controversy over the right to drive horse-drawn vehicles on certain boulevard highways was decided yesterday by Judge McMahon of the Police Court in favor of the slow, stately equipage.

But the judge's decision that a regulation barring horses and horse vehicles from certain crowded streets is invalid will not end the controversy, so far as Director of Traffic Eldridge is concerned for he has announced his intention to keep the horse and carriage out of the swift currents of traffic.

If the present regulation cannot be made effective, Eldridge said, an amendment to the Traffic Act, now pending before the Senate, would, if passed, make the restrictions binding.

Traffic officials have been proceeding cautiously in attempting enforcement and have made few arrests. Soon after the law was adopted a Washington newspaperman, seeking to test it, deliberately drove up and down Pennsylvania avenue in a conspicuously dilapidated carriage. Police stopped him, but when their attention was called to the fact that his vehicle was mule drawn and not horse drawn, they decided to let him go. The regulation previously had aroused the ire of some of the capital's long-established social leaders.

FINDS GOAL OF ALCHEMISTS

McCook Field Chemist Declared to Have Discovered Process for Transmitting Hydrogen Gas Into Helium and Changing Mercury Into Gold

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

DAYTON (O.) May 21.—C. F. Adams, chemist at McCook Field, army air field here, believes himself to be the world's first successful alchemist.

Following his announcement yesterday that he believes he has transmuted hydrogen gas into helium and other elements, and that he has produced gold from mercury, Adams declared today that his discoveries antedate the alchemy claims of Prof. Miethe of Germany and Dr. Nogioka of Japan.

Dr. William Wohlleben, head of the University of Dayton chemistry department, to a certain extent corroborated Adams's claims. Admitting that he was "extremely skeptical at first," Dr. Wohlleben says he has watched the helium experiments and is much disappointed that the United States Bureau of Standards has not taken them under control. Dr. Wohlleben says he has not witnessed Adams's experiments with mercury.

The university chemist said that Adams had disintegrated hydrogen gas and obtained a gas which is apparently helium, in addition to other elements. Two tests remain to be made concerning the residue of the gas, he said, its inflamability and its density.

The experiments have been conducted during the past four years, they said, in an effort to find a source of helium to supplant the natural supply in Texas and Oklahoma, the only known sources in the world.

The McCook Field officials, commenting on Adams's claim of having produced gold, said that undoubtedly he had procured a yellow residue from mercury which looks like gold and which answers the acid tests of gold.

ELECTION DELAY SHOCKS POLAND

Summons for National Assembly Postponed

Right Parties and Dictators Fail to Agree

Tentative Date Mentioned as the 31st Inst.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

WARSAW, May 21.—The young Polish republic, shaken only a week ago by a military coup led by Marshal Pilsudski, which brought about the overthrow of President Wojciechowski and the Witos government, and whose political affairs have since been in an unsettled state, received another shock tonight through the announcement that it had been decided to postpone the summons for a National Assembly for the purpose of selecting a new President.

The announcement, notwithstanding the unsettled conditions, came as a thunderbolt, absolutely unexpected, for the constitution provides that the National Assembly, the Diet and Senate sitting jointly, must be convoked at least two weeks after the Presidential chair is made vacant.

The decision to postpone the call for the National Assembly was reached in a conference tonight of the Polish directorate—Marshal Pilsudski, Provisional President Rataj and Premier Bartel—the reason given being the inability of the directorate to come to terms with the three parties of the Right. While no mention has been made concerning the possible date for convening the assembly, it is semi-officially reported that it will be held on the 31st inst.

The all-important question of the site of the meeting also is in abeyance.

Four parties of the Left in Parliament—the Socialist, Radical Peasant party, Radical Wyzwolie party and the Labor party — have issued pronouncements for the election of Marshal Pilsudski as President of Poland.

Pilsudski has not announced whether he will permit his name to be used as a candidate. Premier Bartel is the leader of the Labor party.

RUMANIA ON GUARD AGAINST REVOLUTION

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, May 21.—The Rumanian government is displaying nervousness over its situation arising from recent events in Poland and the approaching general session of Parliament, say advices from private authoritative sources in Bucharest. These are dated May 17. An "iron ring" is said to have drawn about every Rumanian city. Every automobile leaving or entering them is stopped and searched for arms or revolutionary literature.

The Rumanian Ministry, the advices add, has established a censorship over the main telegraph office in Bucharest, where all telegrams are subjected to rigid control. Mail, both incoming and outgoing, frequently is opened and the contents removed.

STOCKTON STANDS BY ROOSTERS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, May 21.—The Stockton City Council solved with ease the question of crowing roosters that disturb the slumber of citizens.

"Spare their heads and let them multiply," was the edict as the council voted unanimously against the passage of a proposed ordinance eliminating roosters from the city the moment they reached the age of three months, the crowing age.

"The rooster was the world's first alarm clock. God blessed him, along with other fowl, because He knew the rooster would never break down. Next to the horse, he has been man's most faithful servant. Long live the rooster," was the councilmanic consensus of opinion.

"Yes, but he's unsanitary," asserted J. Wall, 925 North Sierra Nevada street, leader of the anti-rooster faction of the city. Wall stayed with the Council until the last moment, arguing and repeating a pathetic tale of 1000 sleepless nights.

"No," declared Councilman Karl C. Brueck, "the rooster is the only thing we have left to remind us of the old days on the farm. I'm for him.

"Well, gentlemen," argued Wall "we just had a smallpox scare in Stockton. Maybe roosters had something to do with it."

"The worst a rooster can do is to spread chicken pox," Councilman A. G. Johnston flung after Wall as he retreated through the door.

FIRST PRESIDENT OF HAWAII HAS BIRTHDAY

JUDGE DOLE, 82, HONORED BY HIS FRIENDS AT 9 O'CLOCK BREAKFAST

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

HONOLULU, May 21.—Judge Sanford B. Dole, first president of the republic of Hawaii, and known as the "grand old man of Hawaii," celebrated his eighty-second birthday in Honolulu.

Judge Dole, born in Honolulu in 1844, was one of the outstanding men during the critical transition days, up to and through the islands' annexation to the United States. When the republic was formed, he was elected its first president. When the islands became an integral part of the United States he was appointed its first Governor. He was later appointed Federal judge.

Territorial and municipal officials joined in paying their respects to Judge Dole on his birthday. The judge presided at one of his famous 9 o'clock breakfasts, which was attended by intimate friends. A native Hawaiian band extended its felicitations by giving an impromptu concert in his front yard.

METEORIC RISE ENDS IN CRASH

Newsboy Who Organized Business of $50,000,000 Now Bankrupt

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CAMDEN (N. J.) May 21.—A fall has followed the meteoric rise of J. Robley Tucker from a newsstand at the Camden ferries six years ago to head of a realty corporation which last year did more than $50,000,000 worth of business.

Federal Judge Rellstab yesterday appointed a receiver for J. R. Tucker, Inc.

Liabilities were listed in an involuntary petition in bankruptcy at $4,250,000 and assets at $1,200,000.

Tucker said the concern's holdings were valued at $7,000,000 and that most of the $4,250,000 liabilities were secured.

Tucker, who is only 28, came to Camden shortly after his graduation from Dartmouth College. He arrived with only 35 cents in his pocket and after working as a rveter in the Camden shipyards acquired the news-stand. His career in the real estate business was launched as the result of conversations between purchasers of newspapers whom he heard predicting great advances in Camden real estate.

Last year he opened branch offices in Philadelphia, New York, Boston, Miami, and Atlantic City. Last October he insured his life for $1,000,000 making his corporation the beneficiary of the policy.

MANY PLANNING MEXICAN STUDY

BY JACK STARR-HUNT

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MEXICO CITY, May 21.—More than 500 pupils from all over the United States, including professors of wide reputation, will attend the summer courses at the National University of this city, which start on July 5, next, and close on August 1.

Prof. John Dewey, who is head of the department of philosophy at Columbia University, will deliver a number of lectures at the summer school relative to "Contemporary Philosophic Thought" and other education subjects. Prof. Dewey is an authority on philosophic matters and has written a number of instructive books.

Among the other American professors due here in July are Dr. George Shield, head of the modern language department of the public schools at Los Angeles, who will give a course regarding the technical teaching of both Spanish and English; and the Misses Britta L. Horner and Esther Brown, who will teach Spanish to the Americans.

The summer school will offer complete courses on elementary, intermediate and advanced Spanish, phonetics, Mexican and Spanish art, archeological subjects, sociology, history, geography, commercial activities, Mexican music, dances and other subjects.

Some courses in English will be given by members of the faculty of William and Mary, such as that by Prof. W. A. Montgomary, who is to lecture on the rhythmical beauties of English and American poetry of the twentieth century, contemporary drama and the effects of the decline of the Roman Empire on Spain.

Another lecture will be delivered by Prof. C. E. Casteneda on the diplomatic relations between the United States and the governments of Latin America, and Prof. L. B. Hill will lecture on governments and policies.

Dr. Tomas Montano, who is the director of the summer school, says that the summer courses last year were attended by approximately 400 American students. This was a considerable increase over the total for the first courses six years ago, while this year a record attendance is expected.

The National University, in order to make the trip more attractive and economical to American students, has arranged with the National Railways of Mexico to give special rates and other facilities.

Besides the Spanish courses that are to be given and English lectures delivered, all American students visiting this country for the purpose of attending the summer school will have opportunity to visit Mexico's archeological treasures, historic ruins, cathedrals centuries old and museums filled with priceless Aztec antiquities.

OLDEST 'TEACHERAGE' WILL BE REPLACED

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

TUCSON (Ariz.) May 21.—What is believed to be the oldest "teacherage" in the United States is about to be replaced by a modern structure. It was built in 1852, at least twenty years before Arizona established a secular school system, yet is said to have housed a teacher or several teachers of the Papago Indians or of the later American population of San Xavier school district. The new structure, to cost $1400, is to be built from the proceeds of a bond issue and will be occupied by Mrs. Ethel Kitt, the district school teacher.

In celebration of there being no cases for trial in the County Antrim Quarter Sessions Court of Ireland in three weeks, the presiding judge recently was presented a pair of white gloves to signify the community.

PLANES 'DISABLE' WARSHIPS

Squadron at Maneuvers Scores What Would Have Been Direct Hits in War on Six Vessels

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN DIEGO, May 21.—Launching a sudden and dramatic attack simultaneously from two directions, a squadron of twelve torpedo planes, under the command of Lieutenant-Commander James H. Strong, theoretically struck and disabled half a dozen battleships of the Battle Fleet during the war maneuvers off the Southern California coast this afternoon.

The air attack, the first of its exact kind in the history of aviation, was staged forty-five miles northwest of Point Loma and twelve miles off shore.

The torpedo planes, divided into two divisions of six planes each, were protected during their attack by a squadron of combat planes launched from the deck of the aircraft carrier Langley.

Swooping down out of the fog banks, the attacking planes launched a shower of 1100-pound torpedoes, each equipped with exercise heads instead of the high explosives carried in war time. The projectiles purposely were dropped a sufficient distance away from the battleships to protect the personel and upper works. Six of them fell, however, directly abreast the surface ships and the pilots declared that they could have scored direct hits had the "battle" today been a real one.

EDITOR SEEKS PARDON

Jailed Scribe Maintain Freedom of Press Involved

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—Alfred Lindley Eureka editor, who is serving 1000 days in the Humboldt County Jail for contempt of court, has formally petitioned Gov. Richardson for a pardon.

Lindley was fined $2000 with the alternative of 1000 days in jail, by Judge Sevier because of articles published by the editor before and during his trial on a charge of libel, attacking the prosecution and its witnesses.

Appeals were taken by Lindley to the Third District Court of Appeal and to the State Supreme Court but the judgment of the trial court was upheld.

Lindley maintains that the action of Judge Sevier violates the right of freedom of the press, although the court held that freedom of the press was not involved.

PLAN TO MAKE SNAKE SERUM

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) May 21.—Col. W. L. Crimmins has been appointed by the New York Zoological Society to take charge of distribution of rattlesnake serum in Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. The appointment came in word received from Raymond L. Ditmars of the society. Col. Crimmins accepted the appointment.

The serum is to be produced in this country under supervision of Dr. Afranio Amaral of Brazil, who is pursuing studies at Harvard University. Dr. Amaral has been prevailed upon by the university to remain sometime to teach and will take charge of the manufacture of the serum while there. The New York Zoological Society will be headquarters for the work and for distribution. Branches for distribution will also be established in Louisiana and Brownsville, Tex., the latter to be for service of Mexico.

Col. Crimmins has received six tubes of the serum and a letter stating an attempt will be made to ship six more tubes at once, if the stock on hand permits. After production is begun the serum will be available in any quantity, he said.

The serum was first brought to this country from Brazil and placed in Army hospitals. It has been the means of saving at least two lives since its arrival.

Amaral has asked Col. Crimmins to obtain specimens of crotalus atrox (Texas diamond back snake) and crotalus Molossus (a black tail snake) and extract the venom and send it to the laboratory for use.

Amaral said he expected to leave shortly for the Mulford Biological Laboratory in Philadelphia to start first work. The organization would be known as the Antivenin Institute of America and would be affiliated with the Harvard Institute of Tropical Medicine and Biology. Thomas Barbour of the Museum of Comparative Zoology, and other eminent authorities, are interested in the project, Amaral told Col. Crimmins.

He proposes stations and substations in connection with zoos in New York, Philadelphia, New Orleans and San Diego and at Fort Bliss, Tex., which would be placed under Col. Crimmins's direction.

With thousands of head of cattle killed each year by rattlesnakes, the Texas Live-stock Commission is also taking steps to prepare a rattlesnake serum with which to vaccinate the cattle in an attempt to check the losses which are increasing each year, L. A. Callan, chairman of the commission, announces.

"Our present plans are to make the serum at our laboratories in Fort Worth, Tex., and have a supply of it placed at logical localities in the rattlesnake districts," Callan declared. "It will be necessary to use a large number of horses in making the serum and for that reason we will probably have some ranch furnish us with sound, healthy horses."

ZEBRAS GAIN FAVOR IN SOUTHERN STATES

CROSS-BRED PAIR HELPS TO KEEP JEFFERSON TRACK IN SHAPE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW ORLEANS, May 21.—The zebra is claiming a place in the sun in both Louisiana and Mississippi. At Jefferson race track here a pair of "zebra mules" will assist in keeping the track in shape. They are a cross-bred stock having stripes on the bodies and legs, and are very strong. One weighs 1610 pounds and the other thirty pounds less.

The Jackson (Miss.) zoo offers an 18-months-old zebra prodigy. It has been taught to count to ten, pick out colors and numbers, and dance.

"When we first started training the animal, it required five or six men to catch it," said L. P. Goodwin, zoo keeper. "Now when I drop my handkerchif, the zebra picks it up, shakes off the dust and hands it to me."

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

VENTURA, May 21.—Stating that he has no money, C. A. Erickson, a driver for Brice & Danielson, Los Angeles truckmen, has chosen the eight-day alternative jail sentence to paying a $50 fine for driving his truck eight miles faster than the speed limit. The fine with its alternative was set by Justice of the Peace Dimmick, before whom the accused appeared and entered a plea of guilty. It is the first jail sentence in the county war on overloaded trucks.

GRAND JURORS TO HEAR SMALL

Another Murder in Chicago Marks Gang Fight

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

JOLIET (Ill.) May 21.—In an attempt to untangle the snarl of charges, counter-charges, reports and rumors uncovered in connection with an investigation of conditions at the State prison, the Will county grand jury at Joliet today summoned Gov. L. Small to testify before it. The Governor, called to appear next Tuesday, expressed his willingness to give every possible aid to the investigators.

Decision to ask the Governor to testify came after Will Colvin, supervisor of the division of pardons and paroles, had testified for two hours.

EVADES QUESTIONS

Colvin was reported to have told the jury that he had taken rumors of bad prison conditions to the Governor. The grand jury was reported to have gained little information from Colvin who referred them repeatedly to pardon and parole records for information they requested. He is said to have made a general denial of knowing anything about an asserted "pardon" mill operating in Chicago.

Both Colvin and Chauncey Jenkins, head of the State welfare department, will appear Tuesday.

Jenkins in testimony yesterday blamed Warden Whitman for lax prison conditions, while Whitman testifying a few days before charged that his authority had been taken from him by State officials.

ANOTHER MURDER

As a special Cook county grand jury was delving into general crime conditions Chicago's gangland resumed its own peculiar administration of "justice." The body of Frank Gremaldi, asserted bootlegger and ally of "Scarface Al" Capone, gangster, was found blindfolded and bullet-riddled in his automobile at a lonely spot near Chicago.

Capone is sought for questioning in connection with the murder of William McSwiggin, assistant States Attorney, and two companions. Gremaldi also was wanted in this case. Michael Carrozzo, president of the street-sweepers' union, was seized for questioning in connection with Gremaldi's death.

PUNISHMENT REWARD FOR DOING DUTY

Policeman Transferred After Arresting Wife of "Big Tim" Murphy

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 21.—"Big Tim" Murphy who returned to Chicago recently, after serving a term in the Leavenworth Penitentiary for the Dearborn Station mail robbery, has exercised his pull with the police department and caused the transfer of a traffic policeman who arrested his wife for violation a traffic or inance. Murphy who is the head of the Gas Workers' Union, had threatened to have the officer discharged from the poice force.

Officer John J. Mahoney, stationed at a owntown corner, last Monday arrested Mrs. Murphy because he drove her automobile across the street when the traffic lights were against her. He chased her half a block. When Mahoney finaly overtook the woman, she is reported to have said:

"Why you can't arrest me, I'm Mrs. Tim Murphy."

But Mahoney took her to the station. "Big Tim" arrived shortby and told Mahoney he would "get him" because of the arrest yesterday. Mahoney was transferred to Grand avenue and Halsted street out on the west side.

The Chicago Tribune in commenting editorially on the officer's transfer, says:—

"A Chicago picture: a police officer, veteran of the World War, who did his duty and did it well in war, punished for doing his duty in peace because of the influence of an ex-convict. Are there any legion posts in Chicago?"

Modern Turkish Women Maintain Rudeness is Insult

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 21.—The modern Turkish woman is determined not to allow her new freedom to interfere with her old claim to courtesy. Rudeness she calls insult, and proceeds to drag the insulter to the nearest police station.

A case of this sort occurred when a woman was insulted by a policeman. The insult consisted in the term "badly brought up," which the policeman called her. The court of correction agreed that "badly brought up" was offensive, and fined the policeman $5.50.

MYSTERY OF DOUBLE DEATH NOT SOLVED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SACRAMENTO, May 21.—The mystery of whether Mr. and Mrs. Homer Schiller Lovett, whose bodies were found in their rose-embowered Galt home on the 13th inst., came to their deaths through suicide pact or as the result of a murder and suicide, goes to the grave with the two. An inquest presided over by Coroner Skelton last night found: Ila B. Mitchell-Lovett, the wife, "came to her death about the 3rd inst., by a gunshot wound inflicted by party unknown to the jury." Her husband "came to his death about the 9th inst., by gunshot wound inflicted by himself. Suicide"

MINE DISPUTE HITS IMPASSE

Reply of Owners Resents Government Rule

Demand Eight-Hour Day as One of Remedies

Promise of £3,000,000 Subsidy Believed Lost

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

LONDON, May 21.—The deadlock in the mining industry was completed today when the coal mine owners submitted their reply to Premier Baldwin's proposal for settling the dispute over wage and hours of work. It was this dispute that caused the miners to leave the pits three weeks ago.

The owners' reply is a long argumentative document which strongly opposes any government interference with industry and insists that the only real remedy is the adoption of an eight-hour day. They contend that Mr. Baldwin's proposals, like the recommendations of the Royal Coal Commission, are calculated to limit freedom of administration and, therefore, would not be helpful in obtaining increased efficiency of the industry.

They state emphatically that it will be impossible to continue to conduct the industry under private enterprise unless it is accorded the same freedom from political interference as is enjoyed by other industries.

Freedom from industrial unrest and political interference, the owners point out, would restore confidence and promote unhampered progress in the industry.

REPLIES DUE TOMORROW

The government tomorrow will send its replies to both the miners, who yesterday rejected Mr. Baldwin's proposals, and the owners, but there is no indication as to their nature.

The stoppage of work in the mines already is affecting other industries seriously. The railways today announced further cuts in train service owing to a shortage of coal.

With the rejection of the Baldwin plan by both parties, the promise of a government subsidy of £3,000,000 naturally will drop, and failing some new government move, a long suspension of work is indicated. The Miners' Federation is appealing to all the railway unions to help the miners by refusing to handle coal.

PROMISES, SURPRISES

The New Statesman, weekly organ of the union interests, says that when the whole inside history of the general strike is written it will provide surprises. This paper repeats the story which has been whispered about that when the general strike was imminent, Premier Baldwin and Lord Birkenhead were laboring for peace, but had to face the threat of resignations on the part of their colleagues, Winston Churchill, Arthur Neville Chamberlain, W. C. Bridgeman, Lieut.-Col. Amery, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, and other unidentified officials, whereupon the Premier gave way.

When the strike ended, however, the paper says, Mr. Baldwin took charge of affairs without consulting anybody. He declared peace and insisted upon peace.

The New Statesman says it has heard, but is unable to verify, a story that the general strike was called off under a government threat to repeal the Trades Disputes Act in a single day, confiscate all union funds, call up the army reserves and arrest the Trades Union Council itself.

Truckee Farm Owners Intend to Fight Ruling

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RENO (Nev.) May 21.—Asserting the Reclamation Service through a ruling by Judge George A. Talbot has deprived them of sufficient water to irrigate crops more than 700 farmers on the Truckee Meadows have announced an irrigation district is being formed to fight the government. The farmers assert the Truckee River carries only enough water for their lands and the Newlands Project, and that efforts are being made to deprive them of their supply for other projects.

The battle for water is spreading throughout the State, with conditions in some valleys threatening to rival the feuds prevailing in the Owens River Valley.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

Stockdale was to have been questioned concerning charges against Sheriff Fred Kohler of under-feeding prisoners and profiteering in selling "extras." He also was regarded as one of the leaders in a twenty-two-hour mutiny of prisoners resulting from publication of the charges against Kohler. Stockdale died after being removed to a hospital, with gashes in his throat, arm and leg.

Many years ago, the dairymen on the Island of Guernsey, which lies off the coast of Normandy in the English Channel, forbade the importation of any more cattle. Led by some of the wiser breeders, they began the development of a type of dairy cow from their native stock which has become famed for the creamy, mellow flavor and the golden color of her milk.

For 150 years these fawn-colored cattle have been bred true to type. The first Guernsey cow came to America in 1818, and through the 19th century discriminating breeders imported small herds of them, but not until later were the splendid qualities of the gentle, soft-eyed Guernseys fully known on this side of the water.

The American Guernsey Cattle Club was formed in 1877, and the members took as their emblem the characteristic Milk Jug, in common use on the Island of Guernsey, but rarely seen elsewhere, except as a traveler's souvenir.

Adohr Stock Farms is the home of over 1500 registered and grade Guernseys, — the largest herd of Guernsey cattle in the world. This creamy, golden milk may be delivered to your home every morning, fresh and delicious.

Woman Seriously Hurt But May Recover

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, May 21.—Charley Ortes is dead and Josephine Wallace, upon whom he is said to have been forcing his attentions, is in a serious condition at the County Hospital, as a result of a stabbing affray in a hotel at Fifth and Market streets here this noon.

Miss Wallace is employed as a waitress in a small restaurant at Fifth street and Island avenue. Ortes is said to have become infatuated with her and today went to the hotel where she lives and where he, too, has roomed from time to time. They met in a corridor and an argument followed.

In a frenzy Ortes whipped out a hunting knife with a six-inch blade and slashed at the woman. Before she could evade him, he had inflicted serious wounds on her face, body and limbs.

Miss Wallace's screams brought the hotel manager to the scene, and as he reached the top of the stairs he saw Ortes turn and plunge the blood-stained knife into his own heart. Ortes died instantly.

Police were summoned to the scene, and Miss Wallace was taken to the County Hospital. It is expected the injured woman will recover.

In choosing the new location, which is several blocks north of the present business district, Scheinberg states he is anticipating the future development of Van Nuys as it is his belief that the business center of the town is moving in a northerly direction.

SUSPECT IN ROBBERY OF BANK HELD

Lone Bandit Escapes from San Diego Institution With Plunder of $1593

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, May 21.—An unmasked bandit walked into the Fifth and University Branch of the Security Commercial and Savings Bank this noon, held up two clerks and escaped in an automobile with $1593. Within two hours after the robbery a suspect was captured and held for interrogation by the police.

There were no customers in the bank at the time of the hold-up and apparently no one saw the car which the bandit had left with the engine running at the curb, as it started away.

By a coincidence, one of the tellers, Lorence Folda, was held up by a lone bandit in the bank's central office about a year ago. Folda and Paul Vancill, who were alone in the bank at the time of the hold-up, were ordered to lie down on the floor. Then the bandit, armed with an army automatic pistol, walked nito the inner inclosure and helped himself to the money in the drawer.

Police reserves were called and ordered to patrol all parts of the city. Within two hours a man answering the description given by the two tellers, was arrested. His name has not been revealed by the police.

ALL ANAHEIM VISITS SHOW

Stores Close and School Children Flock to Great California Valencia Exposition

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ANAHEIM, May 21.—Anaheim Day was celebrated at the California Valencia Orange Show today. Everybody in this city, made famous by the Valencia orange, was in attendance at the show this afternoon—at least it seemed as if everyone in Anaheim was there. Children from all the city schools went en masse. Stores were closed for a portion of the afternoon to permit employees to be on hand. From Santa Ana, Orange and Fullerton came additional crowds to help make Anaheim Day the biggest of the week.

One of the most unusual situations developed when those who were carrynig passes for admission to the show kept their passes in their pockets, and paid admission into the show. This was their contribution to the show and their appreciation to the officials for presenting what is generally acclaimed as one of the finest expositions ever presented in the Southland.

During the afternoon and again tonight a fashion show was an added feature of the program. Motion-picture beauties from Hollywood and Culver City displayed stunning gowns, bathing suits and other apparel of fashion's latest. Enid Bennett, motion-picture actress, is featured tonight. The usual program of attractions was further strengthened by a program presented by school students.

Tomorrow is to be devoted to various cities with large delegations expected. The show closes Sunday, which is All Nations' Day. One of the features will be the Anaheim chorus of 100 voices, which will be on the program afternoon and evening.

GOPHER TAILS SWAT EXCHEQUER

Imperial County Treasury Depleted by at Least $50,000 Through Payment of Bounty on Appendages of Agricultural Pests

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, May 21.—Too many gopher tails have nearly bankrupted Imperial county.

This situation is being gossiped around the County Court House here following the announcement by the Board of Supervisors early this week that practically no funds were available to carry on the county government for the last two months of the fiscal year.

The Supervisors will not admit that gopher tails are responsible for their financial difficulties, but members of the official family who have access to the records lay the blame largely to the gopher.

It all came about this way. Several months ago a delegation of ranchers representing the Farm Bureau, and other organizations appeared before the board and declared that gophers were overrunning the valley and causing serious damage to crops.

The Supervisors to satisfy the protestants, agreed to pay a bounty of 10 cents each for gophers' tails. A few days later a deluge of gophers' tails descended on the County Court House. They arrived in gunny sacks and wagonloads—literally thousands of them.

Small boys started savings accounts with money obtained from trapping gophers, and many farm hands found the industry profitable. So successful were the gopher hunters that the bounties amounted to nearly $12,000 in March. Other months have cost the county as high as $7000 and $8000.

The total for the year will amount to well over $50,000, and one county official predicts $100,000.

As no provision has been made in the budget for war on the lowly gopher, it readily can be seen that the County Treasurer has something to worry about.

In order to offset the enormous cost of the gopher bounty, the Supervisors this week cut prisoner's meals in the County Jail down to two a day, placed a ban on long-distance telephone messages from the Court House, and announced sweeping economies in other departments.

SAVING OF BEACHES ASKED

Sandieguito Chamber Calls on Supervisors to Get Land for County's Use

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DEL MAR, May 21.—A campaign to save the beaches from the encroachment of private interests was launched at the meeting of the Sandieguito District Chamber of Commerce at the Stratford Inn here last night when a resolution calling on the Supervisors to acquire ownership of the beaches for the county unanimously was indorsed.

The first plan of the Sandieguito district chamber which was indorsed by the County Federation of Chambers of Commerce and was to be recommended to other counties touching the Coast, asked the Supervisors not to approve any subdivision which did not include a public highway along the edge of the beaches, and dedicate all the land between the highway and the sea to the county. That request was declined by the Supervisors, but the spirit of the resolution was indorsed, and the resolution adopted last night is simply another move along the same line.

The Supervisors also were asked to appoint a county planning commission, with the same end in view, and to acquire a large tract of beach land at some convenient place to be made a county park so that it should be the right and privilege of every citizen to enjoy the benefits of the sea with its invigorating breezes, bathing, boating and fishing. The resolution was offered by S. R. Nelson of Rancho Santa Fe and was adopted unanimously by the representatives of other communities represented in the chamber.

Newport Harbor Plans Topic at Anaheim Session

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

ANAHEIM, May 21.—Costs of the improvements planned at Newport Harbor, benefits to be derived from these improvements and comparisons of what Orange county has spent and what Los Angeles and Long Beach have spent and are planning to spend in the development of the harbors, were the subjects of a round-table discussion at the special meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county conducted last night at the Anaheim Elks' clubhouse.

Following dinner, George Peabody, Newport Harbor, explained many angles of the harbor situation and answered questions asked by interested guests and by means of colored maps brought out details of the proposed improvements. H. H. Hale, Placentia rancher, spoke on behalf of the harbor bonds, telling how he had become converted to the necessity of building up Newport Harbor for the benefit of the entire county. STUDENTS GIVE "SALAD DANCE"

Inglewood High School Girls Present Novel Feature

Event Part of Celebration to Honor Mothers

Pageant of America Staged by Young Women

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE]

INGLEWOOD, May 21.—The outstanding feature of the always beautiful Mother's Day and athletic exhibition of the department of physical education for girls at Inglewood Union High School today was a novel "Spring Salad" dance, with Miss Ethel Lambkin as the mayonnaise dressing. The flower-like young girls who took part in this presentation were transformed for the nonce into vegetables, but extremely lively and agile ones. The "salad" included six heads of lettuce, two ripe red tomatoes, a pair of elegant onions, though not of the Bermuda variety, one salt and one pepper shaker, the entire preparation making the most attractive "salad" ever seen here, making a "salad day," as it were.

The occasion is called Mother's Day because the mothers of the more than 500 girls are the guests of honor on this occasion. This was the first time, however, that the event has been conducted indoors, utilizing the large new gymnasium, which was thronged with thousands of spectators, fathers as well as mothers being largely in evidence.

Miss Katheryn Bailey was the Queen of Sports, with a bevy of pretty girls in her court, including a jester, clowns and tumblers.

"America," a pageant of characteristic costume dances of various periods of the country's history, including Indian, Puritan, Colonial, Dutch, Quaker and the present day, was a beautifully impressive part of the program, which closed with a snappy ten-minute exhibition basketball game by the girls' field-day squad, made up of the best players in the school. Wand drill and fifteen difficult stunts made up the athletic portion of the day.

The girls were trained under the direction of Miss M. M. Scott, head of the department of physical education for girls, and her assistants, Miss Emily Fearney and Miss Dorothy Elliott.

Other good shots in the division are Henry Reimer, and A. R. Borden, who rank close under Phillips. The valley shooting practice takes place each month.

ENAMEL CAN WILL RETAIN OLIVE COLOR

Improvement in Packing Methods Announced at Association's Conference

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, May 21.—Olives packed in an enamel-coated can will retain their color better than when incased in the more ordinary tin container, it was brought out today at the fifth annual technical conference of the California Olive Association at the Mission Inn. About forty olive packers and food-products experts from the University of California are present at the session.

Furthermore, it was declared, the brown olive is of a much superior flavor to the black variety, notwithstanding the public's partiality for the dark-hued fruit. Brown olives, according to opinions expressed today, contain more natural elements. Among the leaders of discussion were J. E. V. Titus of Riverside, manager of the Albers Packing Company's plant here; Frank Sancomb of Palermo, head of the California Packing Corporation, and D. C. Gifford, San Diego packer.

Conducted once a year, the conference discusses various packing improvements discovered during the previous twelve months by experts in the different plants and in the food laboratory at the State university.

Aged Physician at Fresno Freed of Dope Charges

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

FRESNO, May 21. — Dr. Charles E. Brown, aged Fresno physician, was freed today of Federal and State narcotic charges when a Federal grand jury indictment and a State charge pending against him were dismissed.

The Federal indictment was dismissed on motion of Asst. U. S. Dist.-Atty. The State charge was dismissed by Superior Judge Bernard on a defense motion.

Brown was charged in the State court with prescribing narcotics to habitual users in excess of legal limitations. The Federal charge was one of violation of the Harrison Narcotic Act. He was arrested in connection with the simultaneous deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Edwards, narcotic addicts, who were the witnesses mentioned by Lucas.

SENTENCE RINGS DOWN CURTAIN

C. M. Henshaw's Career as "Angel" to Pasadena Theatrical Enterprise Closes in Court When Judge Finds Him Guilty in Demand Notes Technicality

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 21.—C. M. Henshaw, who two years ago resigned a good position to become "angel" for the Liberty Players here, today joined the ranks of those who have tried to promote theatrical troupes and failed.

The lure of the footlights was considerably dimmed when he was found guilty in Police Court today of issuing demand notes for payment of wages when the notes were not payable at any bank.

The thirty-day sentence pronounced by Judge Dunham wrote "finis" across the dreams that caused Henshaw to resign his position with the J. H. Woodworth Company and form the stock company which he visioned playing some day in a theater which it was planned to build at Colorado street and Chester avenue.

With Victor Donald, Betty Thayne and Wendall Wilson as the chief players, the company began its ill-fated career in a tent just outside the city limts on East Colorado street. As prosperity increased they moved into the city and eventually leased the Pasadena Theater.

Here the trouble began. The actors and stage hands filed attachment suits when the box office failed to produce enough for their pay. Finally the chief actors quit. After a few more weeks of futile determination to see his project succeed the theater closed two months ago.

Woman Collects Sum Due on Note Long Held by Mate

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

Woodward, an attorney, dismissed a collection suit on a $300 note given her husband in 1899 after she had effected a settlement with the defendant. concerned, there were no bills passed at the 1926 session which could be so described. Competent authorities assert that if all of the measures proposed had been enacted, it would be absolutely impossible for anyone to do business in New York because of the prohibitive costs which such laws would have put upon industry."

PREACHER TO APPEAL EXPULSION

Schism in South Dakota Church to be Brought Before General Assembly

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

HURON (S. D.) May 21.—South Dakota today faced its first major Fundamentalist-Modernist controversy following the expulsion last night of Rev. Albert H. Crombie, ardent fundamentalist, from his Lead (S. D.) pulpit on order of the State Presbyterian synod.

Immediately after the ouster announcement Mr. Crombie said he would take an appeal to the general assembly of the Presbyterian church at Baltimore—and furthermore, that he would organize his own "Fundamentalist Presbyterian Church" at Lead. Mr. Crombie charged that his opponents were "modernists" who had rejected some of the main tenets of the Presbyterian faith.

His dismissal followed a petition by parishioners who successfully kept their pastor from his pulpit by the use of a padlock one Sunday six weeks ago, only to have him re-enter the pulpit the following Sunday.

The petition was rejected by the Black Hills Presbytery. Then it was brought before the synod which, after nearly twenty-four hours' continuous session, last night, unanimously voted Mr. Crombie's removal.

The controversy started several months ago when Mr. Crombie turned over his pulpit to a speaker for the Ku Klux Klan. The speaker was said to have made attacks which members of the congregation resented.

Other questions arose and a local schism has developed which culminated in the padlock incident and his removal last night.

MILWAUKEE

MILWAUKEE, May 21.—Forty-six States and thirty-one foreign countries were represented among the 12,276 different students who enrolled in the University of Wisconsin at Madison during 1925-26, according to figures just issued by the university statistician. Delaware and Nevada are the only States which sent no students to Wisconsin.

The Badger State sent 7735 students. Of these, 4628 were men and 3112 women.

The foreign students numbered 181, 150 men and 31 women.

Employment showed an increase in Wisconsin during April, the United States Department of Labor reports. Large building programs are planned in many parts of the State and common labor is finding employment on municipal road and street improvement work, building construction and farm activities.

Harvey England, 80 years of age, pioneer lumberman, who logged extensively in Marinette county during the early days, died at Marinette. He is survived by five daughters and three sons.

Decision to keep the principal highways in Eau Claire county open during next winter was made by the county board. The board appropriated $12,000 for snowplows and other equipment. Five supervisors voted against the appropriation.

High bidding by banks marked the purchase of $450,000 of the Kenosha bond issue for a high school. The First Savings and Trust of Chicago, successful bidder, offered $14,449 as a premium for the purchase.

OMAHA

OMAHA, May 21.—Organization of the Nebraska Interstate Bridge Association to foster a program for free bridges across the Missouri River was perfected at a road meeting here. Citizens of South Dakota, Iowa and Missouri interested in river crossings, a number of whom attended the meeting, were invited to form similar associations.

Eight Nebraska locations for bridges were advocated at the meeting as follows: Rulo, Nebraska City, Plattsmouth, Omaha, Blair, Decatur, South Sioux City and Niobrara.

Dispatches from Washington State that prohibition headquarters for Nebraska will be moved from Omaha to Sioux City July 1, and Robert A. Samardick will not be appointed chief prohibition enforcement officer for the district, it was learned here.

Less than three weeks before the monument erected in memory of his young brothers and sisters, who were slain by Indians in the "Wiseman massacre" in pioneer days, was to be unveiled, at Wyatt John Wiseman, only survivor of the family, is dead.

The Nebraska State Medical Association protested formally against any parole or pardon for Dr. John T. Matthews, 72 years of age, Omaha physician who is now serving a five-year term at the State penitentiary for performing an unlawful operation. Dr. Matthews was sent to the penitentiary in 1923, after conviction for the death of Miss Loretta McDermott, 25, of Bassett, Neb.

Mrs. Grace Anness, Dunbar, Neb., was elected Worthy Grand Matron, and Dr. George S. Dunlap, Lincoln, Worthy Grand Patron, of the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star in annual session at Hastings.

Nine per cent of the winter wheat crop in Nebraska will be abandoned, the State and Federal division of agricultural statistics announced at Lincoln. High winds and drouth during April caused the loss. The present condition, is 80 per cent with a forecast of 39,931,000 bushels. May rains have improved the wheat condition, tame hay, and pasture, all of which have been retarded due to drouth.

DES MOINES

DES MOINES, May 21.—Mrs. Emma C. Morrison, manager of the Commodore Hotel, has obtained a divorce from M. J. Morrison, former city market master. Mrs. Morrison based her action on charges of cruel and inhuman treatment and desertion. She stated on the stand that her husband left her five years ago and that she had not heard from him since. During his absence, she supported herself and received no money from him, she said.

The approaching marriage of J. B. Pendergast, well-known attorney, and Miss Clare Lyons, public health nurse, some time in June, was announced this morning. Miss Lyons is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Lyons of Guthrie Center, Iowa.

Contracts for the first year's work on the better road program for Johnson county were awarded at Iowa City by the board of supervisors. The Wright Construction Company of Des Moines, was given the contract for paving thirteen miles of primary No. 7 west to the county line at a cost of $23,126 a mile.

The work will start the 25th inst., and must be completed by November 15.

The paving program calls for the construction of forty miles of concrete highways in the next six years.

Iowa crop conditions range "from normal to very backward," the weekly crop report issued by the weather bureau says. Only 30 per cent of the State has received rains of agricultural value during the week, and corn planting, delayed by the drouth, is only beginning in the eastern counties, the report said. In the southwest counties corn planting is three-fourths completed.

James H. Dunagan and George F. Dickey, policemen, lost a long fight for reinstatement in the police force when the Iowa Supreme Court refused to grant them a new hearing. The cases were dismissed after it was charged that they had helped two Ku Klux Klan photographers to reverse the position of the flags on the Coliseum during a Catholic conclave, in September, 1924, placing the flag of the Catholic society above the stars and stripes. Dunagan and Dickey later openly declared that they were klansmen.

BAKERSFIELD RESIDENT GIVEN RIBBON FOR SAVING TWO CHILDREN

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

TOKIO, May 21. — Lee R. Herbert of Bakersfield was awarded the decoration of the Scarlet Ribbon by the Emperor today for saving the life of a Japanese child in a fire in Bakersfield last January 19.

BAKERSFIELD, May 21.—Lee R. Herbert has received notice today through the Associated Press that he is to be decorated by the Japanese government with the Order of the Scarlet Ribbon for his heroism in saving the lives of two Japanese children at the risk of his own life here last January.

Herbert, a service-station proprietor, rushed into a burning residence which had been fired by a gas explosion and, after making his way through several flaming rooms, discovered two Japanese children, Masako Isuchimoto, 4 years of age, and Shoji Isuchimoto, 8 months of age, who were overcome with smoke.

He wrapped one child in a mattress and dropped the baby out of the window. It was not injured. The other child he carried to safety.

Herbert has already received a medal from the Buddhist church and one from the Japanese Association of Kern County as well as letters from the Delano Friendship League and the Consul-General at San Francisco commending his bravery.

FRAUD FACTS SOUGHT

Insurance Company Believed to Have Lost $30,000

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

KANSAS CITY, May 21.—Postal inspectors today sought to uncover additional information about asserted insurance frauds here, in which several insurance companies were believed to have lost about $30,000. They questioned a doctor who was believed by E. R. Coohran, postoffice inspector, to have approved insurance applications without physical examinations of applicants.

Five persons have been arraigned before a United States Commissioner in connection with the asserted fraud exposure. They were charged with using the mails to defraud in the Glumicich case, wherein healthy persons were said to have posed as the applicant for examination. Glumicich was near death at the time.

Exposure of the asserted fraud came when the body of Glumicich, who died in Arizona, was exhumed and was found to bear markings not characteristic of the applicants who posed as Glumicich for physical examination.

BY BRAVEN DYER

Stronger in practically every event than they were a year ago, the University of Southern California track team departs today for Cambridge, where on Friday and Saturday of next week the Trojans will defend the national title which they won in the I. C. 4-A meet last season. Dean Cromwell and fifteen athletes are slated to leave the Southern Pacific station at 12 noon, arrival at Boston being scheduled for sometime Wednesday.

The men making the trip are Capt. Bud Houser and Joe Aleksi, weights; Leighton Dye, Ronald Stever, Cliff Reynolds, Kenneth Grumbles and Morton Kaer, hurdles; Herschel Smith, Ed House and Johnny Parsons, sprints; Henry Coggeshall, Alden Ross, high jump; Percy Niersbach, middle-distance runs; Lee Barnes, pole vault; and Bill Cook, javelin.

Last year Cromwell also took fifteen men east and came through with the national championship. He expects to do the same thing again this season and at this writing success seems to be staring him in the face, although the Trojans may have quite a battle with Stanford before the meet is finally won.

Houser, Dye, Stever, Grumbles, Niersbach, Ross and Cook are making their second trip to the I. C. 4-A affair, although Cook did not get to complete last year, due to an error in registering him for the meet.

Those who went las season and who are remaining behind this time include Norm Anderson, Otto Anderson, Howard White, Howard Torkelson, and Keith Lloyd—all graduates—and Brice Taylor, Les Hellman and Mike Elwood.

Cromwell naturally expects twenty-five points right off the bat, figuring Houser is good for two firsts in the weights, Barnes for five points in the pole vault, Dye for first in the high hurdles and Grumbles the same spot in the low sticks. He also figures that Reyonlds, Stever and Kaer will pick up something like eight or ten points between them in the barrier events and that gives him thirty-three or thirty-five points, enough to win the meet on the basis of last year's score, when the Trojans romped home first with thirty-thre digits.

Aleksi will hardly make up for the loss of Norm Anderson in the weights, but Barnes's five points in the pole vault should balance the difference.

Taylor and Lloyd picked up fourth and fifth in the hundred last year. Whether Parsons, Smith and House can grab anything in either of the dashes is problematical. However, the presence of Coggeshall and Cook should easily account for the three points which Taylor and Lloyd acquired a season ago. The sophomore high jumper is likely to get a second or third, while Cook is always dangerous in the javelin.

All in all the outlook is very rosy, although in a meet of such magnitude upsets are bound to occur. The hurdles, where U.S.C.'s strength lies, are always uncertain due to the possibility of disqualification. However, it is unlikely that more than one of the stick-jumpers will fail and with such a galaxy of hurdling stars Cromwell feels well fortified.

The entire team, with the exception of Houser, remains in Chicago for the national collegiate meet there on June 12. The athletes are also members of the Hollywood Athletic Club and it is understood that they'll remain somewhere in the East for the National A.A.U. affair at Philadelphia during the first week in July.

San Francisco Forwards Resolution Asking That Pole Vaulter be Permanently Barred

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—The Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletic Union today forwarded to the New York headquarters of the union a set of resolutions asking that Charlie Hoff, Norwegian pole vaulter, be permanently barred from amateur competition in this country for his refusal to enter a meet here on the 15th inst. after signing the entry list.

Hoff contended that he had not been given sufficient notice of the meet. At a meeting of the association directors last night, Bill Coffman, one of the directors, who accompanied the Olympic Club swimming team to Chicago early in April, said that he met Hoff in that city and the Norwegian star said he was looking forward to the meet in San Francisco. After hearing Coffman, the directors adopted the resolutions which were forwarded today.

Compton Drops Play-off Game to Alhambrans

Taking advantage of Hurler Al DeHoag's wild streak in the seventh inning, Coach Jess Ranker's Alhambra Moors, champions of the Coast League, put over five runs and finally defeated Compton, 7 to 3, in a play-off game for the Southern California High School baseball championship. Compton won the Bay League title.

After getting off to a poor start, Compton collecting three runs off him in the opening frame, Lefty Uhler settled down and pitched shut-out ball for Alhambra in the last eight frames. DeHoag got by all right until the seventh when four walks and a couple of hits produced five Alhambra runs. To make matters more secure, the Moors scored two more in the ninth.

ALMGREN'S BOMB FAILS TO EXPLODE

"Investigation" of Alleged Fixed Fights at Vernon Falls Flat

Louis Almgren, San Diego member of the State athletic commission, fired his "investigation" bomb at yesterday's meeting of the body but the blast, as was expected, proved to be considerable of a dud. Almgren recently charged that he had exclusive information to the effect that fights at Vernon arena have not been conducted on the up-and-up.

Sgt. W. P. Strelinger

At Yesterdays meeting he stated that the recent scrap between Lester Johnson and Tony Fuente had been fixed. He said that Johnson had deliberately fouled Fuente. Those who saw the scrap will remember that the general impression remained that Fuente had gone down without apparently being fouled, rather than Johnson deliberately punching the Mexican boy low.

After the referee gave Fuente the decision Johnson crossed to Tony's corner and said, with evident sincerity: "I wouldn't want to win a fight that way if I were you, Tony."

At any rate the boxing commission, at Almgren's in-

LATZO TO DEFEND TITLE IN NEW YORK RING ON JULY 9

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 21.—It is learned that Pete Latzo's first defense of the welterweight title he won from Mickey Walker last night will be at the Polo Grounds in New York on July 9.

The name of Latzo's opponent was not mentioned, but it is understood Joe Dundee of Baltimore will be given the assignment, if he defeats Willie Harmon on the 28th inst. There also is talk of a return bout between Walker and Latzo in [illegible].

Promoter Louis Pagnotti estimated this morning that the Latzo-Walker bout last night drew a paid attendance of 13,000, with the gross receipts nearly $90,000. Deduction of the State and Federal taxes reduces the net to about $70,000.

Walker received a guarantee of $30,000. Latzo took 17½ per cent, which will amount to about $12,250. The show netted a profit for Pagnotti, the man who gambled on the first championship fight in Scranton's history.

Shortstop's Boot Brings in Two of Monks' Runs

Bert Cole Bests Fullerton in Pitching Battle

BY ROBERT RAY

Mr. Dudley Lee, who was the hero of Hollywood's victory over the Missions in the series opener Tuesday, sunk down into the "goat" class yesterday, his error of Gillespie's bounder letting in two runs with two out in tthe seventh inning and allowing the Monks to grab a 3-to-1 contest. It was the Monks' second straight win and evens up the series at two-all.

Had it not been for Lee's kick in the fatal seventh, Bert Cole and Curtis Fullerton might still be dueling out their battle on the Wrigley Field mound. Aside from that error, Fullerton had the edge, but that boot turned the tide in Cole's channels, the victory floating in with it.

The Stars outhit the Monks, 9 to 7, and included in their raps were two triples and three doubles, but still the home guards could get but one run off Cole, for the Mission southpaw saw to it that all of the extra-base hits came after two were out. However, Sheehan and Leslie managed to bunch a couple of two-base pokes with two away in the sixth to score the Stars' lone tally.

STRONG RALLY

Hollywood put on a strong rally in the ninth that had the tying runs on second and third with two out, but Cole arose to the occasion and struck out Charley Gooch to put a finish on the contest, as well as the Stars' chances.

There was a lot of good fielding to pep up the contest, Lee pulling off a couple of beautiful plays to rob Slade and Swanson of hits. Jimmy McDowell also turned in a prize bit of fielding in the seventh when he made a backhand stab of Zoellers's hot grounder far out to his right and then tossed the ball to Cole in time to nip the fleet-footed Hollywood outfielder Gillespie also comes in for mention with his one-hand catch of Zoellers's drive up against the right field screen in the first inning.

The Stars had chances to score in the first and fourth innings when O'Doul and Kerr tripled after two were out, but Cole prevented a run both times.

PICK UP A RUN

Hollywood picked up its first run in the sixth when, after two were out, Sheehan doubled down the left-field line and scored on Leslie's two-base wallop between Boone and Swanson. Kerr drew a walk, but Lee lofted to Boone for the final out.

The Monks had men on first and third with one away in their half of the sixth, but Jones hit into a double-play to spoil that chance to score. In the seventh, however, they managed to pick up their two with the aid of Lee's bobble. Murphy singled to center for a starter and McDowell followed by drawing a walk. Slade sacrificed the runners along with a bunt to Fullerton. Cole hit to Fullerton and Murphy was trapped between third and home. Murphy managed to scramble back to third safely, but found McDowell parked on the bag, also. Peters, who had followed Murphy to the base, tagged both runners and Umpire Phyle called McDowell out. Cole went to second during the excitement. Then Gillespie hit his bounder through Lee's legs, both Murphy and Cole counting. Kerr threw out Swanson to end the round.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 21.—France's pugilistic flower may have withered, but it has not yet died.

Georges Carpentier proved to a crowd of 13,736 fight fans in Madison Square Garden tonight that he still possesses some of the old fighting brilliance, the wonderful fighting spirit which has made him a ring idol, and the cunning and craftiness which have been among his chief stocks in trade. In the feature bout he held the tough, rugged sailor, Eddie Huffman, Pacific Coast light heavyweight, to a draw in ten fast and spectacular rounds of fighting.

Eddie Huffman

Beaten piteously about the body under a steady bombardment of rights to the heart and lefts to the wind, near disaster on more than one occasion, early in the bout, Carpentier came back in the last three rounds and in a desperate rally, outgeneraled and outboxed the rugged youngster and saved himself from defeat.

It was a thrilling spectacle to see Carpentier, the veteran of years of ring fighting, at the comparatively young age of 34, dancing and bounding about the ring with much of his old brilliance and with his old cunning, outsmarting the ambitious youngster who sought to destroy him pugilistically. The crowd rose to the spirit of the occasion and cheered the courageous Frenchman, as it cheered Huffman, too, for his great effort in the bid for victory.

Men yelled hoarse encouragement and women shrilled their delight at the spectacle as the men battled savagely, viciously, in the desperate effort for victory through those closing rounds.

Carpentier had his efforts crowned with success, though he failed of actual victory. He held Huffman to a draw, which was considerable of an achievement in view of the sorry plight in which the the French gladiator found himself before launching the last furious attempt to ward off the defeat which was enveloping him.

Judges and spectators alike disagreed mildly with the result when the draw decision was announced, some think that Carpentier deserved the victory, while others thought Huffman won. How close was the battle is reflected in the fact that the judges and referee rendered three different decisions. Judge James

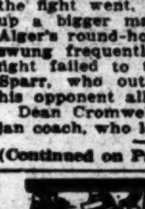
SPARR IS VICTOR AT HOLLYWOOD

Alger Takes Severe Right-Hand Beating from Harbor Lightweight

According to all the laws of nature and of gravity Billy Alger should have kissed the canvas and laid himself to rest long before the tenth round rolled around at Hollywood last night. Instead, said manufacturer of cauliflower ears took an unmerciful right-hand pasting from Jackie Sparr of Wilmington to drop the last nine rounds and the decision. The opening canto was even.



BILLIE ALGER

The fight had nowhere the class or speed of last week's fracas when Georgie Rivers, who looms as an opponent for Fidel La Barba, lambasted Jack Sheppard from Bean town, although he was fighting under a handicap of eight pounds.

ALGER TERRIBLE

Alger failed to show anything, but the ability to absorb right-hand blows to the head without slowing down. After the first stanza, Sparr ripped in and landed on Alger at will, but failed to even faze that tough young man. So the fight went, with Sparr piling up a bigger margin each round. Alger's round-house curve that he swung frequently throughout the fight failed to touch the fleeting Sparr, who outhit and outboxed his opponent all the way.

Southern Branch Nine Battles Quakers in Feature Southern Conference Game Today

Seeking Revenge for Defeat Early in Season

Oxy Has Odds on Redlands in Game at Eagle Rock

GAMES TODAY

Grizzlies at Whittier.
Redlands at Oxy.
Pomona at Caltech.

There will only be one more occasion this year when Southern Conference nines will meet after the games scheduled today so it behooves all teams to do their upsetting today if there is any to be done for without upsets Whittier and Oxy go into the lists a week hence to do battle for the title and the one that wins then will not have caused an upset, there being little choice between them.

The great opportunity for a reversal of dope today will be in the Grizzley game with Whittier, a contest that threatens to develop a little bad blood as a result of the unexpected defeat of the local university nine earlier in the season when they led the conference with no games lost, and the Oxy scalp at their belt. Since then the Grizzlies have lost two more and Whittier has lost one to ride in second place. Caddy Work's team would like nothing better than to reverse the tables on their opponents and drop them out of their favored position.

With Doug Keating hurling for the Poets as he undoubtedly will the Grizzlies would seem to have a tough job in hand. Al Wagner may be able to do it but his hurling record does not compare with Keating's he having the downfall of Caltech in both games of a double header to his credit. Rogers, who has been used as a relief pitcher by the Grizzlies seems to have had better success to date than his teammate.

Oxy leads the conference and it looks impossible for them to be doing otherwise tonight after their tilt with Redlands, the conference weaklings as far as baseball is concerned. They have only one victory to their credit and this somewhat of a fluke when they defeated the Grizzlies while in a terrible batting slump.

Pomona plays at Caltech in the third contest of the day and all that can possibly come of the tilt is a shifting of the order in fourth and fifth places.

Gorchakoff to Meet Laird in Battle at Nets

Robert Laird, freshman net star at the Southern Branch, and Ben Gorchakoff, Occidental College wizard and 1926 intercollegiate men's Ojai champion, will tangle in the feature match this morning on the courts of Griffith Park, where the annual spring tennis tourney is being held. Robert Laird, 1925 park champion, is out to defend his title against the collegiate title-holder and a battle royal is predicted by local fans. The tourney is in the semifinals in all events and the final winners will be decided tomorrow afternoon when the final bracket of play will be completed.

The women's open singles has narrowed down to two clever Southland junior stars, namely, Miss Gladys Patz and Miss Mary Barbara Taylor, respectively, of Southern Branch and Occidental College. The men's doubles also has eliminated all but two doubles champions, Bob Laird and Bert Wales, and Kirwan and Call. Dale Isenhuth, former Hollywood High School star and California State prep singles champion in 1924, will face the winner of the Gorchakoff-Laird tussle tomorrow. All of the above matches will be played tomorrow, when the 1926 park champions will be decided.

Today's schedule of play follows:

8:30 a.m.—Miss Miller and Green vs. Miss Taylor and Hoyt.
9:30 a.m.—Ben Gorchakoff vs. Bob Laird.
10:30 a.m.—Mrs. Holmes and Straub vs. winner Miss Miller and Green vs. Miss Taylor and Hoyt.
1:30 p.m.—Isenhuth and Robins vs. Kirwan and Call.
3 p.m.—Miss Probasbacher and Gorchakoff vs. Miss Hoyt and Pulsom.

"GLORIFYING THE AMERICAN GIRL"
FEG MURRAY
THE WORLD AT HER FEET—
—IF SHE BEATS SUZANNE
HELEN WILLS
AMERICA'S AMBASSADRESS TO THE COURTS OF FRANCE AND ENGLAND

"Whom would you rather draw than Dempsey?" a friend of mine inquired the other day. "Wills, of course," I answered. "and I don't mean Harry Wills, either!" So here is the queen of the courts again, ready to play in the Franco-American team matches next week and then, on June 2, in the French hard-court championships. The conclusion is, of course, that she will meet Suzanne in the latter tournament, and then, perhaps, the "Lenglen trail" that has been a-winding its way from victory in Europe ever since the war will come to an abrupt end.

Look at Helen! Isn't she a beauty? My idea of a good assignment would be to draw Helen Wills six days a week. Helen of Troy, that famous dame who owned "the face that launched a thousand ships," never graced the courts of Sparta or Troy as well as this modern Helen of Berkeley graces the courts upon which she plays tennis as few men can play it.

Have you ever seen Helen Wills play at Forest Hills? No matter how severe the competition, or how hot the weather, she never seems to get the slightest bit excited or ruffled. Now and then she takes the handkerchief out of her middy-blouse pocket and dabs at her demure, placid face with it — and the next instant she is sending over a booming drive that would do credit to Billy Johnston. Flo Ziegfeld should sign her up. She never loses that dainty look and perfect poise, and is far prettier and more graceful than many a so-called dancer that you see on the stage.

Isn't it tough luck to be just 20, to be young and beautiful, and the second great girl tennis player around, playing in tournaments, winning cups and medals and other prizes, and meeting kings and dukes and princes!

"The woman pays" should be changed to "the woman plays."

SIR THOMAS SENDS A CUP

Here is the magnificent trophy put up by Sir Thomas Lipton as the prize for the winning craft in the Honolulu race which starts from San Pedro on June 12. Admiral Albert Soiland, chairman of the Honolulu race committee is holding the cup, which arrived from England yesterday. With its base, the cup will stand over three feet tall, and is one of the most beautiful cups ever put up for yacht competition.—[Photo by Eyre Powell Press Service.]

YOSEMITE RUN HALF OVER

Drivers Confident As Stop Is Made at Fresno; All Cars Arrive in Time Allowance

BY ROY A. McMILLAN
"Times" Staff Correspondent

FRESNO, May 21.—With each of the eleven entrants in the tenth annual economy run to Yosemite Park confident of victory, the half-way stop was made here tonight, the cars left at minute intervals from Los Angeles this morning, beginning at 6:34. Each driver has his own "recipe" for winning.

The annual classic and each was following it to achieve the honor of driving the 360 miles with the least consumption of gasoline and oil.

The first 243 miles of the journey was made without incident. All of the cars arrived here within the ten hours and thirty minutes allowed, an extra half-hour over the limit of last year being allowed by the A.A.A. officials under whose rules the contest is being staged.

The first car to arrive was the Packard entry, which checked in at 4:29. In the order of their arrival the others were: Franklin, Flint, Star four touring, Stutz, Star four coach, Gardner, Pontiac, Star six, Duesenberg and Lincoln.

Although the Lincoln entrant of Jack Madda, was the last to arrive, but well within the time limit, Mrs. Madda, the driver, was praised for the manner in which she piloted the car.

She is the first woman to essay the hard drive into Yosemite on what has become a national event.

The 125 in the party were the guests tonight at the Hotel Fresno at a banquet tendered by the Yosemite Park and Curry Company.

Winners of the contest will be announced at Camp Curry Sunday by Hal Weller, referee of the event and member of the contest board of the A.A.A. The cars will be inspected on their return to Los Angeles by George Stephenson, technical representative of the A.A.A. for their stock stages.

Swim Title is Carried Away by Huntington

The Bay League has a new swimming champion for the first time since 1915. In the most sensational meet that the circuit has ever sponsored, Huntington Park Thursday night defeated a field of opponents including Venice, title-holder for eleven years, before a crowd of 1500 in the Venice Plunge.

Huntington Park scored 44 1-2 points to 41 for Venice; 19 for Redondo; 11 for Inglewood, and 5 1-2 for Santa Monica. Venice's 1925 Southern California Class C champions won out handily in their division.

Harold Ploessel, Huntington Park's lengthy aquatic representative, was the star of the meet. He won three first places, fifty-yard free style, 220 overhand, and 100-yard backstroke, establishing a new league record of 1m. 14.2s. while registering the last win. Tom Meddlicott of Redondo, was second-best individual star with two wins, the 100-yard overhand and medley.

CAVENEY ACQUIRED BY OAKLAND CLUB

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, May 21.—Del Howard, part owner of the Oakland baseball club of the Pacific Coast League, today announced the purchase of Jimmy Caveney, shortstop, from the Seattle baseball club.

Caveney is expected to join the Oaks tomorrow, playing shortstop until the recovery of Lyn Lary, who is suffering from spike wounds, when he will be shifted to third base.

today with the U.S.C. track squad in an effort to annex the I.C.A.A.A.A. championships for the second consecutive year, was presented to the ensemble and given a wrist watch by the Legion. Charley Borah, freshman sprint sensation was also introduced, and vociferously greeted by the fans, many of whom had evidently seen Borah in his great race with Paddock.

Roy Cliffe, the rough and tumble mauler of cars from the Northwest, cleaned up Barney Zablocki in three rounds, and was awarded a technical knockout decision by Referee Frank Holbarrow.

Although Cliffe tanned Zablocki to a fare-thee-well with murderous rights to the head, that young man displayed an abundance of guts and sand to stick the three rounds. Cliffe had him practically out in the second, and Zablocki had a difficult time steering a straight course to his corner. The bout was stopped in the middle of the third, when Zablocki was on the verge of being knocked out.

Vic King was awarded a decision over Jack Rychell on a foul in the fifth round of their scheduled six-round go. Rychell had had much the better of the milling during the first four rounds and looked good to cop over King until the first of the fifth, when King dropped to the canvas, evidently badly hurt from a low blow. The referee immediately gave King the decision and then aided him to his corner. King took a good beating around the head and body during the opening rounds.

Al McVeigh sailed along on even terms with Sailor Roy Riley during the first three rounds of the second bout, but hit a typhoon in the final lap that well nigh paralized McVeigh. Discarding all thoughts of pacifism, Sailor Riley let go a flock of rights to the ivory that had McVeigh out on his feet in jig time. McVeigh staggered around the ring punch-groggy until referee Frank Holborrow gave Riley a technical kayo decision.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—Jack Silver, San Francisco lightweight, won a ten-round decision over "Shuffling" Phil Salvadore of Hollywood in the main event of a boxing card at Dreamland Auditorium here tonight.

GUTHRIE LAYS CLAIM TO HURDLE RECORD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

COLUMBUS (O.) May 21.—Running against time here today James Guthrie, Ohio State University track star, set what is believed to be a world's record when he negotiated the eighty-yard low hurdles in 9 2-5s. The old record, set by Ford of the University of New York in 1886, was 12s. flat.

PHILP BUYS PACER FROM MONTGOMERY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

STOCKTON, May 21.—The purchase of the 2-year-old pacing gelding Hal J. Logan by N. L. Philp of Los Angeles was announced here today by Frank Leiginger, secretary of the California Harness Racing Circuit. The gelding was owned by Elmo Montgomery. Sire of the gelding was Jim Logan, 2:01 3-4. His granddam was the great brood mare Bertha by Alcantara. The young pacer is entered in all of the California colt stakes and futurity races this year.

ROMANS, POLY UNDEFEATED

Coach Herb White's Los Angeles High School nine won its fifth consecutive start of the season yesterday afternoon on the home diamond by trouncing the Manual Arts nine 3 to 0. Louie Almada, leading City League hurler, allowed but four hits and struck out nineteen of the batters who faced him. Corcoran, Toiler hurler, pitched as nice a game as has been seen all season. He was nicked for nine hits, but at least four of them were due to faulty fielding.

The Romans copped one run each in the first, fifth and sixth. Corcoran hurled himself out of a bad hole in the sixth, when three men got on the sacks with no one out. Lombardi flied out, Dennis whiffed and Smith was caught off first after Faulkner had scored from third.

Poor headwork on the part of the man in the box cost the Toilers one sure marker in the sixth. Carter could easily have come home on Dudley's long double to center field, but he was stopped on the hot corner. Poor stick work with men on the bags left the Artisans holding the sack on several occasions, when a hit would have scored.

Almada hurled real ball all afternoon and was never once in danger. He struck out the first three men to face him and fanned the last with three straight strikes. Faulkner, Roman keystone sacker, continued to fatten his batting average with a double and two singles in four trips to the platter.

POLY WINS ANOTHER OVER JEFF NINE

Polytechnic still has a clean record as the result of an 8-to-2 win over the weak Jefferson nine on the Democrat diamond yesterday afternoon. "Lefty" Bush hurled a nice game for the winners, although he allowed seven hits. Tight fielding held the score down. Timely hitting and a flock of errors gave the Mechanics eight runs on six safeties.

The Mechanics collected four of their runs in the sixth on three hits. Wilson and Blank hit doubles to start the fun. Cook poked out a single and Ferrier walked. Jefferson got a run in the sixth and seventh.

JUNIOR COLLEGES IN TITULAR SWIM MEET

With Pasadena and Fullerton the most likely candidates for high honors, the junior colleges of Southern California will fight it out for the first conference swimming championship, to be held in the Pasadena High School tank this afternoon.

In Harold Novis, backstroker, and Joe Sanford, diver, Pasadena has two men that would look good in any aquatic contest in this end of the State. The F. C. Nash Department Store of Pasadena has offered a handsome loving cup for the winning institution.

Since this is the first annual meet all times made today will stand as records. The meet, which is being managed by Leland C. McAuley, coach, and Wendell Scott, manager of the Pasadena aggregation, will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Pomona and Caltech Clash at Pasadena

GAMES TODAY

Grizzlies at Whittier.
Redlands at Oxy.
Pomona at Caltech.

There will only be one more occasion this year when Southern Conference nines will meet after the games scheduled today so it behooves all teams to do their upsetting today if there is any to be done for without upsets Whittier and Oxy go into the lists a week hence to do battle for the title and the one that wins then will not have caused an upset, there being little choice between them.

The great opportunity for a reversal of dope today will be in the Grizzley game with Whittier, a contest that threatens to develop a little bad blood as a result of the unexpected defeat of the local university nine earlier in the season when they led the conference with no games lost, and the Oxy scalp at their belt. Since then the Grizzlies have lost two more and Whittier has lost one to ride in second place. Caddy Work's team would like nothing better than to reverse the tables on their opponents and drop them out of their favored position.

With Doug Keating hurling for the Poets as he undoubtedly will the Grizzlies would seem to have a tough job in hand. Al Wagner may be able to do it but his hurling record does not compare with Keating's he having the downfall of Caltech in both games of a double header to his credit. Rogers, who has been used as a relief pitcher by the Grizzlies seems to have had better success to date than his teammate.

Oxy leads the conference and it looks impossible for them to be doing otherwise tonight after their tilt with Redlands, the conference weaklings as far as baseball is concerned. They have only one victory to their credit and this somewhat of a fluke when they defeated the Grizzlies while in a terrible batting slump.

Pomona plays at Caltech in the third contest of the day and all that can possibly come of the tilt is a shifting of the order in fourth and fifth places.

Gorchakoff to Meet Laird in Battle at Nets

Robert Laird, freshman net star at the Southern Branch, and Ben Gorchakoff, Occidental College wizard and 1926 intercollegiate men's Ojai champion, will tangle in the feature match this morning on the courts of Griffith Park, where the annual spring tennis tourney is being held. Robert Laird, 1925 park champion, is out to defend his title against the collegiate title-holder and a battle royal is predicted by local fans. The tourney is in the semifinals in all events and the final winners will be decided tomorrow afternoon when the final bracket of play will be completed.

The women's open singles has narrowed down to two clever Southland junior stars, namely, Miss Gladys Pats and Miss Mary Barbara Taylor, respectively, of Southern Branch and Occidental College. The men's doubles also has eliminated all but two doubles champions, Bob Laird and Bert Wales, and Kirwan and Call. Dale Isenhuth, former Hollywood High School star and California State prep singles champion in 1924, will face the winner of the Gorchakoff-Laird tussle tomorrow. All of the above matches will be played tomorrow, when the 1926 park champions will be decided.

Today's schedule of play follows:

8:30 a.m.—Miss Miller and Green vs. Miss Taylor and Hoyt.
9:30 a.m.—Ben Gorchakoff vs. Bob Laird.
10:30 a.m.—Mrs. Holmes and Straub vs. winner Miss Miller and Green vs. Miss Taylor and Hoyt.
1:30 p.m.—Isenhuth and Robins vs. Kirwan and Call.
4 p.m.—Miss Probasheskey and Gorchakoff vs. Miss Hoyt and Patterson.

HELEN WILLS

"Whom would you rather draw than Dempsey?" a friend of mine inquired the other day. "Wills, of course," I answered. "and I don't mean Harry Wills, either!" So here is the queen of the courts again, ready to play in the Franco-American team matches next week and then, on June 2, in the French hard-court championships. The conclusion is, of course, that she will meet Suzanne in the latter tournament, and then, perhaps, the "Lenglen trail" that has been a-winding its way from victory in Europe ever since the war will come to an abrupt end.

Look at Helen! Isn't she a beauty? My idea of a good assignment would be to draw Helen Wills six days a week. Helen of Troy, that famous dame who owned "the face that launched a thousand ships," never graced the courts of Sparta or Troy as well as this modern Helen of Berkeley graces the courts upon which she plays tennis as few men can play it.

Have you ever seen Helen Wills play at Forest Hills? No matter how severe the competition, or how hot the weather, she never seems to get the slightest bit excited or ruffled. Now and then she takes the handkerchief out of her middy-blouse pocket and dabs at her demure, placid face with it — and the next instant she is sending over a booming drive that would do credit to Billy Johnston. Flo Ziegfeld should sign her up. She never loses that dainty look and perfect poise, and is far prettier and more graceful than many a so-called dancer that you see on the stage.

Isn't it tough luck to be just 20, to be young and beautiful, and the secnod great girl tennis player around, playing in tournaments, winning cups and medals and other prizes, and meeting kings and dukes and princes!

"The woman pays" should be changed to "the woman plays."

YOSEMITE RUN HALF OVER

Drivers Confident As Stop Is Made at Fresno; All Cars Arrive in Time Allowance

BY ROY A. McMILLAN
"Times" Staff Correspondent

FRESNO, May 21.—With each of the eleven entrants in the tenth annual economy run to Yosemite Park confident of victory, the half-way stop was made here tonight, the cars left at minute intervals from Los Angeles this morning, beginning at 6:34. Each driver has his own "recipe" for winning.

The annual classic and each was following it to achieve the honor of driving the 360 miles with the least consumption of gasoline and oil.

The first 243 miles of the journey was made without incident. All of the cars arrived here within the ten hours and thirty minutes allowed, an extra half-hour over the limit of last year being allowed by the A.A.A. officials under whose rules the contest is being staged.

The first car to arrive was the Packard entry, which checked in at 4:29. In the order of their arrival the others were: Franklin, Flint, Star four touring, Stutz, Star four coach, Gardner, Pontiac, Star six, Duesenberg and Lincoln.

Although the Lincoln entrant of Jack Madda, was the last to arrive, but well within the time limit, Mrs. Madda, the driver, was praised for the manner in which she piloted the car.

She is the first woman to essay the hard drive into Yosemite on what has become a national event.

The 125 in the party were the guests tonight at the Hotel Fresno at a banquet tendered by the Yosemite Park and Curry Company.

Winners of the contest will be announced at Camp Curry Sunday by Hal Weller, referee of the event and member of the contest board of the A.A.A. The cars will be inspected on their return to Los Angeles by George Stephenson, technical representative of the A.A.A. for their stock stages.

Swim Title is Carried Away by Huntington

The Bay League has a new swimming champion for the first time since 1915. In the most sensational meet that the circuit has ever sponsored, Huntington Park Thursday night defeated a field of opponents including Venice, title-holder for eleven years, before a crowd of 1500 in the Venice Plunge.

Huntington Park scored 44 1-2 points to 41 for Venice; 19 for Redondo; 11 for Inglewood, and 5 1-2 for Santa Monica. Venice's 1925 Southern California Class C champions won out handily in their division.

Harold Ploessel, Huntington Park's lengthy aquatic representative, was the star of the meet. He won three first places, fifty-yard free style, 220 overhand, and 100-yard backstroke, establishing a new league record of 1m. 14.2s. while registering the last win. Tom Meddlicott of Redondo, was second-best individual star with two wins, the 100-yard overhand and medley.

CAVENEY ACQUIRED BY OAKLAND CLUB

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, May 21.—Del Howard, part owner of the Oakland baseball club of the Pacific Coast League, today announced the purchase of Jimmy Caveney, shortstop, from the Seattle baseball club.

Caveney is expected to join the Oaks tomorrow, playing shortstop until the recovery of Lyn Lary, who is suffering from spike wounds, when he will be shifted to third base.

today with the U.S.C. track squad in an effort to annex the I.C.A.A.A.A. championships for the second consecutive year, was presented to the ensemble and given a wrist watch by the Legion. Charley Borah, freshman sprint sensation was also introduced, an vociferously greeted by the fans, many of whom had evidently seen Borah in his great race with Paddock.

Roy Cliffe, the rough and tumble mauler of cars from the Northwest, cleaned up Barney Zablocki in three rounds, and was awarded a technical knockout decision by Referee Frank Holbarrow.

Although Cliffe tanned Zablocki to a fare-thee-well with murderous rights to the head, that young man displayed an abundance of guts and sand to stick the three rounds. Cliffe had him practically out in the second, and Zablocki had a difficult time steering a straight course to his corner. The bout was stopped in the middle of the third, when Zablocki was on the verge of being knocked out.

Vic King was awarded a decision over Jack Rychell on a foul in the fifth round of their scheduled six-round go. Rychell had had much the better of the milling during the first four rounds and looked good to cop over King until the first of the fifth, when King dropped to the canvas, evidently badly hurt from a low blow. The referee immediately gave King the decision and then aided him to his corner. King took a good beating around the head and body during the opening rounds.

Al McVeigh sailed along on even terms with Sailor Roy Riley during the first three rounds of the second bout, but hit a typhoon in the final lap that well nigh paralized McVeigh. Discarding all thoughts of pacifism, Sailor Riley let go a flock of rights to the ivory that had McVeigh out on his feet in jig time. McVeigh staggered around the ring punch-groggy until referee Frank Holborrow gave Riley a technical kayo decision.

COLUMBUS (O.) May 21.—Running against time here today James Guthrie, Ohio State University track star, set what is believed to be a world's record when he negotiated the eighty-yard low hurdles in 9 2-5s. The old record, set by Ford of the University of New York in 1886, was 12s. flat.

Philp of Los Angeles was announced here today by Frank Leiginger, secretary of the California Harness Racing Circuit. The gelding was owned by Elmo Montgomery. Sire of the gelding was Jim Logan, 2:01 3-4. His granddam was the great brood mare Bertha by Alcantara. The young pacer is entered in all of the California colt stakes and futurity races this year.

ROMANS, POLY UNDEFEATED

Coach Herb White's Los Angeles High School nine won its fifth consecutive start of the season yesterday afternoon on the home diamond by trouncing the Manual Arts nine 3 to 0. Louie Almada, leading City League hurler, allowed but four hits and struck out nineteen of the batters who faced him. Corcoran, Toiler hurler, pitched as nice a game as has been seen all season. He was nicked for nine hits, but at least four of them were due to faulty fielding.

The Romans copped one run each in the first, fifth and sixth. Corcoran hurled himself out of a bad hole in the sixth, when three men got on the sacks with no one out. Lombardi flied out, Dennis whiffed and Smith was caught off first after Faulkner had scored from third.

Poor headwork on the part of the man in the box cost the Toilers one sure marker in the sixth. Carter could easily have come home on Dudley's long double to center field, but he was stopped on the hot corner. Poor stick work with men on the bags left the Artisans holding the sack on several occasions, when a hit would have scored.

Almada hurled real ball all afternoon and was never once in danger. He struck out the first three men to face him and fanned the last with three straight strikes. Faulkner, Roman keystone sacker, continued to fatten his batting average with a double and two singles in four trips to the platter.

POLY WINS ANOTHER OVER JEFF NINE

Polytechnic still has a clean record as the result of an 8-to-2 win over the weak Jefferson nine on the Democrat diamond yesterday afternoon. "Lefty" Bush hurled a nice game for the winners, although he allowed seven hits. Tight fielding held the score down. Timely hitting and a flock of errors gave the Mechanics eight runs on six safeties.

The Mechanics collected four of their runs in the sixth on three hits. Wilson and Blank hit doubles to start the fun. Cook poked out a single and Ferrier walked. Jefferson got a run in the sixth and seventh.

JUNIOR COLLEGES IN TITULAR SWIM MEET

With Pasadena and Fullerton the most likely candidates for high honors, the junior colleges of Southern California will fight it out for the first conference swimming championship, to be held in the Pasadena High School tank this afternoon.

In Harold Novis, backstroker, and Joe Sanford, diver, Pasadena has two men that would look good in any aquatic contest in this end of the State. The F. C. Nash Department Store of Pasadena has offered a handsome loving cup for the winning institution.

Since this is the first annual meet all times made today will stand as records. The meet, which is being managed by Leland C. McAuley, coach, and Wendell Scott, manager of the Pasadena aggregation, will start at 2:30 o'clock.

THE U.S.C. track team which performs a week from today in the I.C.A.A.A. meet is unquestionably the strongest organization, for that particular type of competition, that ever went out of the West, and is probably the strongest outfit that ever competed in the big intercollegiate contests. There has never before been a single university capable of mustering an almost certain twenty-five points in first place alone. But that is what U.S.C. can do. Bud Houser in the shot and discus, Leighton Dye in the high hurdles, Kenny Grumbles in the low sticks, and Lee Barnes in the pole vault, are the outstanding performers in their particular events, and would be regarded as favorites in any league. Back them up with the almost certain points to be picked up by Reynolds in the high sticks, by Ross or Coggeshall in the high jump, and the possible points from half a dozen other team members, and you have a most unusual situation.

Stanford will have a team which beat U.S.C. in the Coast Conference by about eight points, and yet the Cards' don't begin to measure up with the Trojans in doping the eastern meet. The three great cardinal quarter-milers will meet a lot of other boys, for instance Paulson of Yale and McDonald of Penn, who can beat 49s. Richardson will be the best bet for a first place in the half, but the strongest Stanford event, the one-mile relay, isn't even on the program. Hoffman isn't as reliable as Houser, and will have to hustle to pick up two second places in the weight events. Meeks and McRae in the broad jump will almost certainly place, but will run into a lot of other twenty-three-foot jumpers. Stanford's second and third places might easily develop into fourths and fifths with little chance of blossoming into firsts and seconds.

Those who saw Mickey Walker ruin Bert Colima at Vernon about a year ago find it difficult to believe that another welterweight could be found to take his title away from him. Those who have closely followed his career since Kearns took him in hand are inclined to think that the well-known primrose boulevard won the decision from him, if anybody or anything did. If that is the case, Walker, who is young and strong, will in all probability be able to straighten himself around during the next ninety days, and if he gets that return bout with Latzo should be able to reverse the decision, even if the bout is again held in his conqueror's home town.

When the boys matched Eddie Shea and Jimmy McLarnin they sure arranged for something exciting. Shea is one of the hardest and quickest hitters that ever blew into this town. McLarnin, when he decides to be clever, is about the cleverest thing of his weight that has been seen here in many years. Whether McLarnin can peck away often enough and hard enough to discourage Mr. Shea is the vital question. Certainly Jimmy had better not get in and slug with him, or he's likely to get his head knocked off. It certainly ought to draw a huge house.

BOSTON, May 21.—Earl Sheely, Chicago first-sacker, continued his heavy sticking when he gathered three doubles and a homer in his first four times at bat in today's game with Boston. Despite this, however, his team-mates were unable to stop a ninth-inning rally by the Red Sox, who scored three runs to win, 8 to 7

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

OAKLAND, May 21.—It took the veteran Harry Krause to put an end to the losing streak of the Oaks, who have dropped six games in a row. Krause took the pitcher's mound here today and held the Seattle Indians to seven scattered hits while his team scored a 5-to-1 win.

Brett pitched a fairly good game for Seattle, but Oakland made all its hits count for runs. Score:

MARINES BEAT VERMONT

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BURLINGTON (Vt.) May 21.—The Quantico Marines moved in and out of this city today and took with them on their departure a 6-3 victory over the Vermont University nine.

"CARP" IS NO FISH YET

CARPENTIER IN DRAW BATTLE

Gearns voted a draw; Judge George Kelly voted for Carpentier and Referee Eddie Purdy voted for Huffman. But the draw decision, in addition to being popular, was just. It hurt neither man. This writer thought that Huffman had a slight lead on points. Five rounds went to the sailor lad while Carpentier had four and one was even.

Al Brown, New York, negro bantamweight, knocked out Teddy Silva of California in the third round of a ten-round match, first of the preliminary bouts.

In a six-rounder Mike Ecta of California won the verdict over Johnny Wiesse of Germany. The men are middleweights.

Napoleon Dorval, California heavyweight, scored a technical knockout over Dan Lieber of New York in the second round of a ten-round bout. The towel fluttered from Lieber's corner two minutes and seventeen seconds after the start of the round. Lieber was badly beaten and was floored for a count of eight just before the towel was tossed in.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS

ROUND ONE

Carpentier started the first punch, a left which was short. The jabbing lefts sent Huffman's head back and the Californian gave ground. A swinging right landed on Carpentier's face and he dropped to his knees, but he was up immediately. A knifing right to the jaw staggered Huffman. A left sent Huffman to the ropes. The Frenchman was outboxing his opponent. Carpentier spun Huffman around with a right as the bell rang.

ROUND TWO

ROUND THREE

An uppercut forced the Frenchman to clinch and both landed damaging blows to the body. A left jarred Huffman's head. Huffman staggered Georges with a left to the face but failed to follow up. Huffman drove a vicious right to the body and Carpentier doubled up. They lashed away openly with both hands. They were locked at the bell.

ROUND FOUR

ROUND FIVE

They exchanged lefts to the head. Two solid rights to the head staggered Huffman. Another right landed flush to the Californian's jaw and he rushed in madly. The Californian had no defense for Carpentier's flashing right. Again the right landed to the head. Huffman caught Carpentier near the ropes and poured both hands to head and body but the bell interrupted the skirmish.

ROUND SIX

Carpentier came up cautiously. Huffman tore in but the Frenchman pedaled away. Two rights to the body slowed Carpentier. Huffman came in openly and Carpentier planted a right to the face and the westerner backed up. The Frenchman seemed to lose his snap as Huffman's punches landed more frequently. They were sparring at the bell.

ROUND SEVEN

They sparred for about a minute without landing a blow. Two savage rights narrowly missed Huffman's head. The action slowed as Carpentier tired and Huffman refused to assume the aggressive. Huffman staggered Carpentier with a right to the head just as the bell rang, but they continued to fight until the referee parted them. It was a tame round until the end.

ROUND EIGHT

ROUND NINE

Huffman speeded up and drove Carpentier to the ropes with a right to the head and left to the body. A flashing right to the face caught Huffman coming in. Another right almost knocked him over, but he clutched at Carpentier to save himself. Both landed to the head with terrific rights, but they came back smiling. Huffman sent Carpenteir half way across the ring with a right to the head. Another right to the ead staggered Carpentier just before the bell.

ROUND TEN

Huffman poured both fists at Carpentier's body at close range. Huffman tore in, landing to the head and body without an exchange. They lashed at each other openly, landing damaging blows, with honors even. They both missed right leads.

Fight drew.

ERROR BY LEE UPSETS STARS

present from Umpire Phyle. Griffin and Boone walked to open the inning and Jones sacrificed them along. Murphy singled infield to Gooch, but Griffin and Boone did not advance. McDowell hit to Fullerton who threw to Peters, forcing Griffin at the plate. Had Fullerton showed a little pepper getting his throw to the plate Peters might have had a chance for a double-play. Then Slade hit to Gooch who tagged Murphy, but for some unknown reason, threw to first, Slade beating the throw there. Umpire Phyle probably figured that Gooch didn't tag Murphy because he threw to first, but it looked as if he did to everyone else in the park. After some wrangling, play begun and Fullerton struck out Cole to end the inning.

Hillis, batting for Lee, started the Hollywood ninth with a double to right and Singleton was sent in to run for the crippled pinch-hitter. Peters popped to Slade and Shellenback, batting for Fullerton, was thrown out by Slade. Vitt batted for Zoellers and drew a walk. Cole then wild-pitched the runners to second and third. A hit would have tied the count, but Gooch was retired on strikes so that ended that. Score:

ALMGREN FAILS TO INVESTIGATE

sistence, will appoint some sleuth to investigate the fight and perhaps something terrible will be discovered. Capt. Seth Strelinger, head of the commission, personally investigated the scrap some time ago and fined Johnson for fouling Fuente.

Other business transacted at yesterday's meeting included the permanent barring of Fred Winsor, former manager of Jack Dempsey, Tony Fuente, Fred Fulton and others. Winsor got into trouble in a northern bout and will do his managing in other States from now on.

Although Jack Johnson was not officially refused admission to California rings by the commission, it is believed that the ex-heavyweight champion will not be permitted to box in California again. Louis Almgren of San Diego raised objection to Johnson's ever appearing in local rings and it is believed that his objection will be sustained.

ROSENBERG FINISHES UP, EBBER IN FIFTH

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

TORONTO, May 21.—Charlie "Phil" Rosenberg, world's bantamweight title-holder, knocked out Bobby Ebber, the champion of the dominion, tonight in the fifth frame of a ten-round bout. Rosenberg weighed 126 pounds and Ebber 121½. Both men were over the bantam limit and the world's title was not at stake.

HUDKINS SCENTS VICTORY

Three times is a charm for Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska wildcat. At least Hudkins is predicting that he will decisively defeat Tommy O'Brien Wednesday night at the Olympic Auditorium when they face each other for the third time.

"I know O'Brien's style from start to finish," declared the wildcat yesterday, "and this time I will beat him beyond question. I believe I was entitled to the decision in our last fight and if it wasn't for the referee calling a foul at Ascot last summer I would have defeated him then knockdowns or not."

Hudkins is well aware that he must win over O'Brien in order to save his face when he goes East in June to box Ruby Goldstein. He cannot very well be billed as the Coast's leading contender for the lightweight championship if O'Brien defeats him again.

LEGION POST IN DEFENSE OF COMRADE

Chinese Threatened If Harm Befalls Veteran After Death Hints

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CALEXICO, May 21.—Following a well-confirmed report here today that Chinese gunmen have been brought in to kill Charles Seetoo, veteran of the World War, members of Calexico Post of the American Legion today issued a warning to prominent Chinese merchants in this city that they will be held to answer if their comrade is harmed.

Seetoo, who is Chinese interpreter at the United States Immigration office here appealed to members of the post at their meeting last night for protection. He charged that three tongs with local headquarters in Mexicali had held special meetings to plot his death, and that American peace officers had failed to assure him of protection. Seetoo named several prominent Calexico and Mexicali Chinese merchants as instigators of the death plot. American Legion members, who investigated the story today, learned that feeling among the local Chinese toward Seetoo is very bitter. They accuse him of having used his official position to obtain money from them unlawfully.

Commander Walter Cockley of local Legion post, following the investigation, declared that the veterans have no desire to meddle in the private feuds of Chinese, but that these troubles must be settled in court and not with guns in a dark alley.

Seetoo denied that he has taken advantage of his countrymen. "I am not afraid of being shot," he said, "or I wouldn't have entered the army during the war, but since I am an American citizen I feel that I am entitled to the protection of American laws."

He charged that Justice of the Peace Markey of Calexico has refused to place two of his enemies, who he said had threatened his life, under peace bond. Markey was called upon by the post to explain his action. He denied the accusations of the Chinese.

Seetoo has been warned not to enter Mexico, and the ex-service men here have asked the officers to give him special police protection.

Woman Dies Instantly and Grandson Not Expected to Survive in Street Tragedy

Mrs. Lena Danielson, 68 years of age, of 457 North Hicks street, was instantly killed and her grandson, Alfred Danielson, 6, was injured and is not expected to live, when they were struck down by a hit-and-run motorist late last night at Hicks street and Brooklyn avenue.

The little boy was rushed to the Receiving Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a fractured skull and a broken leg. Little hope is held for his recovery.

A description of the machine that struck the woman and child was given to the police by spectators and a large detail of officers was assigned immediately to patrol the eastern side of the city in search of the car and its driver.

CHILDREN'S HALL TO BE IMPROVED

Supervisors Include Fund in Budget to Remedy Conditions at Home

The Board of Supervisors has been planning for a long time to improve the Juvenile Hall, which the grand jury condemned in a report issued Thursday, Chairman McClellan said yesterday.

"In the budget we are now preparing there will be an appropriation of $200,000 for building alterations and other construction," Chairman McClellan said. "We have given the situation at Juvenile Hall our attention and are preparing to remedy conditions there, which are no more satisfactory to us than to the grand jury.

"We do not feel justified, however, in changing the location of the hall. By the nature of the institution, it is necessary that it be at some point convenient to the courthouse, for both the children who are kept there and the attaches frequently are called upon to attend court."

CHILDREN OF PETTINGELL CUT IN WILL

Son and Daughter by First Marriage Left $1 Each; Widow Gets Estate

Frank Hervey Pettingell, late president of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, cut off with $1 each his two children by his first marriage, it was revealed yesterday when his will was filed for probate. He left the rest of his estate to his widow, Medora Anna Pettingell.

The estate was valued at more than $10,000, and it was declared to produce a revenue of less than $1000 per year. The son and daughter mentioned in the will are Frank Hervey Pettingell, Jr., and Mary Agnes Pettingell, both of New York.

FRANC SHOWS FURTHER GAIN

Bank of France Regents Ask That Bickering Stop

Government With Backing of Whole People Demanded

Accord Reached on Methods of Improving Situation

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS]

PARIS, May 21.—In the forty-eight hours which have elapsed since the government's intention was announced of taking stern measures to prevent further depreciation of the French exchange unit, the franc has shown an improvement of nearly 5 points to the dollar and 28 points to the pound. When the Bourse opened this morning the franc was quoted at 33.25 to the dollar and 161.75 to the pound, and after the closing of the Bourse tonight, the quotations were 30.80 to the dollar and 150 to the pound.

It was affirmed by the Ministry of Finance tonight that the Morgan loan, floated in March, 1924, has not been touched in an effort to aid the franc, but that the franc's recovery is due primarily to buying in New York and was entirely independent of the measures to which the government proposed to resort to protect French exchange.

DIFFICULTIES HINTED

These measures were the subject of earnest discussion between the government and the regents of the Bank of France today and there were indications that some difficulty might be encountered, for the regents hesitated about pledging any part of the bank's gold, until, they explained, guarantees were given that factional, partisan quarrels in Parliament were eliminated and a government formed that would command the confidence of the whole people.

But after another conference tonight between Premier Briand, M. Robineau, governor of the bank; Finance Minister Peret, and the regents, it was announced by M. Peret that an accord had been arrived at.

DIFFICULTIES IRONED OUT

"There was a discussion of the means to be employed for the reestablishment of the franc. All the difficulties have now been smoothed out. Today's rise in the franc was due to the normal play of exchange operations. We had come to the extreme limit of exchange extensions, which was purely artificial and did not correspond to our real situation. Today's developments were all the more appreciable because the government's means of action were still intact and the improvement was produced without our having to ask foreign aid. We firmly hope to see the movement accentuated. If there are firm decisions and continuity of action, the franc will be saved."

The measures which were discussed today are understood to tend toward operations whereby a considerable part of French paper money abroad, which has been used in various offensives against the franc, would be repatriated, the Bank of France furnishing the guarantee, backed by 1,000,000,000 francs of its gold reserve.

Speeches in Traeger's behalf were made by Edwin A. Meserve, local attorney; Dr. George Finley Bovard, president-emeritus of the University of Southern California; Harry Arnold, president of the Cinema Mercantile Company; Judge White and Samuel Hirsch. Joyce Hawley se Baña en una Bañera Llena de Champaña

NUEVA YORK, Mayo 21.—Hoy se ha hecho constar en autos, en la vista de la causa del empresarieo de teatro Earl Carroll, procesado por perjurio, el testimonio de que Joyce Hawley, actriz de vaudeville, se metió en una bañera llena de champaña, de la que bebieron los invitados a una tertulia dada por Earl Carroll.

A Carroll se le acusa de haber negado que se sirviera licor, al declarar ante un gran jurado que instruyó el sumario de la "Tertulia de la Bañera," celebrada en la escena del teatro de Carroll.

Irwin declaró que él había tomado dos tragos de champaña de la bañera antes de que la señorita Hawley se metiera en ella. En su declaración de ayer nombró entre los invitados a varios significados personajes, y cuando se suspendió la vista por el día de ayer, acababa de declarar que había visto a alguna persona en la bañera.

Manifestó hoy en la barra de los testigos que el mismo Carroll había invitado a sus huéspedes a que formaran fila para que la señorita Hawley les diera de beber de la bañera en que estaba metida.

Phillip A. Payne, jefe de redacción del "Daily Mirror," testificó que Carroll le había dicho que la bañera estaba llena de vino.

"No se vaya; voy a ofrecerles un número extraordinario," díjole Carroll a Payne, cuando éste se disponí a abandonar el teatro. "Voy a hacer que una muchacha se bañe en una bañera con vino."

"Diga usted lo que quiera," le respondió Carroll.

La bañera se hallaba en el centro del escenario. Una muchacha vestida de neligé se acercó a Carroll, que estaba al lado de la bañera. Este último quitó de los hombros de otra muchacha una capa verde y se la puso a la muchacha del neligé.

Cuando Carroll cubrió a ésta con la capa verde, el neligé abandonó el cuerpo de la joven y los circumstantes lo vieron caer al suelo. Mientras Carroll seguía cubriéndola con la capa verde, la muchacha entró en la bañera, y Carroll hizo a un lado la capa.

Los invitados formaron de uno en fondo a la derecha de la bañera, según declara Payne, y comenzaron a apurar las copas que la muchacha llenaba del líquido de la bañera.

Se Ha Encontrado una Gorra que Parece Ser la de la Señora McPherson

El primer hilo tangible, que quizá conduzca al hallazgo del cuerpo de Aimée Semple McPherson, fue hallado en el mar ayer a las 5 p.m. Un buzo sacó del fondo del agua, bajo el muelle de Lick, una gorra de baño verde, semejante a la que llevaba la evangelista cuando salió a bañarse a la playa.

Quien sacó dicha gorra fue Robert D. Hunt, instructor atlético de la Escuela Preparatoria de Venecia, que es excelente buceador. Llevaba Hunt algún tiempo de andar buceando por el sitio dicho, cuando topó con la gorra, que, según dice, se había quedado prendida, muy cerca del fondo del mar, en un pico que salía de uno de los pilotes que sostienen el muelle.

Animado por el hallazgo, Hunt siguió buceando, con la esperanza de dar con el cadáver, que muy bien podía hallarse cogido por allí entre los pilotes. La gorra fue puesta en manos de la policía de Venecia, la que inmediatamente dio pasos para ver si la madre o la secretaria de la señora McPherson podían identificarla.

La Sociedad Canadiense de Sudcalifornia dará a las 8 p.m. del próximo Jueves un baile y tertulia, además de una recepción y reunión de canadienses, ingleses y australianos. Este será el cuarto sarao organizado por dicha sociedad, la que ha escogido para ese fin el gran salón de baile de South Grand avenue, número 1024, pues no tendrían suficiente capacidad para la gran afluencia que se espera los salones en que se dieron las anteriores reuniones. El local elegido esta vez da cabida a 1200 persons. A la tertulia anterior concurrieron 817.

STATUS OF WOOL MART UNCHANGED

Turn for Better Hoped for When Cloth Mills Resume Buying

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, May 21.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

Wool moves with extreme moderation in the eastern seaboard markets and not much faster in the west. Prices in both sections show little actual change, although it must be said that it is still a buyers' market. The trade, however, hopes that the policy of delayed buying on the part of the clothing manufacurers will presently give way to a bigger volume of business in goods and, with the mills lightly stocked with wool, the reflection in the raw materials would be rather speedy.

The English situation is still affected by the strike and mills have been forced to go on shorter time. The continent keeps fairly well employed, however. It will be interesting to watch the course of prices at the resumption of the London sales June 1. The Australian season closed in Sydney with prices firm on indifferent offerings.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1926, to May 20, 1926, inclusive, were 79,994,000 pounds against 61,104,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1926, to May 20, 1926, inclusive, were 155,193,357 pounds against 119,460,200 pounds for the same period last year.

Siberian Dogs Don't Bark

The Siberian sledge dogs, which are reported to be very efficient in spite of the fact that many of them are on the verge of starvation from time to time, do not bark as do domesticated dogs. They have a manner of howling something akin to the wolf. In the summer time they subsist on frozen fish, but in winter they are hard put to it to get enough to eat.

Game Birds Now Raised

Members of the Holly Island Club, near Wachapreague, Va., are rearing game birds with considerable success. Expert game keepers are in charge of the work on an island several miles out in the ocean. It is proposed to release these birds on the island, which is ten miles long, and eventually to build up a good hunting preserve.

THE INVESTOR

Lifting of Receivership on St. Paul Not in Immediate Prospect—Many Legal Steps Still to Be Taken—Interstate Commerce Commission Must Approve New Securities.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Although the Federal Court has ordered the sale of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company under foreclosure proceedings, it will probably be several months before the receivership can be lifted. Several legal steps must yet be taken, and these usually require considerable time.

Actual disposition of the properties may not take place until well on into the summer. After this and other minor details have been completed, an application will have to be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to issue the proposed new securities. The commission is not likely to approve the issuance of such stocks and bonds until it has completed its present investigation into the cause of the bankruptcy.

The way, however, appears to be fairly clear, and, with the approval of a majority of the security holders assured and foreclosure proceedings well under way, it would seem that reorganization managers have removed the greatest obstacles to complete reorganization.

It might be well to state here that the price paid for the properties at their coming sale will have no effect on the workability of the reorganization plan. It is also almost out of the question to expect anybody besides the holders of the mortgages to make a bid for the property. This, for the reason that an outsider would be obliged to assume the obligations of the company at their face value.

Under the reorganization plan, which now appears to be final, the following securities remain undisturbed: Milwaukee and Northern first 4½s of 1934 and the consolidated 4½s of 1934; Chicago, Milwaukee and Gary first 5s of 1948; Chicago and Missouri River Division 5s of 1926; Bellingham Bay and British Columbia 5s of 1932; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul general mortgage 3½s, 4s, 4½s and 5s of 1989 and the ten-year 6s of 1934 and all equipment trusts and assumed bonds of the Chicago, Terre Haute and Southeastern.

The following securities are to be exchanged for 20 per cent in 5 per cent mortgage bonds of 1975 and 80 per cent in 5 per cent convertible adjustment mortgage bonds in addition to a cash adjustment of interest: Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul general and refunding 4½s, 5s and 6s of 2014; European loan 4s of 1925; convertible 4½s of 1932; gold 4s of 1925; debenture 4s of 1934 and the Puget Sound 4s of 1949.

Holders of preferred stock, upon payment of $28 a share, will receive one share of new 5 per cent noncumulative participating preferred and $24 par value of new fifty-year 5 per cent mortgage gold bonds. Common stockholders, upon payment of $32 a share, will receive one share of new common and $28 par value of new fifty-year bonds. Inasmuch as the current market value of these new bonds is about 80, the net cash assessment on the preferred stock is $8.80 and on the common, $9.60.

Net earnings in 1925 amounted to $18,170,000, which, after all fixed interest requirements, was equal under the proposed reorganization to 2.02 per cent earned on the adjustment mortgage 5 per cent bonds. Net earnings for the first three months of this year were $3,227,000, compared with $3,211,000 in the corresponding period of 1925.

There are two pending developments which, if they become realities, will help the St. Paul to make a better showing in earnings. One is the Gooding bill, which would reduce the interest rate on money owed the government, and the other the proposed 5 per cent increase in freight rates for the western railroads.

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

Another wildcat well for the Camarillo district is to be put down as soon as roads can be built and a derrick erected, it was officially reported yesterday by the Standard Oil Company. The new wildcat will be located about two miles east and little north of the city of Camarillo on the Camarillo Rancho. The Standard has leased approximately 2000 acres in this area, most of this acreage being land held by Adolfo and Juan Camarillo, descendants of the original Spanish grantees, who at one time owned the entire Camarillo region.

The particular area where the Standard is preparing to drill is generally regarded by geologists of other companies to be about as poor a prospect as any locality in the State. The United States geological maps of the region show it to be very largely basaltic, and a well drilled by the Conejo Oil Company, about two miles south of the Standard's location, is said to have entered basalt immediately under the alluvial surface deposits. Igneous formations outcrop on the surface in the immediate neighborhood of the new well, and in general geologists are wondering what the Standard has up its sleeve in prospecting this territory. A further confusing element in the situation is that one of the geologists who made the government map of this area, is now one of the Standard's highest geological authorities.

Nevertheless, in spite of the general wonderment at the Standard's activity, the oil industry will watch developments on the Camarillo Rancho with more than ordinary interest. The proceeding on the part of a small company would be regarded as rank foolishness but when committed by the Standard assumes an altogether different aspect. Two or three geologists have promised to drink all the oil the Standard gets at Camarillo, but then several geologists promised to do the same thing at Inglewood which has produced enough oil to satisfy the thirst of all the geologists that the world will ever see.

Well Shows Wet

The Superior Oil Company, which recently took over the Russell Petroleum Corporation's holdings on the Joughin Ranch four and one-half miles due north of Chatsworth, has found water in the well on drilling out the cement plug, according to scouts' reports. Bottom of the well is at 4171 feet, where nearly 200 feet of oil-bearing sand and shale is said to have been penetrated.

Whether the water is coming from behind the shoe because of a faulty water shut-off, or whether the casing was damaged in drilling out the cement, which filled the lower 900 feet of the hole is a matter yet to be determined. The cement stood for several months before the Superior took over the project and drilled it out, and there is considered to be a good chance that the pipe may have sprung a leak during the process.

Five Near Completion

Five additional wells in the Los Cerritos area, now drilling to the McKeon sand, are slated for completion during the next few days. These are the Julian Fee No. 1, Thirty-sixth street, east of American; Robertson, No. 5; Walter P. Temple, No. 2, both on Linden avenue; the Gem, No. 2, on Cameron Place and the Sharp & Redick on Pine avenue. The Julian Fee was drilling through today and is expected to run a liner and tubing soon. The Temple is expected to drill out within the next two or three days, field reports show.

Winwell Loses Pipe

The Winwell Oil Company, which has been trying to get a decisive test of its 5500-foot hole in the Lawndale district for more than a year, has again run into bad luck, according to field reports. The crew was held up with a long fishing job, and had about finished running in a new string of pipe to the bottom, when something slipped, and the entire 5500 feet of pipe dropped ten feet. The accident may delay the tests indefinitely, according to scouts.

The Winwell project has had encouraging showings, according to observers who have been watching the well closely, and actually has made some oil of good gravity.

Off Production

George W. Johnson, who has quite a string of wells in the Long Beach field and a promising wildcat at Manhattan Beach, is trying to put his famous Los Cerritos No. 4-A back on production in the northwest extension of the Signal Hill field. This well was one of the first wells in the new extension to blow out, and spouted mud for several days, finally junking the original hole. It was killed and the derrick skidded a few feet, and a new well drilled, which came in at about 200 barrels a day in the shallow zone. The well sanded up early in the week, and is now being cleaned out. It may be drilled to the deep zone.

Start Two Wells

The York & Smullin Drilling Company is starting two new wells in the North Whittier district, just south of the acreage which is being developed by the South Slope Oil Company, according to scouts. This company has acquired two acres from Blakeborough & Simmons, adjoining the South Slope's Childs lease. It is wildcat territory.

Is Good Gas Well

Depletion of the gas pressure in the Los Cerritos area at Long Beach is the direct cause of the cessation of flow in almost all the wells in that field, but that there is still a good gas supply in the field is shown by the performance of A. J. Delaney's No. 30 well which continues to flow more than 1,000,000 cubic feet of high-grade gas a day, less than two months after completion. The well made almost 3,000,000 cubic feet a day when it first went on production.

Market Lacks Definite Trend Pending Further Crop Developments

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 21.—The cotton market had the same characteristics today as recently with narrow trading and equally narrow fluctuations. It still has no decided trend but continues largely a waiting market pending further developments on the start of the new crop and the acreage.

The season is still two to three weeks late on the average throughout the belt. Further good rains in the Atlantic States, of one to two inches in the Carolinas and Georgia overnight will be very beneficial to the crop throughout that section, as the soil had been needing such moisture for some time. On the other hand there was little further rainfall in the Central or Western States where there had been too much lately.

This better outlook for the crop held further new buying of any importance by either local trade interests or outsiders in check today despite the much better feeling now prevailing in the financial district over the general business situation and the stock market. At the same time it must be said there was no further important liquidation or southern hedge selling. Between these two hesitating influences the actual amount of business transacted during the day was small and the fluctuations at the end of the session were insignificant.

There was an early decline of 2 to 3 points from yesterday's close July selling at 18.23c; October 17.51c; December 17.44c; January 17.36 and March 17.44c. By early in the afternoon the market had worked back to 2 and 3 points over yesterday's closing quotations for the active trading months with July selling around 18.29c; October 17.57c; December 17 1-2c; January 17 3-8c and March 17.50c.

WOOL TRADE LIGHT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

BOSTON, May 21.—There is a quiet movement of small quantities of the medium grades of territory wool on the Boston market. Top makers have booked orders on ⅝ and ½ blood top, and as a result they have been buying wools a little more actively during the last day or two. Mill buyers have been sizing up offerings and making low offers but they do not appear to have taken any sizeable quantities of wool. Fine and half blood grade have had only a listed call.

WALL STREET PARAGRAPHS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, May 21.—An entirely different atmosphere pervaded trading circles today, and the result was a much improved sentiment and a better class of buying. If the Hudson Motors incident was unfortunate it was effective, nevertheless, in revealing very clearly the heavily oversold position of the motor group, and its thoroughly liquidated condition. Stocks moved higher as a general rule during the greater part of the session under the leadership of the motors and the rails. Numerous of the specialties were in good demand at sharp advances and there were indications in some sections of the list, the pool operations were being renewed.

The day's developments as a whole were quite satisfactory in their bearing on the market. The views of the leaders in the steel industry were uniformly pleasant, motor statistics, notably the Willys-Overland earnings statement, failed to fit in with recent pessimistic utterances and news affecting the rails was fully up to expectations.

Higher Money Brings Realizing

The run up in call money to 4 1-2 per cent from the renewal figure of 3 3-4 per cent, acted as a damper on the advance in stock prices in the afternoon. Although no apprehension was entertained relative to the outlook for easy money over a long period, the temporary hardening of the rate and the approach of the week-end brought considerable profit-taking by traders. This was especially true in the case of some of the specialties that had been taken up quite sharply earlier in the day. While the high prices of the session were in most instances shaded, the major portion of the improvement in prices was kept intact.

Hudson Extends Recovery

Hudson Motors extended its recovery materially as covering by shorts went ahead, and once again the stock held the bulk of speculative attention. Curious as it may seem, little more was heard of yesterday's unfortunate occurrence in connection with the dividend announcement by the company. It was but another instance in which the oft-remarked short memory of Wall street was emphasized. The retreat of shorts was accelerated in some measure by realization of the fact that the new shares to be issued as a stock dividend will participate in the cash payments at the increased rate. The stock dividend of 20 per cent will be paid to shareholders of record on June 10, whereas the quarterly cash dividend at the increased rate of 87½ cents a share will be paid to stock of record June 15. The acknowledged policy of the board to pay further stock dividends in the future was an added factor behind the retreat of the bears.

Covering in General Motors

General Motors was responsible to a persistent demand from the large short account in that issue which appeared fully aware of the probable consequences which would be involved in overstaying its position in the stock. On Monday that stock will sell ex the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 and the extra dividend of $4 a share. Naturally there was little disposition to be short of the stock at the time of the closing of the books of record. The bear element realized that it had only today and tomorrow to cover its lines in the regular way. Short stock can be covered on Monday, but only for cash. The fact that many of the traders who had sold the stock in recent periods of decline were not of a mind to be taxed for the amount of the dividends to be deducted at the beginning of the new week was clearly evident from the manner in which covering went ahead throughout the day. Willys-Overland, of course, was stimulated by the appearance of a satisfactory earnings statement.

Rails Make Good Progress

One of the most encouraging developments of the day was the appearance of renewed good buying in the railroad list, which was reflected especially among the better-grade carriers. Gains of 1 to more than 2 points were scored by such representative rails as Atchison, New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, Union Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific, while a few transactions carried Central of New Jersey up 10 points. Fresh demand for the rails was attributed in a large measure to the signing by the President of the bill eliminating the present labor board. Much of it, however, was put down to the expectation that April operating statements would be equally as satisfactory as those for March, and to the growing belief that some of the Northwestern roads will be favored in the matter of increased rates.

RUBBER MARKET

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Conditions throughout the crude rubber market today continued to be quiet with no important movements whatever in evidence. Cables from London showed a similar steadiness in the market at that center, quoting spot sheets at 23¼d. Trading was of small volume reflecting an unsteady undertone during the day.

Cleveland Firm Also Buys Electric Property

Another California power company will be added to the superpower system of the North American Company should the Railroad Commission of California grant the request of the Great Western Power Company for permission to purchase all of the outstanding capital stock of the Napa Valley Electric Company. The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Company, subsidiary of North American, also purchased an electric light and power system serving certain towns in Ashtabula county, O., according to brokerage wires.

The Great Western Power Company is controlled by the Western Power Corporation, which in turn is controlled by the North American Company, a holding company with properties on the Atlantic and Pacific Coast and a great network of utilities throughout the Middlewest.

The Napa Valley Electric Company was incorporated in California September 10, 1907. It supplies gas and electricity in the Upper Napa Valley, north of San Francisco, and its lines connect with those of the Great Western Power Company. The company has an authorized capital of $200,000 of $100 par value stock, of which $59,300 is outstanding. Dividends were paid at the rate of 3 per cent in 1920, and none since.

EARNINGS SHOWN

Net earnings of the company for the year ended December 31, last, after all charges, were $5491, equivalent to $9.26 a share on the 593 shares of stock outstanding, as against $4898, or $8.26 a share, in the preceding year. On December 31, 1924, current assets were $8813 and current liabilities $19,624. The company has a bonded debt of $40,000.

The Great Western Power Company of California was incorporaetd in California November 23, 1915 to unify the Great Western Power System, and in 1919 acquired the Great Western Power Company, the City Electric Company and the Consolidated Electric Company. The company owns nearly all of the common stock and leases and operates the properties of the California Electric Generating Company and practically all of the shares of the Western Canal Company, which does a power and irrigation business employing the Feather River.

OPERATIONS WIDE

The company owns and operates a power and light business in Central California including in its territory San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley and Sacramento. In March, 1922, the company acquired all of the properties of the Universal Electric & Gas Company supplying gas and electricity in San Francisco.

Operating income of the company for the year ended December 31, last, was $4,854,996.25, as compared with $4,323,971.97 in the preceding year. Gross operating revenues in 1925 aggregated $7,631,479.11, as against $7,322,562.86 in 1924.

SPINNING OF COTTON SLACKENS IN APRIL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

Active spindle hours for April numbered 7,347,811,947, or an average of 221 hours per spindle in place compared with 9,168,305,890 or 242 per spindle in March.

DIVIDEND ON ARMOUR "A" IS DROPPED

Packing Company Gives Losses in Early Part of Year as Reason

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

CHICAGO, May 21.—Directors of Armour & Company today omitted the quarterly dividend on Class A stock, but declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 3-4 per cent on the preferred stock. The omission was attributed to losses in the early part of the present year and had been largely forecast in financial circles. The "A" stock had been on an 8 per cent annual basis since the reorganization of Armour & Company two years ago.

In explanation of the passing of the dividend, F. Edson White, president of Armour & Company, made the following statement, as reported over private wires:

"It is proper for us to pay dividends to owners of this business when we can do so without impairment of financial resources. When we inaugurated dividends on our Class A common stock our earnings as shown in our yearly financial statement were in excess of dividend requirements on both preferred and Class A common. More important than the payment of dividends on our common stock is the preservation of the company's sound financial condition and even though our current earnings may seem to justify continuation of the dividend on common stock, nevertheless the smallness of earnings during the fore part of the year and the unsettled conditions of our foreign business warrant the omission of a quarterly dividend."

COPPER OUTPUT OF WORLD UP IN APRIL

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 21.—The American Bureau of Metal Statistics estimates world production of copper in April at 140,900 short tons, compared with 138,500 tons in March and 130,000 in February. The output for the four months of 1926 is calculated at 548,000 tons.

MOTOR INDUSTRY AT TOP

BY EARLE E. CROWE

In the last few weeks the close attention the stock market has given to the motor shares is further evidence of the precedence the automobile manufacturing industry has taken over iron and steel, regarded for years as the barometer of industry. The speculators have even gone so far as to drum up quite a following for the election of General Motors as the bell wether of the flock, rather than United States Steel common.

The statistics seem to support the contentions of the motor crowd. While the industry has never issued as complete information on operations as the steel companies, the yearly report of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce gives the data to strike a comparison at least every twelve months. The report for 1925 reveals the enormous growth of the automobile industry in the last year, and shows it ranking in first place in the country's manufacturers, on the basis of recent estimates.

EXCEEDS STEEL VALUE

Motor vehicles are given a wholesale value of $3,163,327,874, compared to $3,154,324,671 for steel works and rolling mills. Slaughtering and meat packing, foundry and machine shop products, and cotton goods, complete the first five.

Last year set another record in the motor industry. Nearly 20,000,000 motor vehicles, or 19,954,347, to be exact, were registered in the United States in 1925. This represented an increase of 13 per cent over 1924 in passenger cars and 12½ per cent in trucks. In the world there were 24,564,574 vehicles in 1925, of which 19 per cent were owned in foreign countries.

How the automobile companies have penetrated into every town and hamlet in the United States is shown by the figures on per-capita ownership. Last year there was one car for every 5.7 persons, which compares to one for every seven in 1924. In England there was one car for every forty-nine persons; in France, one for every fifty-four; Germany, one for every 1935 persons, and Italy, one for every 2642.

California again led the country in per-capita ownership. In this State there is one car for every 3.20 persons, compared to one for every 3.38 in 1924. Iowa had the second largest per-capita ownership, with one for every 4.08.

New York State, with 1,625,583 cars, had the largest registration, and California was second with 1,440,541.

One of the interesting features of the report by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce is the presentation of statistics showing the trend away from the cities as a result of automobile ownership. The suburban population of Boston increased from 55 per cent in 1910 to 58 per cent in 1920; Chicago, from 11 per cent to 15 per cent; Detroit, from 9 per cent to 15 per cent, and New York, from 27 per cent to 29 per cent.

SELLING LOSSES SMALL

One of the achievements of the industry is the extension of the average life of motor cars. Fifteen years ago, the average car lasted five years, and now this has been lengthened to eight years. Statistics are also given to show that the motor repair bills are decreasing. The average cost of operation in 1919 was $281, excluding depreciation and garaging. In 1925 it was $217.

As an answer to the criticisms of the installment-selling practices in the automobile industry, the record of credit losses is included in the report. Time paper outstanding on new motor vehicles totaled $972,000,000 in 1925, on which the losses were less than 1-5 of 1 per cent. On twelve months' paper, where one-third down was paid, the loss was 16 per cent; 25 per cent, sixteen to eighteen months; and 72 per cent, nineteen or more months.

Seventy-five per cent of the automobiles are purchased on the installment plan, with an average note given at time of purchase of $528 on new cars. The average note on new cars has decreased from $810 in 1920 to $528 in 1924 and 1925.

Capital invested in the American motor-vehicle manufacturing business now amounts to $1,858,028,810. Wages and salaries total $649,668,829, and 3,445,642 people are employed either directly or indirectly. There are nearly 49,000 motor-car dealers alone.

GUIDING INSURANCE BUYERS

BY GRIFFIN M. LOVELACE
Professor of Insurance, New York University

This is one of a series of articles appearing in The Times three times a week, dealing with all phases of insurance. The next article will appear on Tuesday.

XXX—SALARY CONTINUANCE

Occasionally, when the head of a family dies, his firm continues his salary for a short time—one or two months, or possibly six months, and, in rare instances, for a year. The extension of the breadwinner's salary, even for only a few months, is usually an extraordinary relief.

Wouldn't it be splendid if a firm could always continue to the widow and children for several years after the father's death the same salary which he was earning—or even a half of it—for, say, five, ten, fifteen or twenty years? This would enable the mother to keep the home going until the children were grown and educated, or, at least, until they were old enough to help with the family finances.

Practically every life insurance policy contains an income option which might be called a salary continuance plan. If the insurance is not large enough to provide a substantial life income, the principal, together with the interest earned, may be paid out in equal monthly instalments over a specified period of years. The technical name of this instalment option is limited instalments.

An excellent basis for determining the period to be selected is the ages of the children, or, rather, the number of years to run until they will be through high school or college.

PAYMENTS LARGER

Ten thousand dollars at 5 per cent interest would pay a life income of only $500 a year, of $41.66 a month, with a possible addition from interest; but as a salary continuance the same amount of insurance would pay $100 a month or more for ten years, according to the interest rate. If a man's children are 8 to 12 years old now, and, if he should die soon, this plan would provide about $100 a month until they were 18 or 22 years of age.

In certain cases it might be far better to give the mother the larger income while the children were growing up, than to give her $40 a month for life.

Frequently a young man builds up his insurance income in the following way: First, he buys a salary continuance of $100 a month for five years. As soon as he is able he adds enough insurance to extend the $100 payments over a period of ten years. Later, the period is increased to fifteen years, and finally to twenty years.

Or, depending on the ages of his children, after he has extended the $100 a month for fifteen years or twenty years, he may use additional insurance to raise the income to $125 or $150 a month for the same period.

OPTION FLEXIBLE

The next step in building up such an income program with new policies would be to add enough insurance so that the salary continuance (limited instalments) could be abandoned and the continuous instalment income adopted in its place, providing, say, $100 a month or more, for the widow's entire lifetime. The flexibility of this option is very advantageous.

Unfortunately, most persons whose insurance is limited are not aware that they may gradually develop an income plan for their families by starting with a substantial amount for a short number of years and increasing the period step by step, until the income is finally placed upon a life basis.

This method of income building takes into account the fact that, as a rule, the widow's first years will be the hardest, that she and the children may be far better served by a substantial income until the children have had time to grow up a bit, or, if possible, finish school, than by a very small income payable as long as the widow lives.

In thousands of instances, a salary continuance of $100 a month for only five years would be a wonderful help. This would require only about $5600 or $5700 of insurance.

Any regular life, endowment or term policy, whether an old or new one, may be arranged on the salary continuance plan for five, ten, fifteen or twenty years.

New Offering of Limestone Issue Scheduled Soon

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND, May 21.—As the second step in the financing of the Indiana Limestone Company, which has been organized to acquire certain of the properties of twenty-four of the leading companies engaged in the business of quarrying or milling Indiana limestone, a banking syndicate headed by Otis & Co. will offer on Monday $5,000,000 Indiana Limestone Company ten-year 7 per cent gold debentures. They will be offered at 99 and interest to yield 7.12 per cent.

The first step in the financing of the new company was the offering about two weeks ago of $15,000,000 first mortgage 6 per cent gold bonds by a syndicate headed by the Bankers' Trust Company and Otis & Co.

The debentures in the forthcoming offering will carry, it is understood, stock-purchase warrants entitling the holder to purchase common stock under certain specified conditions.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY
BY WIRELESS—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH
[Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

LONDON, May 21.—The markets were quiet here today, owing to the impending Whitsuntide holidays. The tone was quietly firm everywhere, however, with an undercurrent of optimism.

French and Belgian francs showed a further rally, while lire were also better. Sterling was dull.

There is an increasing belief that the government's course in the coal strike should now be to completely withdraw from the dispute leaving the settlement to the coal owners and the miners.

The London Times commenting upon the effects of the crisis upon industrial reputations, congratulates Lord Oxford, Lord Grey and the Liberal party on their patriotic action and then adds:

"Only Mr. Lloyd George stood apart—a wall flower ogling the reluctant partners, a would-be mediator, where there was no place for mediation, a confused prophet to foreign nations on the very climax of the conflict at home."

The markets closed firm and at their best, although they were quiet. American Tobacco was good on bonus rumors. Francs rose sharply, touching 148 to the pound sterling at one time, but closed at 150. The rise was based on various rumors of fresh support, including the use of the gold reserve and, if not already used, there has been some drawing on the Morgan credits.

Permanence of the advance does not, however, obtain much credence here pending a more definite explanation. Belgian francs rallied proportionately and Italian lira as well. Dutch exchange was also higher. A big colonial loan is expected next week.

Wheat Futures Turn Lower on Freer Selling

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CHICAGO, May 21.—May wheat reversed its action of Thursday, and after a range of 4c for the day, closed 1¼c lower at 1.63½@1.62¾, with long grain coming out freely. Opening as high as 1.64¾, it dropped to 1.60½ later, with commission houses selling May and buying July, some changing being done at 28c difference early, while at the last it was 26c. Deferred deliveries were unsettled, with a range of 1¼@1½c, and the finish was about the top, with prices unchanged to ¼c higher, with July 1.36⅛@1.36⅜ and September at 1.32⅜@1.33.

Trade in corn was extremely light, but toward the last there was short covering, and a strong rally, with the close at the top, with net gains of ⅝@1c, with May at 70 and July at 74⅛@74¼. Oats were unchanged to ¼c higher, with May 39¼ and July 40½. Rye was ⅛@⅜c higher, with May 88 and July 85¾.

General evening-up is under way in May wheat, with speculative operations the main influence. It develops that there are several liberal-sized long lines of May held here, in addition to the line said to be held for a Canadian operator, any one of which, it is claimed, is in excess of the quantity of cash wheat that can be brought here in time for delivery. In consequence of this situation a break of 2@4c in local cash premiums and of 1@3c decline in Omaha had little effect on values. At one time Kansas City May declined sharply, the break there being coincident with selling here. Buying of May was scattered.

Reports of rains in the American and Canadian Northwest had a little effect on the deferred deliveries early, but the official returns showed that the moisture was almost entirely in the way of showers, and the forecast was for fair and warmer both sides of the international line. Toward the last shorts bought July and September on reports of export sales of around 1,000,000 bushels, largely Manitobas, and on prospects that the House would pass the Haugen bill. While there seems to be little chance of the latter passing the Senate, it had a sentimental effect.

Exporters were buyers of wheat futures at Winnipeg, but that market closed ⅛@⅜c lower in the face of the export sales and talk of larger flour business, one Canadian selling 38,000 barrels overnight. Liverpool closed ⅛@⅜d lower. European crop reports were somewhat more favorable, due to a marked change in weather conditions, but Broomhall's Italian agent estimates the crop of that country at 204,000,000, or 38,000,000 bushels less than harvested last year.

There was practically no outside trade in corn early, but toward the last covering by several local shorts caused a sharp upturn, with the selling largely by another set of locals. Spot corn prices were ¼c lower to ¼c higher, with some increase in offerings to arrive from Illinois points. Weather conditions in the Central West were favorable for the new crop, and planting is nearing completion in many sections. Oats carried a range of ⅝@¾c, with a limited trade, while rye was influenced largely by the action of wheat. No export business was reported at the seaboard.

An active trade was on in lard, with a break early on realizing sales and a rally later, with speculative operators and packers buying and offerings well absorbed. Cash trade in lard was slow, but in meats good. Liverpool was unchanged to 3d lower. Hogs were in small supply, but lower at the close.

Beef Cattle of California in Demand Outside

There is considerable inquiry for beef cattle from buyers outside of the State and last week six cars of cows were shipped north and several loads of cattle will go out of the State this week, according to the California Cattlemen's Association. There is every indication that a considerable number of cattle will move out of the State this season.

The grass cattle market is now getting into swing and some buyers are making low offers down to $7 and $5 for steers and cows. In some sections these offers tend to have a demoralizing effect where producers are not fully informed, it was stated. In some cases the low offers are apparently made on the half-fat steers to replace cows, which are rather scarce.

Trading settled down last week on a general basis of $6 and $7 f.o.b. country for good cows and steers. Some good lots of exceptional quality moved at higher figures and few steers sold straight-across at 10 to 25 cents a hundredweight under the high.

BUSINESS PHILOSOPHY

BY WILLIAM FEATHER

A CYCLE revolves around production. By increasing production, the cost of living is decreased, more employment is created, and money is liberated to better the standard of living and to augment our savings.

If we do not adopt every means of increasing production, if we do not abolish waste and diminish unnecessary expenditure, we gradually impoverish ourselves as a nation.

Unless we devote more effort to the production of necessities and save more in order that more capital may be released for plants and machinery for further production, the result will be a condition tending to lower the general standard of living among wage earners.

Higher nominal wages will not prevent this condition. Real wages are determined by the amount of goods they will buy rather than the amount on the pay envelopes.

If we are determined to work hard, spend wisely, save regularly, cut down extravagance, and invest securely, shorter working hours will be possible, and wages will be really—not merely nominally—higher.

REASSURING SIGN OF TIMES

Increase In Life Insurance Sales Held as Indicating Drift of People Generally to Thrift Idea

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1926, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Money that comes easily so often goes quickly for things of no permanent value that some canny prophets have wondered whether the financial position of this country is as sound as one might judge on the basis of the prosperity of the last few years. They are fearful that the large profits of the recent past have been too freely spent for luxuries, for stocks that have since dropped and on items that will not enrich the spender except for the moment.

Evidence that a handsome proportion of our earnings have been placed where they will do permanent good, may be found on every hand to him that looks carefully, but an especially interesting sign of the times lies in the persistent growth in life insurance sales. Even more impressive than the amounts expended on a home for what it reveals of our intent to provide for the future, are the sums set aside through the purchase of life insurance.

Sales of ordinary life insurance in the United States during April exceeded all records for that month and at an estimated total of $743,635,000 were larger than for any other months in history, except March, 1926, and December, 1925. About $27,557,000 more life insurance was sold last month than for that period a year ago.

What is most significant about the increase is that every section reported growth, indicating that people everywhere are giving thought to the future. Greatly as the American people have indulged themselves in the last year or two through the purchase of luxuries they have, apparently, been putting aside something for the rainy days.

The largest sectional increase last month, interestingly enough, was reported by States that represent the agricultural regions. The list includes such States as Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah and Nevada. These States wrote 12 per cent more life insurance last month than in the corresponding month last year. Idaho itself reports a 35 per cent gain and the District of Columbia a 34 per cent gain over 1925.

When the 1925 count showed that $15,400,000,000 in life insurance was written in this country last year, the experts were impressed with the growth in the business and students of business conditions were pleasantly surprised to know what a tidy sum the investors had arranged to be paid back in future years. It now appears that another surprise may be in store for 1926.

At least we know that during the first four months life insurance sales ran $457,250,000 or 6 per cent ahead of the corresponding months of 1925.

MIXED TONE IN REPORTS ON BUSINESS

Survey Says Conditions in Retail Trade and of Crops More Favorable

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Trade, crop and industrial reports are rather varied, in that retail trade and more especially crop reports are rather more favorable than at any previous time this spring, whereas wholesale and jobbing trade are of a fill-in character, with future buying conservative in a high degree, while the industrial pace, aside from building, which notes the settlement of a number of strikes, is rather slower, due to the further slight slowing down in iron and steel operations, in automobile manufacturing, shoe output and textile production, particularly of cotton goods. Taken as a whole, the situation is about fair, with slight gains or decreases shown from this time a year ago, when, it will be recalled, business was also receding.

SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR STOCK TAKEN HERE

Due to the great number of people owning stock in the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the Bell Telephone Securities Company has made plans whereby all subscriptions for new stock or the purchase or sale of rights may be made at any local Bell System business office, if desired, according to a statement issued yesterday by Ben Wright, manager of the Southern California Telephone Company.

The directors of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company will offer to stockholders of record June 8, for subscription at par one share of additional stock for each six shares held. The amount approximates $154,000,000.

NEW INTERESTS BUY INTO MINING COMPANY

Sale of his holdings in the San Francisco Gold Mines Company to Don A. Trekell of Arizona, was announced yesterday by Clyde E. Miller, Los Angeles broker, and member of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange. Mr. Miller resigned as a director and secretary-treasurer of the company, and was succeeded by Mr. Trekell. He will continue to operate his brokerage business.

Other officers of the company remain unchanged. George R. Colton, operator of mining properties in Nevada, continues as president and J. H. Thomas as vice-president. The San Francisco company operates the King Solomon group in the Randsburg district, near Bakersfield.

NAVEL CROP MOVEMENT COMPLETED

Valencias Reported Best in Maturity on Record; Ready Consumption Met.

Navel orange sales are nearly completed and Valencias, reported to be the best in maturity ever shipped so early in any season, are going into consumption readily, according to Dana C. King, orange sales manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange.

The Valencia crop this year is estimated at 17,886 carloads. Approximately 1400 cars were moved previous to the 1st inst., or about 8 per cent of the estimated total. If exchange oranges are moved in May at the rate of 900 cars weekly, 29 per cent of the estimated crop will be out of the way by June 1, compared with 13.7 per cent in 1924, Mr. King said.

It is estimated now that if the movement continues at the rate of previous years, there will be around 700 cars left for November movement as compared with 591 cars in November of 1924.

The manner in which navel oranges moved into the hands of the trade in April brought a spectacular tone to the market, with some price advance. Heavy shipments immediately following the rains brought a lower market, but still there were returned the best prices ever obtained on this volume of fruit, according to Mr. King.

Prices Make Good Advance on Short Covering

Revival of Public Interest Also Noted

Total Turnover for Session Shows Increase

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 21.—The sustained rally in stock prices nearly a month took place with buying orders spread over fairly broad list. Short operations provided the bulk of the advance, but commission houses also reported a re- ing of public interest which not, as yet, reached extensive portions. Today's sales 1,307,400 as compared with 700 yesterday, and a daily of less than 1,000,000 earlier month.

Traders were inclined to more attention to trade ments which, in the main favorable. Operators working higher prices derived ment from the optimistic ments made by steel exec the semiannual meeting of American Iron and Steel tute, from the favorable of the first April railroad statements to make their ance and from the annou of an increase in gasoline by the Standard Oil Comp New Jersey.

The weekly mercantile reported that the volume ness was well maintained, of the unseasonable Buying for the fall however, of a hand-to- character, with a rather nounced downward trend noted in many commodity

NEW YORK BONDS

Buying Expands

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 21.—New life was injected into the bond market by favorable foreign and domestic business news encouraged all classes of issues. In view of heavy loan withdrawals by banks and stiffer call-money rates, there was a marked increase in the volume of business. The day's sales exceeded $14,000,000, the largest turnover since the flurry which followed the change in the Federal Reserve rediscount rate.

Belief that the April earnings of the railroads would extend the improvement recorded in March were responsible for a revival of interest in these issues, much of which followed the upturn in the carrier stocks. Among the strong features were Lehigh Valley 6s, which advanced 2 1-4 points; Cincinnati, Indianapolis & St. Louis 4s, which jumped 4 points, and various St. Paul, Chicago and Alton, Missouri Pacific, Southern Railway, Frisco, Cotton Belt, Lackawanna and Delaware and Louisville and Nashville issues, several of which sold at the highest price of the year.

Although the French government and the Bank of France were reported at odds over measures to stabilize the franc, the strong buying demand for the currency and a sharp rally of almost 25 points led to renewed accumulation of that country's bonds. A firm tone also developed for Belgian, Polish, German and Italian loans, but Brazilian obligations were heavy.

A strong tendency of crude and refined petroleum products attracted fresh buying to the oil bonds, with Skelly and Sinclair issues holding the leadership in that division. Union Oil of California 5s moved counter to the trend and Botany Mills 6½s encountered heavy selling pressure, dropping over 3 points to a new low.

To expedite transmission, high, low and closing prices are omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, May 21.—Speculators for the advance regained control of today's curb market, bidding up prices in all sections of the list. Trading, however, showed only a moderate gain in volume, with the public apparently reluctant to re-enter the market until the trend of prices becomes more clearly defined.

Oils were galvanized into activity by the announcement of higher gasoline prices by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Humble and Vacuum each closed a point or so higher, most of the others improving fractionally.

Some irregularity developed in the industrial list. Continental Baking A and Gillette Safety Razor each recorded extreme gains of about 3 points. Pacific Steel Boiler responded to the inauguration of dividends by advancing a point. Net gains of 1 point or more also were recorded by Canada Dry Ginger Ale, Collins and Aikman, Federal Motors, Goodyear Tire, Horn & Hardart, Pender Grocery Stores B and Stutz Motors.

Tubizee Silk jumped 24 points on odd-lot sales. Central Steel dropped nearly 4 points to within a fraction of the year's low and heaviness developed in Glen Alden Coal, Mendel Company and New Jersey Zinc. Public utilities moved within rather narrow limits, but the main trend was upward.

To expedite transmission the closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high. Sales are in hundreds.

METAL MARKETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

CLEVELAND, May 21.—Daily Metal Trade today says: Entrance of eastern blast furnaces into the beehive coke market for future supplies, is the feature of the coke trade. Some are seeking third-quarter tonnage, while others are feeling out market on fourth quarter delivery. However, the latter are not attractive to even operators who are disinclined to quote that far ahead.

Quietness in pig iron market and a continued lack of real demand are held responsible for present weakening of prices. One steel maker in the Pittsburgh district has closed on 1000 tons of basic at 18, valley, and has placed another lot elsewhere on a reciprocal basis below that figure. Bessemer iron also is easy. The Southern Pacific Railway is inquiring for 2,000,000 tie plates, but otherwise track supplies are not active.

United States of Brazil

6½% External Sinking Fund Gold Bonds of 1926

To be dated April 1, 1926 Due October 1, 1957

Part of these bonds have been withdrawn for sale simultaneously in Europe by Messrs. Mendelssohn & Co., Amsterdam, Nederlandsche Handel Maatschappij, Pierson & Co., R. Mees & Zoonen, and others.

Authorized $60,000,000 or the equivalent in sterling: to be presently issued $35,000,000. Interest payable April 1 and October 1. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $500, registerable as to principal only. Principal and interest payable in United States gold coin of the present standard of weight and fineness in New York City at the office of Dillon, Read & Co. Or, at the holder's option, in London in sterling at par of exchange at the office of Messrs. N. M. Rothschild & Sons, free of all Brazilian taxes, present or future. Non-callable except for the sinking fund. The National City Bank of New York, countersigning agent.

The total issue is redeemable by maturity through the operation of an accumulative sinking fund which will call bonds by lot, semiannually, for redemption at par and accrued interest.

The Brazilian government has agreed to make application in due course to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

These bonds will be the direct obligation of the United States of Brazil and are issued under authority of law No. 4625 of December 31, 1922, and law No. 4984 of December 31, 1925. The total issue of bonds will be specifically secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first charge on the receipts of the government from income taxes and taxes on invoices (contas assignadas duplicatas), by a charge of the consumption taxes subject to the charge of the 8% loan of 1921, and by a charge on import duties subject to the charges of the 5% sterling loans of 1898 and 1914 and the 8% loan of 1921. The total revenue derived by the government from the above sources in 1924 was $117,000,000, and in 1925 $148,373,000. After deducting the indicated prior charges upon a portion of this revenue, which amount to approximately $11,798,400 per annum, there would have remained from the above sources in 1925 the sum of $136,574,600. The service of the present issue of $35,000,000 bonds for both interest and sinking fund calls for $2,625,000 per annum.

SINKING FUND

An accumulative sinking fund of 1% per annum, payable semi-annually, will be applied to the redemption of bonds by call by lot at par and accrued interest. The sinking fund will be increased by amounts equal to interest on bonds previously redeemed. This sinking fund is calculated to retire all of the bonds of this issue by maturity.

NATIONAL DEBT

The national funded debt of Brazil on December 31, 1925, was approximately $936,000,000, of which $626,000,000 was external. This represents a per capita debt of approximately $30, as against which the per capita national wealth is estimated at approximately $530. The government has undertaken to resume in 1927 the sinking funds, on certain sterling loans, which have been in suspense under the terms of the funding agreement of 1914. The proceeds of the bonds are to be applied in reduction of treasury obligations including floating debt.

South American Securities on Market Today

Redeem Issue by Maturity Through Sinking Fund

Republic is World's Largest Producer of Coffee

An issue of $30,000,000 United States of Brazil 6½ per cent external sinking fund gold bonds of 1926, due October 1, 1957, will be offered throughout this country today by a selling group headed by Dillon, Read & Co., at 89½ and interest to yield about 7.35 per cent to maturity.

The total issue is redeemable by maturity through the operation of an accumulative sinking fund which will call bonds by lot, semi-annually, for redemption at par and accrued interest. Application will be made to list the securities on the New York Stock Exchange.

The bonds will be a direct general obligation of the United States of Brazil. They will be specifically secured by a first charge on the receipts of the government from income taxes and the taxes on invoices, by a charge on the consumption taxes subject to the charge on the 8 per cent loan of 1921, and by a charge on import duties subject to charges of the 5 per cent sterling loans of 1898 and 1914 and the 8 per cent loan of 1921.

The total revenue derived by the government from these sources in 1924 was $117,000,000, and in 1925 $148,373,000. After deducting the indicated prior charges upon a portion of this revenue, which amount to approximately $11,798,400 per annum, there would have remained from these sources in 1925 the sum of $136,574,600, according to the bankers.

With an area in excess of 3,250,000 square miles, the United States of Brazil comprises approximately half of the continent of South America and is equal in area to the Uniter States, Great Britain, Holland, Belgium, Portugal and Switzerland combined. Its fertile soil extends from the tropical to the temperate zones, and its wealth in agriculture and mineral products is correspondingly diverse.

Brazil is the largest producer in the world of coffee, and also exports cotton, sugar, cocoa, rubber and tobacco. The present population is in excess of 31,000,000, and has increased 80 per cent in the past twenty-five years.

On December 31, last, the national funded debt of Brazil was approximately $936,000,000, of which $626,000 was external. This represents a per capita debt of approximately $30, as against a per capita wealth estimated at $530.

The proceeds of the issue will be used in liquidation of treasury obligations, including floating debt.

BETTER TONE IN STOCK TRADING

tween 63 1-8 and 64 3-4 today, closing 5-8 net higher at 63 7-8. Dodge Brothers common and preferred, General Motors, Jordan, Mack Trucks, Pierce-Arrow common and preferre dand Willys-Overland all sold 1 to 3 points higher.

Strong buying support again appeared in the oil group. Atlantic Refining was bid up 2 1-2 points to a new high at 125 3-4 on a revival of rumors of its merger with Marland, but it lost most of the day's gain before the close. Associated Oil rallied 3 1-2 points to 53, closing at the top, and Pan-American "B," Standard Oil of California, and Union Oil of California each advanced about a point.

Sharp recoveries also took place in Allied Chemical, American Can, the Commercial Solvents issues, Foundation Company, General Electric, International Combustion Engineering, Mathieson Alkali, Montgomery-Ward, Remington Typewriter, Texas Gulf Sulphur, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and United Drug, all up 2 to 7 points.

There were a few soft spots. Austin Nichols and Cuba Cane Sugar preferred, each fell over two points to new low pecords for the year. Armour issues closed fractionally higher, omission of the dividend on the "A" stock being announced after the market closed.

Railroad shares were strong in anticipation of additional favorable April earnings reports. Jersey Central jumped 10 points on a few sales, each of the "Soo" issues advanced about 5 points and New York Central, Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Railway, Lackawana, Delaware and Hudson and "Nickel Plate" were among the many issues to show net advances of a point or more.

Trading in the commodity markets was quiet with price changes irregular. Active wheat futures showed only fractional changes. Cotton moved within a range of 5 to 6 points. Raw sugar was unchanged, but futures were slightly easier. Coffee prices were practically unchanged.

Call money renewed at 3 3-4 per cent but advanced to 4 and thence to 4 1-2 by the calling of over $20,000,000 in bank loans. Time money and commercial rates were unchanged.

Sharp rallies in French and Belgian francs to around the 3 1-4 cents level featured the irregular foreign exchange market. Demand sterling was slightly easier, just under 4.86.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—Yesterday's small supply was mostly the plainer grades of she stock. A few steers held over from Thursday, but these were mostly plain kinds, only odd lots moving from 5.50@6.50. Prices generally on all classes were steady at the week's advance. Odd lots of cows and heifers sold from 6.25@6.50, while the bulk, mostly grassers, went over from 4.50@6.00. Canners and cutters turned largely from 3.00@4.15. Bulls ruled firm, most bolognas turning from 4.75@5.50, the latter price taking in a part load on the yearling order, while a part load of 1371-pound beef bulls made 5.85.

CALVES—Fully steady prices cleaned up yesterday's small supply readily. Several lots of 185 to 250-pound vealers turned from 12.00@12.50. Small lots of plainer kinds sold down to 11.00, while calves, mostly common kinds and heavies, turned from 5.50@8.50.

HOGS—Approximately 1000 hogs were offered on yesterday's market, around 600 of which were held over from Thursday, arriving too late for the market. Sellers were holding the best butchers for 16.00, but buyers were reluctant to pay the price, and a slow trade resulted, with only one load being sold up to late hour. A small lot of 162-pound weights made 15.35, while a load of mixed 161-pound butchers went over for 15.25. The general run of packing sows are quotable from 10.50@11.00.

SHEEP—A fair demand cleaned up yesterday's supply at fully steady prices. Lamb offerings consisted of a deck and a half of medium 63-pound Californias at 13.75, sorted 30 per cent at 10.00. A few shorn 85-pound yearlings made 10.00, with 111-pound aged wethers at 8.00. A sizable lot of 82-pound shorn ewes scored 5.85, while 61-pound cull ewes realized 4.00. A small lot of 115-pound bucks made 5.00.

LINER TO MAKE HOLIDAY CRUISE

Junior Chamber of Commerce to Visit Ensenada

Ruth Alexander Chartered to Sail on 27th Inst.

Party of 250 to Remain Full Day in Mexico Port

The Admiral liner Ruth Alexander has been chartered to carry 250 members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Los Angeles on a three-day excursion from Los Angeles to Ensenada and back. The liner will depart Los Angeles at 10 p.m. the 27th inst., and will return the 30th inst., with stops at San Diego en route.

The trip will give the excursionists a full day in the Lower California city, where Ensenadans will hold fiesta, a bull fight and other entertainment. A special cruise to the Mexican port by a fleet of Los Angeles yachts will figure in the festivities.

It will be the largest ship in years to visit Ensenada, according to the Marine Exchange. The vessel will drop anchor considerably offshore, the passengers being transferred to land by speed boats sent from San Diego.

A project is being talked by Los Angeles promoters which, if it materializes will give Ensenada a pier to deep water, a pretentious hotel and other resort features.

The H. F. Alexander, also of the Admiral Line fleet, is due from the East Coast at 7 a.m. the 28th inst., and after disembarking 300 passengers and taking on as many more, will sail for San Francisco and Seattle at 5 p.m. the same day, on the beginning of her summer run between the Coast ports. Among the passengers making the trip from the East Coast who will disembark here are Lee Allan Phillips of the Pacific Mutual Insurance Company, Mrs. Phillips and their daughter, all of Los Angeles. Several Russians, said to have been noblemen before the rveolution, also are reported aboard.

INNOVATION TODAY IN RAIL CONNECTIONS

An innovation in rail connections with Los Angeles Harbor is the expected arrival at the port this morning of three passenger coaches direct from Salt Lake City, bearing ninety representatives of the Beneficial Life Insurance Company, en route to Honolulu. The coaches will arrive on the Continental Limited this morning from the capital of Utah, and will travel direct to Wilmington on the Union Pacific tracks. At Wilmington they will be switched to the Municipal Belt Line tracks and delivered to the Los Angeles Steamship Company's dock, whence the travelers will board the liner City of Los Angeles, sailing for the islands this noon.

The steam schooner David C. Meyer completed repairs to her hull at the Bethlehem Dry Dock yesterday and proceeded to the McCormick Lumber Company dock to discharge 1,400,000 feet aboard her. It is one of a series of repair jobs on her since she went on the rocks at Point Fermin March 9, and was pulled off three days later and towed to port by Merritt Chapman & Scott. The latter firm has had her in charge since Wiggens, Meyer & Co., her owners, abandoned her to her underwriters. After discharging her lumber, the Meyer will be towed to the salvage company's dock in West Basin where her future disposition will be decided on. It is possible her engines will be removed and sold, and the hull used for a barge.

From Vladivostok comes the Norwegian tanker Atlantic, in port for the first time yesterday, to load gasoline at the Shell dock for London. With her arrival at London she will have circumnavigated the globe, having just delivered Mediterranean kerosene at Vladivostok. The tanker was in the Siberian port almost a month discharging, which was effected through a single hose, extending almost a mile to shore and occasioning no end of trouble.

More than ninety passengers have been booked of the 125 to which the next excursion to Hawaii has been limited by the Chamber of Commerce on the liner City of Los Angeles, which sails from here June 19. The excursion will be the eighth conducted by the chamber, and as usual, will be headed by Charles P. Bayer, field secretary and excursion manager for the chamber. Gov. Harrington and representatives of the Honolulu chamber, Rotary Club, Ad Club and other civic organizations will greet the travelers, and a government aero squadron will meet the ship at sea. The tour of the islands will include visits to pineapple plantations, sugar-cane fields, lava flows, beaches and other island attractions. Time also will be afforded to establish business connections, which have during previous excursions proved big stimulus to trade with Los Angeles. Interisland trips also will be taken. The vessel will return to Los Angeles July [illegible]

Thirty-one vessels sailed from Los Angeles Harbor yesterday, equaling the second highest record this year. They included eight passenger carriers, three cargo vessels, eleven oil tankers, six lumber steamers and one schooner. Among the passenger carriers was the Panama Mail liner Colombia, in and out for Central America and New York with 100 passengers. Today will witness the arrival of the Panama-Pacific liner Manchuria from New York with 300 travelers, and the departure of the liner City of Los Angeles for Hawaii with an equal number. The German steamer Witram of the Roland Line yesterday disembarked eight passengers from San Juan de Guatemala, and discharged 4000 bunches of bananas and several hundred tons of European cargo.

Verde Island has completely disappeared and a spit about six feet above water and half a mile long has formed at the southern end of Calebra Bank, according to word from the British motorship Lochmonar, to the United States Hydrographic Office.

Too Much for the Ghost

Archbishop Thomson once spent a night in an English mansion reputed to have a haunted chamber. There being no other place to put him he was given this room. Next morning his hostess inquired anxiously if he had seen anything. "Oh, yes," said the Archbishop, "I wakened to find an old pinched-looking man in the room. I asked if he lived in the house. He nodded. Was he a parishioner, I asked. Again he nodded. Then, said I, I should like your help for our new school building fund. At that he vanished and disturbed me no more." . . . Try that on your next ghost.—[Capper's Weekly.

Town Without Debt First Time in 357 Years

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

JUAREZ (Mex.) May 21.—This old frontier town is out of debt for the first time since Father Garcia built the old mission church here in 1569 and called the settlement Paso del Norte. Mayor Almeida announced that all outstanding debts against the municipality had been paid and that the city's affairs had been placed on a cash basis for the remainder of his term. In addition to his work as Mayor, he is promoting an automobile highway from Juarez to Mexico City by way of Chihuahua and has constructed a number of roads in the Juarez Valley.

ARROWSMITH

by Sinclair Lewis

DR. MARTIN ARROWSMITH, graduate of Winnemac University and recently practicing in Wheatsylvania, the North Dakota village home of his wife's parents, is now assistant chief of the Public Health Department of Nautilus, Iowa. Martin is married to Leora Tozer Arrowsmith, once a student nurse in Zenith General Hospital, where Martin finished his medical training.

LEORA TOZER ARROWSMITH, Martin's wife, is a honey-haired princess, delightfully bizarre in dress, speech and manners. She is the daughter of the pooh-bah of Wheatsylvania—and one of the best types ever seen in modern fiction.

DR. ALMUS B. PICKERBAUGH is the chief of the Nautilus Health Department. He fancies himself a combination of Roosevelt, Longfellow and Kipling, with a dash of Dempsey thrown in. He is married; his home is called Uneedarest; and he has eight daughters: Orchid, Verbena, Daisy, Jonquil, Hibisca, Narcissa, Arbuta and Gladiola, the last two being twins. Pickerbaugh calls them the Healthette Octette; his wife's greatest regret is that they were not named after jewels.

PROF. MAX GOTTLIEB, now a shining light of the McGurk Institute of New York, a purely scientific organization maintained for research, was once Martin's instructor at Winnemac and is one of the world's wonder-workers in bacteriology.

ORCHID PICKERBAUGH is the eldest of the Pickerbaugh crop. She is nineteen and pretty, and not unsusceptible to young men—even though they are married. Leora is jealous of her.

DR. GUSTAF SONDELIUS is a soldier of science, famous not only as a physician but as a leader of men.

In early summer, two months before the outbreak of the Great War in Europe, Leora went to Wheatsylvania for a fortnight with her family. Then she spoke:

"Sandy, I'm not going to ask you any questions when I come back, but I hope you won't look as foolish as you've been looking lately. I don't think that bachelor's button, that ragweed, that lady idiot of yours is worth our quarreling. Sandy darling, I do want you to be happy, but unless I up and die on you some day, I'm not going to be hung up like an old cap. I warn you. Now about ice. I've left an order for a hundred pounds a week, and if you want to get your own dinners sometimes—"

When she had gone, nothing immediately happened, though a good deal was always about to happen. Orchid had the flapper's curiosity as to what a man was likely to do, but she was satisfied by exceedingly small thrills.

Martin swore, that morning of June, that she was a fool and a flirt, and he "hadn't the slightest intention of going near her." No! He would call on Irving Watters in the evening, or read, or have a walk with the school-clinic dentist.

But at 8:30 he was loitering toward her house.

If the elder Pickerbaughs were there—Martin could hear himself saying, "Thought I'd just drop by, Doctor, and ask you what you thought about—" Hang it! Thought about what? Pickerbaugh never thought about anything.

On the low front steps he could see Orchid. Leaning over her was a boy of 20, one Charley, a clerk.

"Hello, Father in?" he cried, with a carelessness on which he could but pride himself.

"I'm terribly sorry; he and Mama won't be back till 11. Won't you sit down and cool off a little?"

"Well—" He did sit down, firmly, and tried to make youthful conversation, while Charley produced sentiments suitable, in Charley's opinion, to the aged Dr. Arrowsmith, and Orchid made little purry interested sounds, an art in which she was very intelligent.

"Been, uh, been seeing many of the baseball games?" said Martin.

"Oh, been getting in all I can," said Charley. "How's things going at City Hall? Been nailing a lot of cases of small-pox and winkulus ginkulus and all those fancy diseases?"

"Oh, keep busy," grunted old Dr. Arrowsmith.

He could think of nothing else. He listened while Charley and Orchid giggled cryptically about things which barred him out and made him feel a hundred years old; references to Mamie and Earl, and a violent "Yeh, that's all right, but any time you see me dancing with her you just tell me about it, will yuh!" At the corner, Verbena Pickerbaugh was yelping, and observing, "Now, you quit!" to persons unknown.

"Hell! It isn't worth it! I'm going home," Martin sighed, but at the moment Charley screamed, "Well, ta, ta, be good; gotta toddle along."

"It's so nice to be with somebody that has brains and doesn't always try to flirt, like Charley," said Orchid.

He considered, "Splendid! She's going to be just a nice good girl. And I've come to my senses. We'll just have a little chat and I'll go home."

She seemed to have moved nearer. She whispered at him, "I was so lonely, especially with that horrid slangy boy, till I heard your step on the walk. I knew it the second I heard it."

He patted her hand. As his pats were becoming more ardent than might have been expected from the assistant and friend of her father, she withdrew her hand, clasped her knees, and began to chatter.

Always it had been so in the evenings when he had drifted to the porch and found her alone. She was ten times more incalculable than the most complex woman. He managed to feel guilty toward Leora without any of the reputed joys of being guilty.

While she talked he tried to discover whether she had any brains whatever. Apparently she did not have enough to attend a small midwestern denominational college. Verbena was going to college this autumn, but Orchid, she explained, thought she "ought to say home and help mama take care of the chickabiddies."

"Meaning," Martin reflected, "that she can't even pass the Mugford entrance exams!" But his opinion of her intelligence was suddenly enlarged as she whimpered, "Poor little me, prob'ly I'll always stay here in Nautilus, while you—oh, with your knowledge and your frightfully strong will-power, I know you're going to conquer the world!"

"Nonsense. I'll never conquer any world, but I do hope to pull off a few good health measures. Honestly, Orchid honey, do you think I have much will-power?"

The full moon was spacious now behind the maples. The seedy Pickerbaugh domain was enchanted; the tangled grass was a garden of roses, the ragged grape arbor a shrine to Diana, the old hammock turned to fringed cloth of silver, the bad-tempered and sputtering lawn sprinkler a fountain, and over all the world was the proper witchery of moonstruck love.

The little city, by day as noisy and busy as a pack of children, was stilled and forgotten. Rarely had Martin been inspired to perceive the magic of a perfect hour, so absorbed was he ever in irascible pondering, but now he was caught, and lifted in rapture.

He held Orchid's quiet hand—and was lonely for Leora.

The belligerent Martin who had carried off Leora had not thought about romance, because in his clumsy way he had been romantic. The Martin who, like a returned warrior scented and enfeebled, yearned toward a girl in the moonlight, now desirously lifted his face to romance and was altogether unromantic.

He felt the duty of making love. He drew her close, but when she sighed, "Oh, please, don't," there was in him no ruthlessness and no conviction with which to go on. He considered the moonlight again, but also he considered being at the office early in the morning, and he wondered if he could without detection slip out his watch and see what time it was. He managed it. He stooped to kiss her good-night, and somehow didn't quite kiss her, and found himself walking home.

As he went, he was ruthless and convinced enough regarding himself. He had never, he raged, however stumbling he might have been, expected to find himself a little pilferer of love, a peeping, creeping area-sneak, and not even successful in his sneaking, less successful than the soda clerks who swanked nightly with the virgins under the maples.

He told himself that Orchid was a young woman of no great wisdom, a sigher and drawer-out of her M's and O's, but once he was in his lonely flat he longed for her, thought of miraculous and completely idiotic ways of luring her here tonight, and went to bed yearning, "Oh, Orchid—"

Perhaps he had paid too much attention to moonlight and soft summer, for quite suddenly, one day when Orchid came swarming all over the laboratory and perched on the bench with a whisk of stockings, he stalked to her, masterfully seized her wrists, and kissed her as she deserved to be kissed.

He immediately ceased to be masterful. He was frightened. He stared at her wanly. She stared back, shocked, eyes wide, lips uncertain.

"Oh!" she profoundly said.

Then, in a tone of immense interest and some satisfaction:

"Martin—oh—my dear—do you think you ought to have done that?"

He kissed her again. She yielded and for a moment there was nothing in the universe, neither he nor she, neither laboratory nor fathers nor wives nor traditions, but only the intensity of their being together.

Suddenly she babbled, "I know there's lot of conventional people that would say we'd done wrong, and perhaps I'd have thought so, one time, but— Oh, I'm terribly glad I'm liberal! Of course, I wouldn't hurt dear Leora or do anything really wrong for the world, but isn't it wonderful that with so many bourgeois folks all around, we can rise above them and realize the call that strength makes to strength and— But I've simply got to be at the Y.W.C.A. meeting. There's a woman lawyer from New York that's going to tell us about the modern woman's career."

When she had gone Martin viewed himself as a successful lover. "I've won her," he gloated. . . . Probably never has gloating been so shakily and badly done.

The next installment of this most absorbing novel—written by the author of "Main Street" and "Babbitt"—will appear in tomorrow's Times. Watch for it.

MOTHER OF SEVEN CHILDREN

Helped in Caring for them by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Glasgow, Ky.—"I am the mother of seven children, the eldest being only 12 years, and I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped to pull me through the roughest places of my married life. At one time I was so downhearted that life was a misery. A friend in Indianapolis, Indiana, told me of the Vegetable Compound, and after taking a few bottles of it I became myself again and it was a pleasure to do my housework and gardening. Since then I always use your medicine when I feel weak from overwork and it straightens me out."—Mrs. Melissa Barnes, Route 2, care of O. F. Steenbergen, Glasgow, Ky.

New Orleans, La.—"I could not do a thing after my first boy was born. I was so weak, I had no appetite, lost weight and was not able to do my work. I was this way for seven weeks, then I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got wonderful results from it."—Mrs. C. Faurie, 4014 Dauphine St., New Orleans, La.

Red itching blisters on baby's face healed by Resinol

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 19:—"My baby had eczema for three months and nothing seemed to do him any good until I tried your products. His cheeks were red and covered with blisters, and the itching was so annoying that he could not sleep.

After reading your ad in the paper I purchased a jar of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap. Only a few applications stopped the itching entirely and within a week the redness was gone and his skin practically clear. Your ointment is really wonderful and I will praise it to everyone." NEW AD RECORD SOUGHT

Boston Mark of 30,000 Contest Replies During Week May Fall in Local Competition

What is the greatest number of advertisements one person can write in a day? The Times would like to know—would like to ascertain just how agile are the wits of its readers. And it seems that this period of The Times-Zain $10,000 Ad-Writing Contest is a good time to find out.

First, because there are 401 prizes to be distributed for advertisements received up to 6 p.m., Tuesday night. As first prize there will be $50 in cash. The remainder will be fountain pens, pencils and candy of various values.

RECORDS REMARKABLE

Second, because The Times has available the records from a score of other cities in which this same contest has been offered by various newspapers. These statistics are remarkable in some points. They point to the fact that in certain cities there is a remarkably higher standard of mentality than in others.

The Times believes that the Los

AIREDALE HIKES 2000 MILES HOME

Returns to Long Beach After Being Taken to Oklahoma

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 21.—"Mutt," a 16-months-old airedale, appeared at his former home here last night footsore and weary, after what his owner declares to be a 2000-mile hike from Oklahoma. The dog is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Kelly, 1752 Gundry avenue, this city, and about a month ago was taken to a ranch in Oklahoma by Homer Johnson, a brother of Mrs. Kelly. Securely chained in the rear seat of Mr. Johnson's automobile Mutt returned to Oklahoma with Johnson, but disappeared soon after his arrival at the Johnson ranch. Since the dog's departure for Oklahoma the Kellys moved from 1321 Lemon avenue to the Gundry-avenue address.

Last night Mr. and Mrs. Kelly drove to their old home to look the property over and there they found Mutt in the yard, gaunt and thin from lack of food and the gruelling trek to California. It is believed by Mr. Kelly that the dog traversed on foot approximately the same route he had been taken over on the trip east in an auto. The canine must have followed the Santa Fe Trail through the arid wastes of New Mexico and Arizona and the Mojave Desert, Mr. Kelly declared. Mutt was today the center of interest for dozens of persons.

Check Charges Recall Slaying of Mrs. Mors

A tiny echo of the Mrs. Theresa Mors-Kid McCoy murder sensation sounded faintly in Municipal Judge Blake's court yesterday, when Irene Evans and Wayne Stewart were held to answer on eight counts charging the passing of worthless checks. One of the checks, it developed, was cashed by Mrs. Ann Schapp, one of the persons wounded by McCoy's gun when the ex-prize-fighter ran amuck shortly after the murder of Mrs. Mors became known.

According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Thomas the checks involved as evidence were written by Stewart and cashed by Miss Evans. Howell Richardson, attorney for Stewart, vigorously protested the implication of his client, declaring nothing had been advanced to indicate who wrote the checks. Miss Evans and Stewart were each held in $1000 bail.

MRS. M'PHERSON VICTIM OF FOES, MOTHER THINKS

Blow on Head Must Have Caused Death, Mrs. Kennedy Says in Telling of Evangelist's Enemies

Aimee Semple McPherson met death as the victim of foul play rather than from accidental drowning, according to a belief expressed last night by her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy.

"A blow on the head must have caused her death," said "Mother" Kennedy.

"She was such a strong swimmer that I cannot believe she was drowned by an ordinary current or tide. The more I think of it, the more I believe she took her life in her hands when she stood on the platform at Angelus Temple and said she would rather see her daughter dead than in a Venice dance hall."

"Mother" Kennedy's declaration came at the close of another day in the unsuccessful search for the body of her daughter who mysteriously disappeared while swimming last Tuesday afternoon.

RUMORS RECALLED

It was the first time since her daughter disappeared that the mother, or, in fact, any of the disciples of the Four Square Gospel, has given credence to reports that the evangelist may not have met death from drowning. The mother's belief that foul play may be at the bottom of her daughter's disappearance recalled rumors from the underworld that "the evangelist had better move out" because of her attack on the dance halls.

"Mother" Kennedy's sensational declaration on the foul play theory was made at a time when she was struggling under a great emotional strain bordering on collapse occasioned by a report that what was thought to be her daughter's green bathing cap had been recovered by a diver.

The cap, which was recovered from the water under Lick pier by Robert D. Hunt, athletic coach for the Venice High School, was rushed to the Kennedy home adjoining Angelus Temple for identification. gelus Temple for identification Miss Emma Schaffer, the secretary, said it was not Mrs. McPherson's cap.

As the cap was brought to the house "Mother" Kennedy became more visibly affected than at any time since her daughter disappeared. After expressing the belief that foul play was at the bottom of her daughter's disappearance she said that if she had drowned, her body must have been swept under a pier where it has lodged and may never be recovered. It was with a despairing gasp that she said the latter.

When Mrs. Kennedy received word that it was time for her to go to the "crusaders" meeting of young people of the temple where she was scheduled to speak immediately after the cap episode, she was trembling and seemed hardly able to go. Turning to one of the young women who stood ready to escort her, she said, "Oh, what shall I do? What shall I do? Tell me!" She soon regained her composure somewhat and went to the temple.

During the course of her remarks on the theory of foul play, Mrs. Kennedy said that her daughter had only two enemies that she knew of. One was connected with a certain church in Los Angeles, she said. She added that it was reported to her upon what she considered very reliable authority that only last Sunday it was said in the church in question that "the skids are being put under Angelus Temple." She did not, of course, think that the church or any member of it could have had anything to do with her daughter's disappearance.

The other enemy she mentioned was, the "dance-hall people."

Dramatic scenes were witnessed in the temple as Mrs. Kennedy, laboring under the great emotional strain, addressed the 2500 young people gathered there. A young girl, at the mention of Mrs. McPherson's name, broke down and sobbed so violently she had to be escorted, half fainting, to an anteroom.

At the conclusion of her talk, Mrs. Kennedy half collapsed into a chair on the rostrum, put her handkerchief to her eyes and sobbed continually. Judge Carlos Hardy, prominent in the temple activities, stepped up on the platform and strove to comfort the weeping mother. He turned and addressed the young people in the church, told them that the way is sometimes dark and hard but that the eternal God furnishes comfort and refuge.

As he spoke, Mother Kennedy dramatically raised her right hand and a moan of grief rose from those in the church.

Following the meeting Mother Kennedy said that a telegram telling of the disappearance of his mother had been sent yesterday to Mrs. McPherson's young son, Ralph, who is on a ranch near Winters, Cal. Up to that time the tragic news had been kept from him.

Last night saw the largest crowd of persons on the beach, since the evangelist disappeared. It was estimated that at least 5000 persons were down there waiting for the body to be found. Reports of the finding of the bathing cap are thought to have taken the people down.

The police, aroused by the failure thus far to find the body of the evangelist, ordered an entire new investigation into all circumstances surrounding her disappearance.

The beach patrol of officers, civilians and members of Angelus Temple was continued throughout the night and all day yesterday.

Captain of Detectives Herman Cline, who is in charge of the entire investigation for the police, after a thorough study of all aspects of the case, stated that the outstanding fact in the case appeared to him to be the apparent conflict of testimony as to just when Mrs. McPherson first went into the water. Capt. Cline said that police have received statements from numerous eyewitnesses tending to show that the evangelist first went into the water anywhere from 1:30 p.m., to 3 p.m. In her formal statement, Miss Emma Schaffer, secretary to Mrs. McPherson, fixed the time the evangelist disappeared as about 4 p.m.

CHECK STATEMENTS

Although expressing the belief that Mrs. McPherson was drowned, Capt. Cline ordered the check on all statements made as to the times and places she was seen on the afternoon she disappeared. It may be that apparent discrepancies now existing in the various statements of eyewitnesses may be cleared up on the recheck. It was expected that the police would ask Miss Schaffer to repeat her statement, giving as accurately as she can the times of the various movements of herself and Mrs. McPherson from the time they left Los Angeles for the beach at about noon last Tuesday.

The police, as part of the new investigation, were particularly anxious to locate Eddy Barry, bell hop at the Ocean View Hotel where Mrs. McPherson and her secretary stopped and where the evangelist donned her swimming suit.

Barry, who was described as a handsome chap of the "sheik" type, is the one who purchased the container of orange juice for Miss Schaffer, who in turn was getting it at the request of her companion and employer.

According to reports given Detective Lieutenant Steckle of the Venice division, Barry suddenly left his job at the hotel on the afternoon that Mrs. McPherson disappeared. Although he left without immediate notice, it was reported he had informed his employer of his intention of leaving some time ago. The police are anxious to question him for his version of the time when Mrs. McPherson arrived at the hotel, the time he purchased the orange juice and similar matters connected with the case.

Dr. Gustave W. Haas, local physician, who at one time attended Mrs. McPherson, advanced a theory that the evangelist may have suffered a temporary mental lapse that caused her to wander off the beach. He declined to say what the nature of her ailment was when he treated her. It has been two years since he saw her,

PERSHING MAY AID PAGEANT

General to be Asked to Speak at Great Patriotic Celebration at Coliseum, July 5

Gen. John J. Pershing will be invited to deliver the address of the day at the Pageant of Liberty to be staged July 5 in the Los Angeles Coliseum, it was decided last night at a meeting of the pageant executive committee in the Council Chambers of the City Hall.

The decision to ask Pershing to be the orator of the day was made after it was said the Pageant of Liberty will be the greatest event of its kind ever held in the country.

Every detail that will assure the correct functioning of the great performance, it was revealed last night, is being worked out to avoid major mistakes. Special committees were appointed to attend to the decorating and policing of the Coliseum and plans were completed to handle a crowd of 100,000.

To the list of the many patriotic and civic organizations already cooperating to make the pageant supreme, the Knights of Columbus was added last night and representatives from that organization pledged the support of its thousands of members.

Arrangements were made for the publishing of souvenir programs of such attractiveness that they can be sent to all parts of the country. These programs will be edited and illustrated by competent experts and sold for a nominal sum.

In preparing the pageant, the committee members revealed, all the motion-picture and theatrical talent of the Southland is co-operating, assuring the best technical art in the presentation of the pageant. In this connection, plans have been completed to present many of the great scenes of American History. Washington, Lincoln, Betsy Ross and many others will be impersonated by competent actors in events that took place.

Government officials have assured the executive committee that hundreds of aliens who have applied for citizenship will be present and it was decided at the meeting last night to invite to the next meeting of the executive committee, scheduled for next Friday night in the Council Chambers, leaders of many racial groups throughout the city and county that their co-operation may be obtained.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

IT IS not so surprising—but rather terrifying . . .

FUNNY ORATORS

As a rule, whenever men and women come together at a speaking fest, the women make the best speeches.

A RARE GIFT

There are only a handful of people in the world who can really be funny. The head of the Orpheum vaudeville circuit once told me that if he had reason to believe that, buried in the Gobi Desert, there was a man who really could say funny monologues, he would send an expedition after him—no matter what the expense.

So when the gleeful toastmaster starts out to make a few cracks, he has about as much chance of being successfully funny as he would stand a chance of performing a successful operation for appendicitis without ever having seen a surgeon's knife.

GOOD GRACIOUS:

But if these oratorical triumphs unfortunately lead women into the notion of speechmaking, they too, will inevitably be led into the temptation of trying to be funny. And then we are lost, sure enough.

ROUGH ON AMERICANS

Americans come in for rough handling in the latest book written about Anatole France. It is a transcript of some of his home-and-fireside conversations during the World War.

When our army arrived in France, the old scoffer said:

"And here are the latest champions of right, justice and civilization. Nevertheless, they are queer creatures. And to think that two of the most intelligent peoples in the world, France and Germany, go on killing the flowers of their youth for such barbarians. For, make no mistake, they will be the winners. You can die laughing at them. On the one hand, the Bible, on the other a sample of cotton cloth—nasty combination of Puritanism and mercantilism."

OUR SWIFT MILLIONAIRES

Meanwhile, from another European, comes another blast against the Americans. M. Karel Capek is alarmed for fear American ideas are about to ruin the life of Europe.

He writes scornfully of an American millionaire who dictated letters to his secretary in trains; held conferences in automobiles; and held high councils of business during dinner.

"We primitive Europeans usually eat at dinner, just as we listen during the playing of music; probably we waste our time; but certainly we do not waste our life."

AMERICAN BIGNESS

Another thing of which he is scornful is our passion for bigness.

He says that the Creator did not apparently rise to the American idea; he divided Europe into small parts "so that our hearts might rejoice not in bigness but diversity."

Europe, he says, is a beautiful

"Mother" Kennedy Expresses Belief Daughter Foul Play Victim

REPORTS OF THREATS BY UNDERWORLD RECALLED

he said. Mrs. Kennedy said she did not know a Dr. Haas. Dr. Haas was credited with expressing a belief that the evangelist was wandering around in the hills, which he emphatically denied.

Actual search for the body was confined for the most part yesterday to patrol work up and down the shore from Playa Del Rey to the Santa Monica Mountains. The patrol was maintained by the police, deputy sheriffs and constables under Deputy Sheriff Hanby, and by volunteer workers from the Angelus Temple congregation. The latter have kept up a constant patrol, working in relays, with about twelve men to a shift.

Late yesterday Capt. Cline and Capt. Taylor conferred with Mrs. Kennedy on the matter of police co-operation in directing the volunteer patrol. It was planned to issue a call for volunteers from the congregation to register at the temple tomorrow between 12:30 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. for patrol work.

The volunteer patrol work will be carried on more intensively, Mrs. Kennedy said, as the calculated time in which the body ought to come to the surface, approaches. The general consensus of opinion is that seven days would probably elapse.

Active search in the water for the body was begun again at about 4 a.m. yesterday when Hunt, the diver who found what was thought might be the evangelist's bathing cap, spent more than an hour diving under Venice pier. He is an expert in that line, having recovered a number of bodies of persons drowned at the beach. The theory is that the body may have been washed southward and may have become lodged among the twisted steel and piling, wreckage from an old fire. He renewed his efforts in the afternoon at Lick pier and found the bathing cap.

CALLS KEEP POLICE BUSY

Throughout the day police of the beach cities were kept busy speeding in their cars to numerous points in response to telephone calls that a body was seen floating on the water. The authorities requested that persons first make an intelligent investigation of their own before rushing to the telephone.

At Angelus Temple scores of telegrams, letters and notes are being received from well-meaning followers offering various theories and suggestions as to where the body might be found.

A telegram was received from Evangelist G. Augustus Jones, of Battle Mountain, Nev., offering to subscribe $1000 to a $10,000 fund to be offered for the safe return of Mrs. McPherson. The offer was not accepted.

Mother Kennedy announced that a reward of $500 for the recovery of the body from the water may be offered shortly. The reward will be paid, it was reported, only for the discovery as the result of searching in the water, by boat or from the air or by diving. No reward will be paid for locating the body should it be washed ashore. The purpose of the reward will be to offer some monetary compensation for difficult work in locating the body under water.

Following a meeting of the church board last night it was announced that no action would be taken at this time in the matter of appointing a new head for the organization. This leaves Mother Kennedy, as vice-president of the Echo Park Evangelistic Association, active head of the affairs. Mrs. McPherson was president of the organization, which is the owner of the church property. Miss Schaffer, the secretary, is the secretary of the association.

Reports that the financial affairs of the church were not in good shape were denied not only by Mother Kennedy, but by Detective Lieutenant Jarvis, who is investigating the case. Jarvis said the bank with which the church transacts business reported favorably on the church's finances.

FATE STIRS INTEREST OF CANADIANS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WOODSTOCK (Ont.) May 21.—While there are now no relatives here of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson the keenest interest has been aroused throughout the entire district in every development of the case. Scores of the people in the northern district of the township of Dereham, where she lived and played as a girl, and where she had her first experiences as a platform speaker and her first training in the art which made her a brilliant preacher, remember the red-haired girl who went to the little white schoolhouse and kept her school mates in constant amusement by her inimitable powers of mimicry. In Ingersoll and the surrounding country the fate of "Little Aimee" is the one topic of conversation and every person who knew her is recalling incidents of her childhood days.

All who speak of her are agreed that even in her earliest years she showed signs of the talent which led her to adopt evangelism as her life work. At the school entertainments she always played a leading part, her recitations being features of many a program in which children vied with their mates for the plaudits of the admiring fathers and mothers. At the Ingersoll collegiate institute, where she studied while in her teens, she was a leader in the class activities, as well as being a brilliant student. She won, while a girl, several gold medals for oratory and elocution, going even beyond the confines of her native district to compete in these events.

Her father, James Kennedy, who died six years ago, was a Wesleyan Methodist of the strictest type, while her mother was a faithful adherent of the Salvation Army.

Reared in a home of Puritanical severity, Aimee had an early religious atmosphere surrounding her whole life.

After the death of her young husband in China, she returned to her home in Dereham where, amongst her friends, she sought solace for her bereavement. Those who knew her at that time speak of Mrs. McPherson as being a woman of remarkable beauty and of attractive personality. She was almost a zealot in religious matters, and even in her private conversations would blaze up like a glowing flame in her enthusiasm.

She did not rest for long, but left for New York, taking with her her mother and never returned to her girlhood home.

CLAIRE WINDSOR TO PLAY IN "TIN HATS"

Claire Windsor has been chosen for the leading feminine role in "Tin Hats," Edward Sedgwick's new story to be produced by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, according to an announcement by Irving H. Thalberg.

The story, a graphic drama of life with the American Army of Occupation in post-armistice days, will be directed by Sedgwick from his own original, and an elaborate presentation is being planned for the story.

Comb Beach and Sea for Missing Evangelist

Above, Robert D. Hunt and bathing cap he found while diving among the pilings at Lick Pier. The cap was at first believed to have been worn by Mrs. McPherson when she disappeared while swimming at the Venice beach but was later discarded as a clew to the fate of the missing evangelist when Miss Emma Schaffer, the evangelist's secretary, failed to identify it. Below, Miss Kharvina Burbek, one of Mrs. McPherson's followers, patrolling the beach. Miss Burbek has taken part in the search for the missing evangelist from airplane and horseback, financing the attempt herself, and declares she will continue until the body has been recovered.

JURIST PAYS TRIBUTE TO EVANGELIST

Judge Hardy in Radio Talk Brands Rumor of Deliberate Disappearance as False

Branding as false all rumors that Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson and deliberately disappeared or that Angelus Temple is in financial difficulties, Judge Hardy of the Superior Court last night spoke briefly over the Temple radio eulogizing the vanished evangelist and comforting her followers. Throughout his talk, Judge Hardy stood with bowed head before the microphone.

Judge Hardy declared that he and his wife had long enjoyed Mrs. McPherson's friendship and "loved her dearly," although neither he nor Mrs. Hardy are members of the evangelist's church.

"Her body lies in the great Pacific Ocean and her spirit is with God, and all other reports and rumors are false," the jurist stated. Referring to vague rumors of a deliberate disappearance, he added.

"As Christ was crucified on the cross, in like manner such rumors as these crucify her name."

Judge Hardy has often attended meetings in the Angelus Temple, according to Mother Kennedy. The last time the judge and Mrs. Hardy saw Mrs. McPherson was at a house-warming at Judge Hardy's home a week before she disappeared.

BAD CHECKS LAID TO ASYLUM ESCAPE

That he has passed bad checks amounting to $20,000 since his escape from Patton Asylum five months ago, was asserted yesterday by Capt. Peoples of the Sheriff's squad, when he received word from San Francisco that Donald Francis Gibson, 27 years of age, had been captured there. Gibson had been sent to the asylum after he was arrested on check charges. Peoples said Gibson has charges filed against him in Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside and Santa Barbara counties. He was caught, the report said, by Burns detectives.

RUM BOAT CAPTURED BY CUTTER

Crew of Two Leaps Into Sea and Escapes While Coast Guardsmen Fire

Rifle fire from a Coast Guard cutter resulted yesterday in the capture of a small fishing boat loaded with liquor off the coast at Laguna Beach, but two men who manned her jumped overboard, splashed through the surf and escaped. Several automobiles gathered along the shore were seen to speed away when the cutter opened fire.

The cutter, in command of Boatswain John De Zeeuw, saw the boat just outside the breakers, apparently loading a skiff, according to the report. When the crew fled, they were fired upon but none of the shots took effect. The fishing boat, which carried the number A-218, but no name, had thirty-five cases of liquor aboard, the report said. It was turned over to Customs Collector Schwaebe.

CANADIAN SOCIETY WILL GIVE DANCE

The Canadian Society of Southern California will give a dance and entertainment, in addition to a reception and reunion of Canadians, British and Australians, at 8 p.m. next Thursday. This will be the society's fourth dance and, because of the large attendance at previous dances, a larger dance auditorium at 1024 South Grand avenue has been obtained. The new auditorium has a capacity of 1200. The latest party was attended by 817 persons. Col. A. G. Fonseca will be master of ceremonies. Music will be furnished by the Canadian Orchestra and the Bickford Mandolin and Guitar Orchestra. Bud Gregg and Dot Chollar will give a dancing exhibition.

"Married Alive" is proving one of Fox Films snappiest productions. It is well on its way into ston, Claire Adams, Lou Tellegen and Matt Moore in the leading roles under Emmett Flynn's direction.

AGAIN HUNT GIRL MISSING TWO YEARS

City Jail Prisoner Gives Clew to Whereabouts of Probable Drug Victim

Investigation into the disappearance of Rose Mary Leath, now 18 years of age, which began two years ago, was reopened yesterday when a prisoner in the City Jail told Detective Lieutenant Allen he had seen the girl in Las Vegas, Nev., April 26, last. A telegram was dispatched to Las Vegas authorities asking that a search be made for her.

The girl lived at 242 West Eighty-seventh Place. On April 23, 1924, her mother sent her to the postoffice at Florence and Moneta avenues to mail a letter; the girl never returned. In the following September, a girl answering her description was found wandering by the roadside near Redlands Bottoms and was taken to Riverside by a passing motorist and left at a hotel. When Riverside police arrived she had disappeared. In the following November, a schoolgirl reported she had seen the missing girl at Sixth street and Broadway, in company with a woman, and said she did not respond to a greeting. It was said in both cases the girl had the appearance of having been drugged.

Yesterday Detective Lieutenant Allen was talking to Herbert Knolles, a prisoner under investigation, who in detailing his recent movements mentioned the name of the missing girl. Knolles also said she had the appearance of being drugged when he saw her. When she disappeared the girl had recently recovered from a severe operation.

FUNDAMENTALISTS BACKED

Dr. I. R. Dean of Toronto, Can., Will Preach Here Three Times Tomorrow

In the absence of universally-accepted, unassailable evidence concerning the creation of the world and the origin of man, the battle between modernism and fundamentalism goes merrily on, with shouts of victory rising first from one camp and then the other, following the visits of verbal "Big Berthas" of both factions to the local field of controversy.

Fundamentalists of Los Angeles are rejoicing in the arrival here today of Dr. I. R. Dean of Toronto, Can., whose lecture "The Bible and Science" has been given to large audiences in every State in the Union and in many foreign countries. Dr. Dean will preach three times tomorrow at the Church of the Open Door. His subjects for morning, 3 p.m. and evening are, respectively, "The Deep Things of God," "The Believer's Position, Privileges and Victory" and "Three Ways of Making God a Liar." Another vigorous opponent of "monkey business" in theology, whose antievolution addresses have caused considerable comment, is Dr. J. J. Sims, who will speak at the Memorial Baptist Church tomorrow evening on the subject "Is Modernism the Sin Against the Holy Ghost?" Dr. Sims will also preach in the morning, his subject being "Will the Lord Come in 1926?"

"WHO SPOILED EDEN?"

Mayor Landes of Seattle will be the speaker at the Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church tomorrow evening when she will discuss "A Woman's View of City Government." At the morning hour Dr. Frank Dyer, the pastor, will discuss the question "Who spoiled Eden — the serpent, the woman or old Adam?" Dr. Dyer also will voice his appreciation of the work of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson.

DR. G. A. BRIEGLEB

"The Meaning and Message of Aimee Semple McPherson's Disappearance" is the theme of a sermon to be preached by Dr. G. A. Briegleb tomorrow evening at the Westlake Presbyterian Church. Among the questions that Dr. Briegleb will discuss are the following: "Why was it that she saved others and could not save herself?" Why has her mother been so positive concerning her daughter's death by drowning? If the body is found, outght her followers to pray for her immediate resurrection?" The sermon subject for morning is "What I say unto you, I say unto all-Watch."

FINDS "MISSING LINK"

"In the evolution of religious organizations, the church brotherhood is the finally-discovered 'Missing link' between men and the church," declared Dr. Frank Dyer, i nan address given at the Y. M. C. A. last Thursday before the Church Brotherhood Club. "Brotherhood is the noblest word ever used to define the ideal relationship between men, and worthy of all good things is he who devotes his life to the furtherance of this fraternal spirit among men and nations." The speaker at the club next Thursday at noon will be Dr. George Phillips of Oakland.

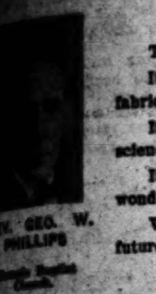
Go To Church Sunday

Why You Should Go to Church

By Rev. Geo. W. Phillips—Temple Baptist Church



REV. GEO. W. PHILLIPS
Temple Baptist Church.

There is hardly a sin that blemishes our National Life today but may be traced to neglect of the church.

It is the church that gives Divine Coherency to the whole fabric of moral law. Do you wonder that that fabric is today so badly frayed?

It is the church which creates and sustains the supreme safeguards of conscience. Do you wonder that conscience is today losing its stern imperiousness and that men are merely doing what they want to?

It is the church that lights the star of immortality on the darkening horizon of our mortal night. Do you wonder that with the paling of that star of hope the National soul is becoming a thing so grossly earthbound?

When the church crumbles, mortality crumbles, the home crumbles, youth crumbles, society crumbles, the future crumbles, the nation crumbles.

WHY GO TO CHURCH?

CAN'T BE WORSE

Let's keep close tab and see if we have fewer hit-and-run motorists now that we have more hit-and-get-run-in motorists.

GETS SINGED

The head of a theological seminary says that the church no longer burns its heretics; it fires them. Yep, and there is also a scorching arraignment before the firing.

LIVING QUESTIONS

Hank Ford says that making a living is the smallest task we have. Keeping alive is more of a problem when the highways are jammed with his giddy runabouts. That is the big trick.

POPULAR AUTHORS

There are a lot of different ways of breaking into literature, but the surest seems to be to become a world's champion pugilist or golfer or tennis player or pole-vaulter or pitcher or aviator or explorer or something.

ALL LAWBREAKERS

No doubt we break more laws today than our grandfathers did. But, then, they had a better chance. There weren't one-twentieth as many things forbidden then. The high ambition of the legislators seems to be to make lawbreakers of us all.

ANOTHER CRIME

Now the Chinamen are accused of diluting their firecrackers. They are mixing a lot of sand with the gunpowder. This lessens the explosion, but makes possible the blowing of fine particles of sand into the eyes of the beholder and thereby adding to the terror of the Fourth of July. If our fireworks are to be debased, what have we to live for?

HAD SOME BANANAS

The Nebraska girl who was said to have lived upon a diet of bananas says that it is all a mistake. It was only four years. But during those forty-eight months she took virtually no nourishment but this tropical fruit and she kept in flesh and fettle all the time. During the period that all America was singing about the scarcity of bananas this girl was taking nothing else. It never feazed her.

AMONG THE GOVERNORS

The Governors of the various States will have their annual conference in the city of Cheyenne during the last week of July. The round-up is in Wyoming because that State has a lady Governor—the first of her species. Cheyenne used to savor of the Wild West, but now it is the trysting place of the brightest political minds of the nation. Cheyenne is on the map in larger letters—thanks to Nellie Ross.

ROADS BY THE LIVING

Here is another substantial way of doing good to one's fellow-man. At the age of 88 Alexander Cameron, a wealthy bachelor of Fort Madison, Iowa, has given $250,000 of his fortune to the building of substantial roads in his county. The money is at the disposal of the Board of Supervisors, but may only be used for the creation of enduring highways that might not otherwise be obtained. In these days good roads appear to be more important than anything else and this living Iowan is building himself a long and substantial monument.

THE PLAYGROUND

Union carpenters are trying to get their foot in the door of Los Angeles, but are not making progress. They have their delegates driving around from job to job in fancy cars. They cannot guarantee jobs or promise work, but they can collect dues from the members. These "walking" delegates, who ride around in costly cars, spend two or three hours at each petty job. It looks as if it would keep them pleasantly occupied for the next 1000 years. The union carpenters who are able to find work are paying the bills. The bosses are enjoying themselves in our wholesome climate at their expense.

THE MEANEST MAN

Another discovery of the meanest man on earth is reported. He is now under arrest in Chicago for stealing a blind man's concertina. The instrument was making life possible for the sightless one. He played it on a certain street corner and the pennies he gathered supplied his livelihood. But while he rested this wastrel robbed him of his beloved concertina and took it to a pawnshop. The thief was traced and found, but when brought into court claimed that the instrument was his own. But he could not describe some of the peculiarities of the concertina, neither could he play it successfully. But when the blind man got his fingers upon it the instrument seemed to sing for joy. There was no doubt about the ownership and the judge fixed the bail of the robber at $10,000, just to show how mean he looked to the man on the bench.

CENTRALIZED POWER

No concession to the flabby theory of State rights as paramount to Federal authority is made by President Coolidge when he urges that there be less centralization of power at Washington and that the States shoulder more of the responsibility of local rule. The President says it must be recognized that the national administration is not and cannot be adjusted to the needs of local government, for the reason that Washington is too far away to be informed of local needs, too inaccessible to be responsive to local conditions.

Of late years there has been seemingly a concerted effort on the part of our Congressmen and the members of the bureaus, whose wings the President would be glad to see clipped, to impose more and more national authority upon the States. We have seen the bad effect of this in the nullifying of the California State quarantine of insect pests and plant diseases. Of course, it is not reasonable to suppose that if the Federal government takes the power of quarantine out of the hands of the State officials, who have so ably conducted it for many years, that it will permit our farms and orchards to go unprotected, but there is a well-warranted suspicion that Federal officials will not serve in the same highly efficient manner that has characterized the work of the California board, and our farmers and orchardists are by no means willing that the experiment should be tried at their expense.

"The States should not be induced by coercion or favor," said the President in his Williamsburg address, "to surrender the management of their own affairs. The Federal government ought to resist the tendency to be loaded up with duties which the States should perform." And he goes on to say, quite reasonably, that "it does not follow that because something ought to be done the national government ought to do it. But, on the other hand, when the great body of public opinion of the nation requires action the States ought to understand that unless they are responsive to such sentiment the national authority will be compelled to intervene."

This spikes the guns of the old radical States' rights doctrinaires, but what more effectively spikes them is the President's statement that "the doctrine of State rights is not a privilege to continue in wrong-doing, but a privilege to be free from interference in well-doing." This precisely fits the case of the quarantine matter just cited.

What the President said about the necessity for Federal intervention where a State is not responsive to the great body of public opinion has been exemplified in very few cases in California, as this State has moved along on the great wave of modern thought and has stood in little need of correction in the manner implied by the President. In the case of our efforts to secure Chinese exclusion and the limitation of privileges which other States readily conceded to orientals California has been able to argue its opponents out of court in a peaceable manner, and Federal intervention has been wholly unnecessary. In fact, instead of such intervention, we ultimately have had only acquiescence.

It is true, as the President says, that if our country is to meet the requirements of justice and progress and enjoy the blessings of an enlightened humanity it is going to be necessary for each community to shoulder its responsibilities. He is right also in saying: "I want to see the policy adopted by the States of discharging their public functions so faithfully that, instead of an extension on the part of the Federal government, there can be a contraction."

Against such sentiments there can be no cavil save by the hidebound old radicals who are so imbued with the idea of State sovereignty as to justify any State in defying the national government in cases where a purely local condition out of all harmony with the great body of national public opinion has arisen and the State pursues a course unauthorized by the Constitution or in contravention of the sentiments of the majority. In opposing the idea of the inordinate centralization of power at Washington the President will have the hearty support of all discerning people.

A BRITISH PROPHECY

Attacking the problems of British overpopulation and unemployment on what he evidently considers the lines of least resistance, Col. T. F. C. Fuller, an English war veteran, is out with a brochure in which he says that the solution of these difficulties lies in making and using plenty of roadless vehicles of the caterpillar or semicaterpillar type.

"As the war was won so largely by the tank," says Col. Fuller, "so must the peace which has followed it be largely won by the caterpillar tractor or roadless vehicle. . . . Either we of England must stop breeding or we must create new home industries and so absorb our surplus population or we must transport it to less-thickly populated areas overseas." The colonel rules birth control out of the discussion, though he thinks it might be made "compulsory among politicians," who, he is sure, never will solve England's great problems, as they do not work in their shirtsleeves. "Cutting and doling can be done by any fool with his coat on," opines the colonel, "but the problem which faces us demands that we take our coats off and get to work."

Quicker and more ample transportation is the solution, according to this theorist, and the sooner it is provided the sooner the great open spaces of the world will be settled and developed. New communities cannot afford to tax themselves to build roads, but they would not have to do so if roadless vehicles were used. Col. Fuller prophesies that this will be done. "Without considering our immense colonial possessions," he says, "the potential wealth of the dominions alone should eventually be sufficient to support 100,000,000 if not 200,000,000 Englishmen."

The idea is to ship the unemployed out of the country, provide them with what land they need and with roadless vehicles to transport themselves and their crops from place to place in the new countries. In the opinion of this antidole economist, if the "underdogs" could be trained to win a great war they could be taught to support themselves if they had opportunity and elbow room, and roadless vehicles will be the greatest factor in their salvation from the degredation of the dole. He predicts that this will be done when the politicians become tired of dallying with the problem and get down to business.

Roadless vehicle speed of ten or twelve miles an hour hardly would suit modern Americans, but perhaps the British, with their slower notions, would be content with it. Far less money would be spent on concrete and macadam, and thus the total cost per ton mile would be greatly decreased. Eventually, of course, when the new population became richer, roads would be built. The people would then look back at "the roadless era" as we look back to that of the covered wagon.

This latter idea gives rise to the speculation: How much more rapid would have been the development of California if, instead of poking along at fifteen to eighteen miles a day, our pioneers could have used roadless motor vehicles that in the same time would have carried them 100 miles?

TO SQUELCH SWINDLERS

If Secretary Mellon's estimate is correct, and there is no good reason to doubt it, over $500,000,000 a year is filched from small investors by stock swindlers. The Secretary says that the State laws against the sale of fraudulent securities are far from adequate and that they should be supplemented by Federal legislation, especially where the swindlers conduct interstate agencies.

About the only way in which the United States government is operating to suppress these frauds is denying them the use of the mails and prosecuting them where they have used the mails in their nefarious games. This means of breaking up stock swindling, however, has been slow and unsatisfactory. Sharp stock swindlers have circumvented the law in this respect and continue to do so.

If information concerning fake stocks should be handed to the Department of Justice and it should order their sales to cease on threat of criminal prosecution, as recommended by Secretary Mellon, this procedure would prove very disconcerting to the dealers in securities that do not secure. There are a few States that have laws authorizing their Attorneys-General to proceed in this way, and if all States had such laws there would be no need of the passage of a national act such as is proposed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The standardization of the statutes of all States, so urgently recommended by the American Law Institute, would be a great aid to justice in this and many other ways. It also would tend to localize rather than centralize authority over matters which some States now loosely relegate to the Federal government, a practice strongly decried by President Coolidge.

POLAR PASTIMES

Peary, Byrd and Ellsworth placed American flags at the pole and the colors of Norway and Italy were added when the Norge sailed over the top of the world. If all the expeditions are lavish with their flags the apex of our earth will presently carry a carnival aspect. The polar region will look like a street fair. The next convention of the explorers and adventurers of the universe will be held in a massive igloo to be built over the polar spot. By that time the rubber-tracked railroad will be running and folks will be able to make the Arctic peak in through Pullmans. The pole itself may be used for a mooring mast for dirigibles and the ice will be planed off to serve as a landing place for aerial taxis. It may be necessary to station traffic cops at the pole to keep the explorers moving and prevent them from getting interlocked. Within a few moons the polar country will be advertised as a summer resort for pessimistic Floridans, anxious to cool off.

WHO'S AFRAID?

Union printers were largely to blame for the general strike in England. Some of them took affront at the tone of an anti-strike editorial in one of the London dailies and walked out without warning. In a few hours the general strike was on. For several days virtually no newspapers were printed save a condensed official publication under the auspices of the government.

Once more the newspapers are appearing in their customary form, but all the strikers do not get their former jobs. It is understood that the Glasgow publications now operate under the open-shop plan, which would mean that members of the union lose their places. Glasgow has always been a union stronghold. In London the unionists who return to work on the newspapers are suffered to do so upon their giving substantial assurance never again to make any attempt to question or dictate the policy of the publication. The editors may say what they think about the unions without the hazard of reprisal. The general strike alienated the sympathy of the great mass of Britons for the workers.

The people had real feeling for the fate of the miners, but when the unions made general cause against the government the reaction was instant and decisive. If the unions do not come around to a square deal in the matter of delivering a day's work they will find themselves thoroughly discredited and no longer feared.

OUT AND IN

By James J. Montague.

I read with delight of the fighter who said
  That his lofty ambition he'd smother
And give up the glorious life he had led
  Because of his gentle old mother.
It grieved him to think, as he landed a swing
  On another pug's osseous dome,
Of the grief that such pugnacious conduct would bring
  To the kindly old lady at home.

"After all," I observed, "though their necks may be rough
  And their faces unlovely to see,
These fighters have filial feelings enough
  To appeal to the soft spot on me.
It is something to leave a profession where cash
  Was dealt them in generous ladles,
And let their bright futures go rushing to smash
  For the hands that once rocked their young cradles."

But now I've been told that this gallant young knight
  Has resumed his discarded ambition,
And has made up his mind he will go back and fight
  As long as he stays in condition.
He loves his old mother—no doubt about that,
  As he did in the good days of yore—
But earning a living is dreadfully flat,
  And work is a terrible bore.

And so the old lady must needs dry her tears,
  When the joy of her bosom comes in
With a couple of bleeding and raggedy ears,
  And a dent on the point of his chin.
And perhaps she'll forgive him, although her old eyes
  With pity and sorrow are blinded—
For as mothers grow older they sometimes grow wise,
  And even extremely broad-minded!

PROPOSING WOMEN

BY THE SUBURBANITE

Woman should have the right to choose her mate and propose, Dr. Eva Reid told the California Federation of Women's Clubs.

That seems to be a recognized fact. Anyhow, woman has been taking that right for several generations. She may have made the man speak the actual words of proposal, but fully half the time when the girl informs the man that he has proposed and been accepted it is news to him. The dear ladies pull the strings so that in most cases mere man is a mere mannikin. The frequency of his visits and the whole manner of his courtship are governed by the so-called weaker vessel. The opening bars of the general run of engagements go something like this:

She: You don't care a thing about me, do you?

He: Why—er—why, yes. Of course I do.

She: How much?

He (mentally:) By George, this sweet little thing is in love with me. I suppose I must have given her some reason—I'd be an awful cad to let her down now. (Orally:) Why, why I care for you tremendously—dear.

(One hour elapses.)

She: And so you really, truly love me more than tongue can tell?

He: Why, dear, haven't I assured you of that, over and over?

She: Ye-es. But you — you haven't asked me definitely to set the date.

He (startled:) The date. Oh, yes, yes, I understand. Why, er, just suit yourself about that, dear.

If Dr. Reid has done much observing of her girl friends—and, of course, she has, to speak with such authority on the proposal question—she must know that that is the way a high percentage of the marriages are arranged. Under the present system the woman may not have the right to propose, but she has the established right to make the man propose, and so long as there is gallantry in the world the man has no established right to decline.

It rarely falls in the province of this department to give advice to matrimonially inclined young ladies. But Dr. Reid's words fill us with alarm for the dear things. We'd like to warn them to have a care how they tamper with the old, reliable system which has kept the men proposing—on demand—all these centuries. If they try to modify it gallantry is sure to go by the board, and men will develop the habit of rejection. And then there won't be half as many marriages as there are.

The Eighteenth Amendment

CLEVELAND (O.) May 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The Eighteenth Amendment is saving America (in cash expenditures and increased efficiency) from $6,000,000,000 to $8,000,000,000 a year and diverting them into Fords, gasoline, rubber tires, radios, plate glass, leather, steel and homes.

You could no more divert these six to eight billions from legitimate industry into beer and wine without economic disaster than you could divert the Gulf Stream without affecting the climate of England. It's beer money that's buying Fords. It's beer money that is operating them.

You have heard some querulous testimony from old folks with sluggish bowels and some damning figures from prospective saloon-keepers. You have listened to some earnest labor leaders representing the views of only a noisy minority. Most of the unions are as conservative as bankers. You have seen painted the pastoral peace of the French peasant and his wine, the German and his beer, the Briton and his ale. This whole Freudian suggestion would have moved Houdini. But all Europe is unwashed and on foot. There are only seven plumbers in France and one Ford to a township.

The Eighteenth Amendment has put the workers of America on a higher living plane than the world has ever known. Conversation to the contrary is mere mental manipulation. What the big mongrel cities think is one thing. What American America thinks is another. HAYWARD KENDALL.

Mocker's Medley

MINNEAPOLIS, May 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The mocking bird is a true mocker of all birds.

Blended in with his imitation of the cardinal and canary sometimes is the raucous call of the catbird or the shrill cry of the bluejay, but this only speaks of his perfection as a mocking bird.

From these calls he swings off into the merriest tunes of a medley that is so filled with music that my poor pen cannot do him justice.

His medley alone is an education in bird song—let those whose delicate nerves are so shattered by the mocking birds of our warmer climes seek the shores of our northernmost countries, but even then I presume their slumbers would be disturbed more so by cold feet, so what's the use trying to please such impossible people? BESSIE JANE PALMER.

Nerve Control Needed

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Recently in attending the "P.-T." (Parent-Teachers') meeting one could not help becoming bewildered with the variety of subjects discussed; in fact, there were papers on almost every subject connected with motherhood, childhood, duties of parents and teachers and housekeeping.

All sorts of advice upon these subjects were given, but with very little idea of how to become efficient in any of these things. The spirit of "nervousness" pervaded the atmosphere and it came to my mind that this was the main trouble with the child's education and bringing up at the present time.

The "nervous" mother is relieved when she starts her little one off to school, often considering her duties over regarding his conduct and progress in learning. While the teacher may do her part, she cannot be successful unless the parents co-operate with her.

Instead of parents shifting their responsibility upon the teacher, and she in return reproaching the parents, why not unite to work together?

How easy to excuse ourselves by saying we are so "nervous" instead of using self-control!

With the ability to control our "nerves" comes energy to do our work well, and with attention and effort, as well as knowledge, we will be more efficient parents and teachers.

JOURNALISM NOT DECLINING

It is fashionable for lamenters to assert that the day of personal journalism has passed. The most recent ululation arises from the throat of President Nicholas Murray Butler. Prexy Butler said that years ago the editorial policy represented the personal opinion of a man, and today a vigorous editorial rarely is found. Our considerable harking back to the good old days of Dana and Greeley, but their editorials, vigorous though some of them undoubtedly were, were not more vigorous than many of the editorials written by unknown writers today. The old editorials often were personal in the nettiest way; and much of the news was shamefully colored by the editor's opinions and desires. News today is more impersonal than it was in the days President Butler speaks of; editorials, the country over, are at least as vigorous; and it seems to us that there is five times as much opinion—critical, political, and interpretative of news—as there was forty years ago.—[F. P. A. in New York World.

Promise or Threat

"You can't always tell," said Hardboyld, "when people are threatening you, even when you hear what they say."

"How come you can't?"

"Yes."

"Well, when he said that, I thought he was promising me something. But after I heard her I found out it had been a threat."—[Farm Life.

VERDICT ON INSURANCE POLICY WON

Woman Granted $6132 on Burglary Coverage by Aetna Company

Mrs. Laura F. Peroti won a verdict of $6132 yesterday in Judge Wood's court in a suit against the Aetna Casualty and Insurance Company to recover on a burglary insurance policy which was said to protect jewelry and bric-a-brac valued at $21,700 which were stolen from Mrs. Peroti's residence about two years ago.

Attorneys for the company stated an appeal will be taken. The company questioned the value of the articles and contended Mrs. Peroti had not offered sufficient proof of theft, as required by the terms of the policy.

The jewels and articles were said to have been left Mrs. Peroti by her mother, who was declared to have disappeared when Mrs. Peroti was a child. A statement introduced in evidence at the trial recited Mrs. Peroti had been reared as a daughter by the late Raffaele Massilioti, following the asserted disappearance of her mother.

CLUB TO HONOR PRESIDENT

NAVY PAYS RESPECT TO GERMAN SHIP

Admiral Robison Greets Commanders of Hamburg; Teutons Like Southland

For the first time in fourteen years an admiral of the United States Navy trod the deck of a German man-of-war. Admiral Robison, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, officially paid the respects of the service of which he is the supreme chief at sea as he stepped aboard the German light cruiser Hamburg and returned the salute of Capt. Otto Groos, commanding.

Admiral Robison was accompanied by Rear-Admiral Bostwick, his chief of staff, and by Lieutenant-Commander Deyo, his aide and flag lieutenant. There followed in the aftercabin of the Hamburg an informal conference between Admiral Robison and his staff officers and Capt. Groos and his executive officer, Commander Densch.

Capt. Groos yesterday declared that he, his ship's company, and the 100 midshipmen are enjoying the Southern California visit beyond all expectations.

"The friendly spirit of everyone for us has touched me deeply," he said. "I feel that Southern California is the most beautiful part of the world we have visited, and I have been greatly impressed by the spirit of industry."

Capt. Groos and his officers yesterday were the guests of honor at a tea-dansant at Fort MacArthur, tendered them by Maj. Chambers, commandant, and the officers of the post. Approximately 100 guests, including officers of the battle fleet and their wives, were present.

The Hamburg, resuming her midshipmen's training cruise around the world, will sail from this port next Saturday for the Orient, via San Francisco and Honolulu.

MURDER OF BUILDER IS SUSPECTED

Body Taken from Ocean 12th Inst. Identified as That of Santa Ana Man

Belief that Ole Ohr, 60 years of age, a contractor of Santa Ana, was murdered, started an investigation yesterday by Sheriff Jernigan and other Orange county authorities. Ohr's body was found floating in the ocean off San Martel Rock near San Juan Capistrano the 12th inst., was taken to San Pedro by its finder and there identified yesterday by Mrs. Estella Wilson of Santa Ana, Ohr's landlady.

An autopsy disclosed an ugly wound on Ohr's head and showed he had apparently died from concussion of the brain, it was said. There was no water in his lungs, indicating he had been thrown into the sea after his death. The body was unclothed.

Ohr, it was said at Santa Ana, has been missing mysteriously since the 9th inst. Mrs. Wilson's identification was positive, according to Deputy Sheriff McClellan of Orange county, despite the fact that F. Veatch, former employee of Ohr, who also saw the corpse, said he did not believe it was Ohr's.

The body has been held at the Palm & McLinn undertaking rooms at San Pedro since it was found and taken to Los Angeles Harbor. The head wound appears to have been made by a bludgeon of some sort, it was declared.

REPAIRING OF VENICE FOOTBRIDGES ASKED

A request that footbridges across the canals in the northern and central districts in Venice be repaired and opened was received from the Federation of Venice Civic Associations yesterday by the Council and referred to the City Engineer and the Tunnels, Bridges and Viaducts Committee. The statement was made that the City Engineer closed the bridges four months ago for repairs, which have not been made, resulting in great inconvenience to the populace accustomed to use them.

MYSTERY NOTE HINTS DEATH

Letter From Missing Local Druggist Sent Here by Chief of Police of Bay City

The mystery of the disappearance of Howard C. Hopkins, 39 years of age, druggist, living at 1471 West Fifty-first street, was thrown into deeper shadow yesterday when Chief of Police O'Brien of San Francisco telephoned to Assistant Captain of Detectives Bean, head of the homicide squad, a letter received by him.

The letter was addressed to Hopkins's wife in care of Chief O'Brien, the message said. The letter purports to be from Hopkins, declared he is dying at the time of writing, and that he was the victim of an accident after he had sought to commit suicide and lost his nerve.

Police are disinclined to believe that Hopkins is dead in the manner indicated by the letter. The communication follows:

"My Dear Minett: This is good-by, my precious. May the dear Lord bless you, honey. I do not seem to have much luck with life, somehow. Maybe my soul will be quiet where I am going, if I have one. I wonder. My dear, I did get up nerve to kill myself, but at the last moment it failed me.

"Providence or chance was kind. It was taken from my hands. I am dying. This will be sent you by one who sees me go. After, I will be incinerated.

"He is going to Canada where he belongs. He is afraid of the police, but it was an accident."

Mrs. Hopkins, it is said, is expected to become a mother shortly. Hopkins was reported to have disappeared last Monday. He drove his wife and 7-year-old daughter to Eighth and Broadway, where he left them while they went shopping. He was not seen again, it was said. He was driving a Dodge sedan, F92-700.

DEPLORES GAMBLING WITH LIFE

Safety Director Declares Majority of Auto Deaths Due to Taking Chances

Taking a chance on driving a car across a railway intersection before an oncoming locomotive gets there is gambling, with the stakes the saving of a few seconds' time on one side, and the driver's life on the other, declared Marcus A. Dow of New York, director of the Stewart-Warner Automobile Safety Council, in an address at the Rotary Club luncheon at the Biltmore yesterday.

Mr. Dow, whose subject was highway safety, pointed out that the majority of the 21,000 automobile deaths in this country last year were to be attributed to the gambling spirit which causes human beings to take long chances with their lives as the stake.

To check the mortality resulting from accidents, the speaker urged a continuance of the "safety first" campaign, which he says has been carried on in this country for fifteen years.

Mr. Dow expressed his approval of the pedestrian control system in vogue in Los Angeles. "What I have just said about the possibility of educating the public in safety is exemplified by your experience here since pedestrian control was introduced," he commented.

Mr. Dow said there are two kinds of jay-walkers, the pedestrian who seeks to cross a street at an intersection without regard for signals, and the one who crosses a street in the middle of the block.

"The second form is by far the more dangerous," he said. A survey recently made by the bureau of public safety of the New York police department revealed that during a given period the number of pedestrians killed while crossing in the middle of the block was greater by 75 per cent than the number run down at intersections."

DINNER FOR CHAPTER TO END RITES

Banquet Tonight Closes Installation Ceremonies of Kappa Alpha

As the final event on the program for the installation of a new chapter of the Kappa Alpha order at the University of Southern California, more than 300 alumni and active members of Kappa Alpha will attend a banquet tonight at the Biltmore.

H. J. Mikell of Atlanta, Ga., who installed the new chapter last night at the Hollywood Masonic Temple, will be the main speaker tonight. Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president of the University of Southern California; J. W. S. Butler of Sacramento; Harold J. Stonier, executive secretary at U.S.C.; Charles Paddock and Everette Mattoon, county counselor, also will speak.

Thirty-one active and fifty alumni members of the Phi Alpha fraternity at U.S.C. were initiated into the Kappa Alpha order last evening at the Hollywood Masonic Temple.

CASTING AGENCIES CITED

Three Film Job Bureaus Ordered to Cease Deducting Commissions From Wages of Extras

Three motion-picture casting offices, furnishing extra help to independent producers and deducting their commissions from the employed person's wages, yesterday were notified to discontinue such practices on an order from Walter G. Mathewson, State Commissioner of Labor.

Commissioner Mathewson based his action on an opinion handed down by Atty.-Gen Webb which ruled the commission method of operation a violation of the Private Employment Agency Act.

In the future, the labor commissioner's notification stated, the three casting bureaus must operate as all other employment agencies, charging a stipulated fee before employing a person, or else after they have been employed.

The bureaus receiving warnings from the commissioner were the F. K. Studio Service Agency; the Fred Foreman Company Agency and the Players' Studio Service Agency. All are in Hollywood.

According to the Labor Bureau here, the casting offices would give an extra a voucher on employing him which would stipulate the salary he was to receive for the day's work. When the hired extra had finished, his voucher was cashed by the casting bureau, which would then deduct its commission. The Attorney-General's ruling precludes the use of the voucher.

Suspect Gives Alibi on Stand in Wife's Death

Charles Sieber, accused of the murder of his wime Anna, took the stand yesterday before Judge Hahn and offered an alibi as his defense.

He declared he was working all day as a city bricklayer the day of the murder and gave a complete resume of what he said were his movements. He also denied making any admissions whatever to his cell mate, who testified for the prosecution. Sieber will continue his testimony Monday.

He was preceded on the stand by several character witnesses, including Miles S. Gregory, former Councilman.

Home Speaks in Sheriff Race at Old Schoolhouse

Last night he returned to the schoolhouse to speak before the Northwest Improvement Association in the interest of his candidacy at the primaries, August 31. Clarence W. Horn, president of the improvement association, presided at the meeting.

SPRING FESTIVAL TODAY

The fourth spring music festival of the Los Angeles elementary schools will be given at the Philharmonic Auditorium at 2:30 p.m. today. The program will consist of a prologue, a rainbow pageant with birds, flowers, dancers and spring songs, a closing ensemble of 300 voices, and a camp-fire scene, with Campfire Girls, Boy Scouts and hikers.

PERJURY IN RUM CASE ASSERTED

Defendant Held Pending Investigation and Witness Released on Honor

A perjury investigation grew out of the trial of Dave Lawson and Mary Lugo on charges of transporting liquor, in Municipal Judge Turney's court yesterday. Mrs. Lydia La Selle, said to be the mother of Bobby La Selle, pugilist, contradicted testimony of officers by saying she was at the Lugo home, with both defendants present, when liquor was delivered at the house.

Deputy City Prosecutor Thoms communicated with the manager of a laundry where Mrs. La Selle is employed, and reported the time card showed she was at work at the time. Mrs. La Selle explained by saying she had been frightened and confused, and Judge Turney intimated he believed she had been influenced into giving her testimony.

The defendants were fined $500 each on the liquor charge. Judge Turney ordered Mary Lugo to be held pending a perjury investigation, and Mrs. La Selle was released on her own recognizance.

Indians Victors in Palm Springs Lease Contest

Armed with the white man's own weapons, Ramon Manuel, chief of the Agua Caliente tribe of Mission Indians, has defeated another Caucasian advance, this one having threatened to encroach on the Indians's valuable hot springs in the Palm Springs district where thousands of seekers annually seek to regain their lost health.

When real estate promoters sought to induce the Indians to part with their reservation property under a ninety-nine-year lease, Manuel appealed to Charles H. Burke, Federal Indian Commissioner at Washington, and yesterday won his contest.

In a telegram to U. S. Atty. S. W. McNabb, Commissioner Burke advised:

WIDOWS CELEBRATE

The Widows' Protective League celebrated its first anniversary Thursday evening with a picnic at Plummer Park. Mrs. Lillian Pascal Day of Los Angeles Council, Mrs. Martha See of Santa Monica Council and Mrs. Nellie B. Van Slingerland were speakers.

LANDLADY'S VISIT BASIS OF DIVORCE

Woman Gives Testimony Tending to Aid Husband's Charge of Infidelity

A search by a landlady for a burning hot water heater uncovered an asserted clandestine relationship of Mrs. Alvid Bogard with another man, it was disclosed yesterday in Judge Keeler's court, where Elmer S. Bogard is seeking a divorce.

"Hot water was coming out of the cold-water pipes," said Mrs. Christine Mendolm, the landlady, "so I started out to find out which of the tenants had left the heater burning."

"I knocked on the door to Mrs. Bogard's apartment and received no response, so I walked in, thinking that was where the heater was going. When I got in the room I saw Mrs. Bogard with another man."

Bogard asserted that shortly after his marriage to Mrs. Bogard he was informed she was receiving male callers while he was away at work.

Mrs. Bogard, who is expected to tell her side of the story when the case is resumed, denied her husband's charges and filed a cross-complaint in which she charged desertion, failure to provide and cruelty. She listed community property she valued at $10,500.

Called Wife Dumbbell but Never a Rat

Randolph Ormsby Bellsmith admitted that he called his wife a "dumbbell" and a "lemon," but he never called her a "rat," he protested.

"She certainly got me in plenty of trouble," Bellsmith observed in explanation of his admissions.

It happened in Judge Summerfield's court, where Mrs. Josephine Bellsmith's application for alimony pending trial of her suit for divorce was heard yesterday. In her complaint she charged various cruelties, asserting that her husband had caused her great anguish by calling her "dumbell," "lemon" and "rat."

"Yes, I did call her a 'dumbbell' and a 'lemon'," Bellsmith frankly declared. "And with plenty of reason. Judge, she went to one of the neighbor women and accused her of having an affair with me. That was just a woman wrangle, but this other woman's husband got wind of it and came around and threatened to lick me."

Judge Summerfield cut the argument short with the observation that he was not interested in the merits of the Bellsmiths' recriminations, and allowed Mrs. Bellsmith $12 a week pending trial.

"BUTTER-AND-EGG MEN" BRING BELLHOP WOE

Two "big butter-and-egg men from San Francisco" turned out to be Police Officers Vignett and Geyer when Raymond Cole, a bellboy at the California Hotel, brought them a quart of gin. Municipal Judge Edmonds was told yesterday. He was given the alternative of $150 fine or thirty days. The officers said their disguises also netted them seven arrests on gambling charges.

According to a report to the Sheriff's office, Brooks, alone in his car, attempted to pass a truck driven by H. L. Harline, from the rear. His car struck the rear of the truck and swerved off, colliding with a closed car coming from the opposite direction and driven by Joe Ryan of Santa Ana.

ARREST OF MAN RESULT OF WARNING

Store Manager Causes Seizure of Customer on Bad-Check Charge

The use of a multigraphed "danger bulletin," broadcast daily to all its branch places of business by the Safeway Stores, Inc., yesterday resulted in the arrest of Eddie Weingarten, alias A. Kaufman, on a charge of issuing worthless checks.

When Weingarten entered the Safeway Stores branch at Pico street and Central avenue and attempted to cash a check for $27 signed by "A. Kaufman," the manager of the store, who recalled seeing the Kaufman name a few minutes earlier on the daily bulletin, telephoned the police. Detective Lieutenants Farstedt and Henry and Officer Schumaker, all of the Newton-street station, responded and placed Weingarten under arrest.

In Weingarten's pocket the police stated they found another check for $10 also signed by A. Kaufman. Weingarten declared he found the checks.

PARAMOUNT PICKS BLOND BEAUTY

Esther Ralston to Be Glorified in Ziegfeld Spectacle; Reginald Denny to Tour All Big Cities In United States and Canada

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

IT DOES seem as if Paramount has been having an awful time making up its mind which American actress to glorify in "Glorifying the American Girl." But they have decided at last, and there is no doubt now but that that charming actress, Esther Ralston, will be the glorified.

ESTHER RALSTON

Lois Moran was reported formerly as the proud exponent of the role, but Paramount decided that they needed her in another production, and that Miss Ralston, having already gained a great deal of glory in "An American Venus," should be the one to trail the clouds of glory in the Ziegfeld production.

As you already know, Buster Collier is to be the dazzled hero in the picture, and Edward Sutherland will direct. Also you have not to be reminded that Florenz Ziegfeld, father of the Follies, so to speak, is to supervise the production, which is to be made in New York, and is to exercise his practiced eye in choosing the feminine loveliness therefor. Indeed, some of his own beauties, who appeared in the last Follies show, will appear in the picture.

In the meantime, there is a big doubt as to whether Ricardo Cortez will play the lead in "The Great Gatsby." It is not at all certain, declare Paramount officials, that he is the right type for the picture.

REGINALD DENNY TO BROADCAST SMILE

Fans throughout the country who are devoted to Reginald Denny—and who, I ask, is not?—are not to be compelled to share their thirst for a sight of his famous smile at the mere film fountain. They are to have a peek at him in the actual flesh and blood. It is quite likely that a tour will extend to the bigger cities of Canada.

REGINALD DENNY

Reginald Denny will leave Hollywood on Wednesday to make a personal appearance in each one of the larger cities of the United States, according to word received yesterday from Universal City, where Denny is under contract.

Henry MacRae, head of Universal, when questioned about the matter, didn't hesitate to admit that it was in response to heavy demand from fans and exhibitors from all over the country that the star was being sent on the trip.

The trip will occupy something like a month or six weeks, and from every large city word is received of preparations being made to welcome the player.

Jack Mulhall is Lonely

It is hard to believe that anybody in New York could be lonely, but when Jack Mulhall wired to his wife here from that busy center that he was lonely, there was nothing for her to do but believe him. Indeed he went on to prove it by insisting that she come East.

JACK MULHALL

The reason Mrs. Mulhall did not accompany her husband in the first place, when he went down to New Orleans, Dallas and other points south on his personal appearance tour, was because Jack is building a handsome new home in Beverly Hills, and naturally she wished to remain and see that the builders put all the rooms in the right places and didn't hold out on her in the matter of the right number of closets and cupboards.

EVELYN ARDEN

With the residence completed this week and their furniture selected Mrs. Mulhall is leaving the interior decorating in the hands of a friend and will leave on Wednesday for New York, to remain through the summer months with her husband.

It is quite possible that during her stay in the East, Mrs. Mulhall, who is known to the film world as Evelyn Arden, may return to the screen.

Jack Mulhall is being cofeatured with Dorothy Mackaill under direction of Alfred Santell in the First National picture, "Subway Sadie."

June Caprice Has Test

June Caprice, who was formerly a Fox screen star, but who hasn't been seen on the screen in several seasons, yesterday underwent a screen test at Warner Brothers studio for a role in "Broken Hearts of Hollywood."

Lois Weber's Next

It looks as though Lois Weber, the only woman director in pictures, is to step back into her rightful place as one of filmdom's greatest directors. All the reports on "The Show World" are to the effect that this picture is going to be a sensational success. Universal executives are jubilant over its success attained at previews.

Miss Weber's next picture for Universal will be "The Savage in Silks," according to an announcement made yesterday. This will be the release title of Ernest Pascal's story, "Egypt," which Pascal is now putting into script form.

Doris Deane to Return

Doris Deane, the lovely young wife of Roscoe Arbuckle, is to return to pictures. Miss Deane has not been seen in pictures since her marriage to the comedian. Arbuckle at present is with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Allan Dwan May Switch

It is quite possible, according to report, that Allan Dwan may switch his directorial talents to the Fox banner.

Asked about the matter, Winfield Sheehan, general manager, disclaimed any knowledge of the matter, but it is known that several conferences have been held between Fox officials and Dwan.

Nicholas Schenck Here

Nicholas Schenck, vice-president and general manager, arrived yesterday at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio from New York City and will spend several days' vacation talking over the 1926-27 film product with Irving G. Thalberg, Harry Rapf, Hunt Stromberg and other studio executives.

NICHOLAS SCHENCK

Schenck was accompanied by Felix Feist, general sales manager of the organization, who will be included in the conferences regarding the making and distribution of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's forthcoming productions.

"I am very enthusiastic regarding our schedule for the coming season," said Schenck, "and believe that a great era of prosperity is dawning for the film industry. I am especially optimistic regarding the enormous producing schedule which our organization has just laid out and believe that we will furnish the movie-going world with even a better and larger product than we have given it during the last year.

"With an exceptionally fine studio personnel and outlay of stars, players, directors and story material we are embarking on the most pretentious film schedules ever attempted since the inception of the picture industry. Everything looks auspicious for the making of a large number of really meritorious productions that will startle the picture world."

Cossacks for M-G-M

One hundred and twelve Cossacks, survivors of the European war and internal struggles in Russia, are on their way to California in one of the most remarkable contingents ever organized, to take part in the filming of "The Cossacks," to be produced in October at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios as a starring vehicle for John Gilbert.

The Cossacks, including famous riders, athletes, sword dancers and former soldiers of the steppes, are an organization banded together in Europe from remnants of Cossack troops who had escaped from Russia. They are being brought to the studios at a cost of $250,000 for the new production, which will be one of the most important spectacles of the year. It will be based on suggestions contained in Count Tolstoy's famous story, "The Cossack."

The story of the unique organization reads like a romance in itself. The men, serving under Russia, are a mixed contingent of Mohammedans and native Russian Cossacks, of the Terek and Kouban clans in the Caucasus Mountains, and are among the most daring riders in the world. They served Russia during the imperial regime, served in the White Army, then with the access to power of the Bolsheviks were scattered and disbanded.

Fifty thousand of the Cossack tribe crossed the Caucasus in an exodus from the Reds, and, in Europe, there is said to be an army of nearly 15,000 of them serving in humble callings in many countries and awaiting the call to arms when they hope once more to do battle for the old government of their allegiance.

That indefatigable colonizer, Harry Carey, who already owns a couple of thousand acres near Saugus, where his Trading Post is established, has purchased several hundred acres more adjoining his big ranch, and is likewise importing several more Navajos to work the ranch for him.

Film Tennis Tournament

A tennis tournament to decide the singles and doubles championships of filmland will get under way the 30th inst., with the contestants competing for three silver cups donated by J. Stuart Blackton, producer-director and noted sportsman, who is regarded as one of the finest tennis players in the country. Harvey Snodgrass, well-known tennis champion, has the game in charge.

There are to be three classes—singles for men, singles for women and mixed doubles. The games will be played on the private courts of four movie stars. The first games will be played at the court adjoining the home of Patsy Ruth Miller in Beverly Hills. Miss Miller is to act as hostess on the occasion. The prizes will be placed on exhibition there. Various studio officials will act as judges at the opening and other games. The finals will be played on a neutral court which the tournament committee will select.

Among the film people already entered and who are considered crack players are Patsy Ruth Miller, Gardner James, Monte Blue, Lionel Belmore, Bob Wagner, Winston Miller, Dorothy Phillips, H. B. Warner, Richard Talmadge and others.

Lois Weber's Next

Lois Weber's next picture for Universal will be "The Savage in Silks," according to announcement made yesterday. This will be the release title of Ernest Pascal's story, "Egypt," which Pascal is now putting into script form.

It is said by those who have had a peep at "The Show World," Miss Weber's first picture made under her new Universal contract, that the feature will undoubtedly score a tremendous hit. The picture features Francis X. Bushman and Billie Dove.

Billie Dove Home Soon

Speaking of Billie Dove, that charming young actress wires me from New York as follows:

"Have used New York all up and am all ready to come home, leaving Wdnesday, arriving Sunday, starting immediately on 'Lone Wolf's Return,' costarring with Bert Lytell."

Clive Brook in It

Clive Brook, that splendid artist who has just completed his role opposite Florence Vidor in "Love's Magic," is on the bulletin to play the lead opposite Leatrice Joy when that radiant young star returns from New York. Her next vehicle, for Cecil B. De Mille Productions, is "For Alimony Only," an original story written especially for her by Lenore J. Coffee, who wrote the adaptation, continuity and titles of "The Volga Boatman."

CLIVE BROOK

Story for Monta Bell

Harry Rapf made it known yesterday from his sanctum in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios that Monta Bell has already been assigned to direct "Women Love Diamonds," an original story by Carey Wilson, which Willis Goldbeck is putting into scenario form.

HARRY RAPF

"Women Love Diamonds" is an episodical story relating to the drama and comedy surrounding the happenings incidental to the wanderings of a famous gem.

Estelle Taylor Is Paged

Estelle Taylor may very likely appear in Cecil B. De Mille's next feature. The studio has sent out an S.O.S. call for that popular actress. Word received from her in the meantime is that she is having a delightful time touring the country with Jack Dempsey.

Miss Taylor is a guest this week at a Virginia house party, after having seen the Kentucky Derby on Saturday. She will start home in a few days, stopping at Memphis, Cleveland and Chicago en route.

Judge Chambers Imposes Fines Totalling $3400 on 192 Traffic Offenders

Municipal Judge Chambers still further lowered his average for jail sentences for traffic-law offenders when he ordered confined one man out of 193 who appeared in his court.

This man was Tommy Thomas of 380 Whitmer street, who was sentenced to ninety days for reckless driving. He was arrested by Motorcycle Officer Haney, who described the offense as flagrant.

The court collected $3400 in fines. Judge Chambers declared he had nothing to say about his change in policy.

other station farther south than the Plaza.

The witness testified that the Plaza station would not impede north and south traffic, provided Vignes street were put through under the tracks and provided adequate parking space at the Plaza site were arranged. Proponents of the plan declared they have made all such arrangements.

Whitnall said the traffic situation in the Plaza area could not be justly described as some have described it by referring to it as "the neck of a bottle," except by "people who know only what they see on the surface." He said that delay in erecting the Plaza station project is holding up a number of important improvements in the area. Proposed improvements, he said, will make traffic conditions in the area better than anywhere of corresponding importance in the metropolitan district.

The witness said the center of population of the corporate limits of the city is at Eleventh and Hope streets, but that better traffic possibilities make the Plaza site easier reached from that center than the Arcade Station could be reached.

STRESSED AS FOCAL POINT

He introduced maps showing fifteen traffic arteries leading off the proposed Civic Center quadrangle and immediately connecting with twenty two outlets to various parts of the city. He described the area as a focal point in Los Angeles traffic, saying, "it is so obviously so as to admit of no debate."

It is of great advantage, Whitnall said, to have such an area so well provided with traffic entrances and exits as is this one. Proposed improvements in line with the Major Traffic Plan will make the area even more favorable to the commodious handling of large volumes of travel.

City Attorney Stephens said in opening the session yesterday that he considered it only necessary to introduce at this time such evidence as is new since the sion closed the previous case and commented that he believes "that case was complete at that time." In general terms that case was decided in favor of a union station in the Plaza area and the decision received the indorsement of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The sessions will be resumed Monday at 10 a.m.

A Hit

Those who had the privilege of "Peeping under the tent" at Long Beach, where "Nancy," the Musical Classic, tried out, are unanimous in proclaiming it a triumph.

Ed Schallert says: "The kind of a musical comedy Los Angeles has been waiting for." Florence Lawrence says: "Nancy Welford has surpassed the fame she achieved in 'No, No, Nanette.'"

Benny Starr says: "If you loved Nancy Welford in 'No, No Nanette,' you will idolize her in 'Nancy.'" Fidele Frigonne says: "A musical comedy that is different and thrills you from overture to finale."

NEW COMEDY FLAIR SHOWN BY CORINNE

But "Mlle. Modste" Suffers from Excess of Wise-Cracking Subtitles at Loew's

BY HERBERT MOULTON

Fifi had better return to the stage.

That the screen is not the best place in the world for her will in all probability be the verdict of those who observe her in celluloid form at Loew's State.

As an operetta "Mlle. Modiste" brought fame to Victor Herbert and Fritzi Scheff.

As a movie there is no indication that it will hang laurels on anyone's brow.

It is, at best, only fair entertainment—and this laudation applies only to certain of its episodes.

There is the lovely Corinne Griffith, of course, looking her usual gorgeous self most of the time and revealing a hitherto unsuspected talent for the more animated forms of comedy.

And then there is our old friend, the fashion show!

I have never been able to determine why pictures should be afflicted with clothes-horse parades. They're not in the least spectacular, nor are they, unless done in colors, even very beautiful to behold. They are sometimes referred to as advance glimpses of next season's fashion edicts, but I am inclined to regard that alibi as just another generous helping of mashed apples. Anyone who went down the street in one of the "creations" shown at the average movie fashion show would get a tag before she reached the first stop signal.

But the display of tinseled trifles in "Mlle. Modiste" can be condoned for the reason that the story, as indicated by the title, is laid in one of those exclusive Parisian shops that play such havoc with masculine bank accounts.

The principal objection lies in the subtitles. In the first place there are too many of them and in the second they have that terrible smart-cracking quality affected by so many present-day captioneers.

Whether or not the fault in this instance rests with the title-writer is undeterminable. Inasmuch as an enthusiastic Babbitt person cavorts through most of the scenes and does most of the talking, it was perhaps necessary to record his verbal outbursts with more or less accuracy. Particularly so, in view of the fact that they are supposed to be funny. It is uproariously humorous, one is asked to believe, when this needle-and-thread man from St. Louis asks Fifi if she "knows her onions" and she replies quite seriously that there are no onions on her list of acquaintances, or words to that effect.

This sort of thing becomes quite monotonous.

The romance between Fifi and Etienne, her soldier-lover, does not register as strongly as it should. There are interludes, to be sure, when Miss Griffith and Norman Kerry indulge in sentiment and the words of "Kiss Me Again" are flashed on the screen. But instead of being outstanding, these scenes are merely incidental.

Too much of the film is devoted to Willard Louis's antics as the rich American who establishes Fifi in her modiste shop. Where comedy is concerned, the light and deft touches have been abandoned for steam-roller methods.

Kerry is acceptable as the lover, although there is little opportunty for any distinguished work on his part.

The combination of Charlie Melson's band and Fanchon and Marco in a "Third Annual Radio Idea" is a happy one. Artists from leading local broadcast stations are introduced and their numbers delivered via the loud-speaker.

Principal among those appearing are Maurice Leaf, Ina Mitchell Butler, Frank Steber, Lilyan May Challenger, Frances St. George and "Sunburnt Jim."

French Plays Are Presented by Alliance

An appreciative audience attended the annual theatrical and musical program of the Los Angeles Alliance Francaise, presented last night at the Ebell Club.

Rostand's "Les Deux Pierrots" and the Pailleron comedy, "L'Etrucelle," both one-act plays, were charmingly presented by Mme. Isabelle Archinard, the French actress and director, who had the able assistance of Mme. Carrie Isaye Daumery, in staging them. Mme. Daumery will be remembered as the film actress who scored a recent success in her characterization in "Lady Windermere's Fan."

A group of French songs rendered distinctively by Lucien M. Brunswig, provided the musical portion of the program, and as president of the Los Angeles chapter of the noted French national society, M. Brunswig also gave the address of the evening.

"Boatman" Is Magnet for Film Devotees

With a specially arranged score and a beautiful prologue to precede it "The Volga Boatman" continues to bring packed houses at the Carthay Circle Theater.

De Mille has every reason to be proud of this latest picture of his. The general verdict from audiences has been most complimentary to him and his actors. Elinor Fair, William Boyd, Julia Faye, Theodore Kosloff, Victor Varconi and Robert Edeson.

The story of "The Volga Boatman" revolves around a revolution in Russia, instigated by the peasants who were forced to pull boats like human mules. There is a lovely Princess who eventually casts her lot with the peasants, leaving a most astonished and disappointed Prince.

"Stella Dallas" is Opening at Bard Pasadena

"Stella Dallas," pronounced by critics throughout the country as the greatest picture produced in the past ten years, will open tomorrow at Bard's Pasadena Theater for an eight-day run, according to an announcement made yesterday by the management.

The story is based on the novel and stage play by Olive Higgins Prouty, which has swept the country by storm and now as a photoplay it appears to have eclipsed both the novel and the play as a success. Belle Bennett, who plays the title role, has intrenched herself in the hearts of theatergoers with her excellent work.

DIVERSIFIED APPLAUSE

Evidence of the mixed tastes of America in regard to music is made by Sebastian Leo, conductor of Leo's Society Singers, the trio of prize-winning vocalists from New York City at the Broadway Palace tomorrow. "In Europe when we offered a number the entire house applauded in unison," says Leo, "but here one hears the applause from certain portions of the house—according to the type of songs offered. Very seldom does the entire house show appreciation."

"BLIND GODDESS" IS POWERFUL DRAMA

Louise Dresser in Mother Role and Torrence as Father Win New Laurels

Circumstantial evidence—the futility of it—is the theme of the powerful dramatic production, "The Blind Goddess," which had its Los Angeles premiere yesterday on the Metropolitan screen.

Based on the novel by Arthur Train and directed by Victor Fleming, there is not a minute in the unfoldment of the story that lacks interest.

Into the theme is woven a romance and a stirring element of mother love and self-sacrifice that gives Louise Dresser one of the greatest roles of her career.

Louise Dresser—what an artist she is!

In her delineation of the mother who deserted husband and baby in her young womanhood to return twenty years later a broken-down lonely musical comedy singer, whose one thought is to be restored to her daughter, Miss Dresser takes hold of one's heart strings and ties them into knots. She score a triumph on a parallel with her "goose woman."

The scenes between her and Torrence are human and logical and executed with the greatest attention to details. Every movement on the part of either paves the way for the next—scene following scene with gripping interest.

Torrence's performance, too, is like a gorgeous gem. Here's another artist who walks right in and sits comfortably down in one's heart.

When Louise is put through the third degree by the detectvies, who believe they have a "conviction," interest takes on new stimulus when Jack Holt resigns from the District Attorney's office to defend the supposed criminal.

That courtroom scene is another highlight in the drama through the fine element of suspense maintained and the unexpected turn of affairs in favor of Louise at the last moment.

ZANE GREY FILM AT CRITERION

"Desert Gold" Will Have First Showing Here; Mrs. Denny on Stage

"Desert Gold," the new Zane Grey Paramount picture, which opens today at the Criterion Theater in addition to having a fine cast of humans, is the proud possessor of ten thoroughbred white horses.

But there are two horses which stand out even more than the others. They are "Blanco Diable" and "Blanco Sol" and it is to this pair that most of the action has been entrusted.

One scene in particular is that in which William Powell, as Landree, the desperado, and his gang, attack the hacienda where Shirley Mason lives with her uncle, Josef Swickard. Swickard tells her to escape with an Indian servant on the two horses. This they do, and, after an exciting ride, are able to elude the bandits.

In addition to those named, Neil Hamilton and Robert Frazer have important roles in "Desert Gold."

BURGESS COMEDY ON SCREEN

"Cave Man" Opens Today at Figueroa; Laughlin Stages "Surprises"

Matt Moore and Marie Prevost, one of the clever starring teams on the screen, will be seen at the Figueroa Theater today and throughout the week in Gillette Burgess's rollicking story, "The Cave Man."

"The Cave Man" is said to be a fast-moving comedy drama dealing with a madeover coal-heaver who tries to step into high society. He proves conclusively, 'tis said, that cave-man tactics are the surest way to a woman's heart, provided one doesn't use the method on half a dozen girls at the same time.

Critics who have seen this new photoplay declare that Marie was never more chic or charming, or Matt Moore as fascinating.

Jack Laughlin presents one of his individualistic acts, with artistic stage setting, pretty girls, good voices and graceful dancing. "Surprises," he calls it and the songs one never grows tired of are introduced from the various popular musical comedies.

A Mack Sennett comedy, "Fight Night," Jules Buffano's orchestra which he has named the "Figueroans" and snappy short reels all combine to make a particularly splendid program.

BLUE-CLAD HOST SAYS GOOD-BY

Civil War Veterans Complete Pasadena Encampment

Officers Elected by Various Allied Organizations

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 21. — Old comrades, veterans of the Civil War, who are now all near the four-score mark in years, bid each other farewell this afternoon, many perforce for the last time, as the Grand Army of the Republic, Department of California and Nevada, closed the fifty-ninth annual encampment which it has been holding here this week with five allied organizations.

Peter H. Mass of San Francisco was installed as department commander at a ceremony at the First Methodist Church this afternoon, succeeding C. S. Stoddard of Santa Barbara. New officers of the auxiliary organizations likewise were installed.

REPORTS MADE

An effectionate and tearful scene was staged at the First Methodist Church this morning when a delegation from the Woman's Relief Corps, headed by Mrs. Jessie R. Reed, newly elected president, called on the Grand Army veterans, pledged anew their loyalty to the aged soldiers, and paid many tributes to the "grandest army that ever marched under our flag."

Mrs. Veda H. Knowles, retiring president, reported that the memorial scholarship fund created at the University of California in memory of the veterans by the Woman's Relief Corps now totals $8781, and that the corps has $20,000 in its treasury.

The ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, calling on the G.A.R. in another delegation, reported that their organization plans the erection of a memorial home or dormitory for the old soldiers at Sawtelle at a cost of $50,000. The money was obtained through the sale of property on Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles, Mrs. Eva J. French, who made the report, stated.

OTHERS SPEAK

Others of the group who spoke briefly in greeting and praise were Mrs. Anna Allen of Los Angeles, president-elect of the ladies of the G.A.R., and Mrs. Ida B. Wheeler of San Francisco, senior vice-president.

In responding to Mrs. Knowles, Mrs. Grace B. Willard, past national president of the Woman's Relief Corps, and others from the first delegation, Past Department Commander Cole of Long Beach expressed the gratitude of the Grand Army, saying: "It would be impossible for me to be as loyal to you as you have been to the Grand Army."

E. J. Parker of Santa Ana was elected and installed as president of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War today. Other officers elected were Albert Deems, Los Angeles, senior vice-commander; E. C. Somerby, Pasadena, junior vice-commander; D. B. Bowley, C. O. Boynton and Albert Stalkley, camp council, and C. H. Terwilliger, Jr., J. Romig and Fred E. Carr, delegates to the national encampment.

OFFICERS NAMED

Mrs. Ella May Cloud of Oakland today was elected president of the Auxiliary of the Sons of Veterans of the Civil War. Mrs. Eleanor Graves, Ontario, was chosen vice-president. Mrs. Jean Kellogg, Sacramento, division treasurer; Mrs. Mahala Buckley, Pasadena patriotic instructor; Luetta Tarbush, Ocean Park, chaplain; Mrs. Helen Spaulding, installing officer; Pearl Gillette, Glendale, press correspondent, and Mrs. Jennie Gilliland, Riverside, inspector.

The closing day of the encampment was marred by the death of Frederick A. Copeland, 80 years of age, 1091 Arden Road, Pasadena, who had marched in the annual parade with his fellow-veterans Wednesday morning. His was the only death of a Civil War veteran to occur during the convention.

Mr. Copeland, who was wealthy and well known here, was the father-in-law of Joseph M. Hixon, lumberman of Pasadena, with whom he lived. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Cora Copeland, two daughters, Mrs. Joseph M. Hixon and Mrs. A. G. Paul of Watertown, Fla., and one grand-daughter, Mrs. Paul M. Hunter of Pasadena, wife of the amateur golfer.

Funeral arrangements will be announced after word has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Hixon, who are in Europe.

ATTEND CLEVELAND MEETING

Miss Dorothy Wysor, field secretary, and Miss Eleanor Kimble, business manager for the Travelers' Aid Society at Los Angeles, left last night to attend the national convention of social workers at Cleveland. The meeting will open the 26th inst., and continue for one week.

MOTHERS GIVEN STUDY COURSE

Parent-Teacher Convention Held Yesterday

Preparation of Children for School Outlined

State Representatives Will Gather on Tuesday

BY MYRA NYE

June may be the month for release from school for the pupils, but it is the beginning of work for mothers in Los Angeles.

Yesterday at the annual convention of the Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations, tenth district, Mrs. T. H. Eckerson, chairman of the kindergarten division, started what she called a summer round-up for mothers to join study circles to prepare children of preschool age for their duties as members of kindergartens.

Mrs. Eckerson spoke of Herbert Hoover's commendation of this work and the remarkable results brought about in other States. With the help of M. Madilene Veverka, supervisor, kindergarten-primary department of Los Angeles public schools, Mrs. Eckerson will outline to the mothers of the "round-up" what they are to teach their children as preparation for going to school next September.

WELL-KNOWN RULES

A few of the rules discussed are the common ones well known to adults but new to many children, such as: Cover mouth when sneezing or coughing; mend shoe laces and patronize neighborhood grocery or shop; no meal should be followed by romping, bathing or swimming; eat candy temperately and only good candy and usually at meal time; let each child have a pet, if possible; mother must cooperate with father in child discipline, but never say, "If you do, I'll tell dad to whip you when he comes home;" teach child not to mark books, walls or any public property, never nag, never threaten, never use sarcasm with a young child; teach child to button and unbutton, to tie bowknots and know how to use handkerchief.

All these rules and many others were divided scientifically under the divisions of sanitation, health, thrift and industry, social responsibilities, manual skill and household, efficiency and ethics.

Among those who took part in the open forum with Mrs. F. O. McColloch presiding, were: Mrs. Eckerson, Mrs. James B. Lytle, chairman of preschool division of P.-T.A.; Mrs. H. V. Davis, Mrs. Otto Neher, speaking in behalf of the Women's Symphony Orchestra, which is the only organization indorsed at this convention, and Mrs. F. J. Schwankovsky.

Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey, Superintendent of Public Schools, spoke briefly on the N.E.A. convention and added her own observations concerning the pioneer work of the P.-T.A. in regard to day nurseries and penny kitchens, which have now become school cafeterias.

At the conclusion of the morning session Mrs. McColloch introduced the new officers, only one of whom spoke, the president, Mrs. W. W. Hopps, who in a most delightful way gave a report of the national convention recently held in Atlanta, Ga. Others were second vice-president, Mrs. C. C. Clements; fourth vice-president, Mrs. P. W. Gorham; sixth vice-president, Mrs. W. A. Miller; seventh vice-president, Mrs. Frederick Schwankovsky, and historian, Mrs. Gordon Groves. Counsellors were elected as follows: For section A, Mrs. Pearl Sanifer; section B, Mrs. H. Z. Osborne; C, Mrs. J. L. Thornton; D, Mrs. J. A. Shuey; E, Mrs. Anita Vacher; F, Mrs. Frank R. Schaefer; G, Mrs. Charles A. Elliott.

The afternoon and final session of the convention was given over to announcements and talks concerning the State convention with Mrs. A. W. Meek leading in the symposium of preconvention activities.

CONVENTION TUESDAY

The twenty-seventh convention will open in San Bernardino Tuesday when representatives of a membership of 134,000 throughout the State will convene. Mrs. Hugh Bradford of Stockton will preside. Miss Alma Binzel, nationally famous authority on child welfare, will give the address of the first day and Wednesday an extensive revision of the constitution of the State society will take place, much importance being attached by P.-T.A. members to the proposed revision similar to the one made here yesterday, to elect a number of vice-presidents who will supervise the various groups of departments, in the manner now employed by the national organization. California, it was stated yesterday by Mrs. Hopps, is in the vanguard in membership outnumbering other States of the Union.

Also it is expected that the State as well as the Tenth District, which acted yesterday, will revise in such a manner as to prevent one woman from holding more than one office or chairmanship. Election will take place Thursday. Mrs. McColloch is the only candidate for president.

STREET MAP SUBMITTED

City Engineer Shaw yesterday submitted to the Council the assessment-district map for the opening, widening and extending of the southeasterly roadway of Venice Boulevard between La Cienega Boulevard and Overland avenue. The map was referred to the Public Works Committee.

POACHED EGGS, NORMANDY

Fry an onion, one-half clove of garlic—which may be omitted—some parsley, thyme and a bayleaf, in one ounce of butter. Add one-half pint cider, the same of consomme, or white stock, and cook until well blended. Add salt and pepper, strain it and pour around six eggs, poached in vinegar and water, drained, and laid on toast, previously dipped in hot water to soften it. Garnish with parsley.

AVOCADO COCKTAIL

Cut two fine avocados into small balls with a French potato cutter; chill thoroughly and serve in cocktail glasses mixed with French dressing.

CHICKEN PIE, FRANCE

Joint a large chicken, parboil it, using the water for soup, and cut the meat from the bones and skin. Make a forcemeat of the liver, two ounces of ham, four ounces of tongue, two ounces of butter, and the yolks of three boiled eggs. Season, add onion juice and chop fine. Line a dish with paste, bake it yellow, fill in alternate layers of meat and the forcemeat. Add one cupful of stock mixed with a tablespoonful of lemon juice, a layer of paste, and bake it one and one-half hours. Serve hot or cold.

LETTUCE SALAD, NORMANDY

Wash and pick two heads of salad lettuce. Dry the leaves and tear them apart. Make a dressing of salt, pepper, yolk of two eggs, one-half cupful of cream, one dozen capers and four teaspoonfuls of tarragon vinegar. Beat well, and pour over the leaves, toss and stir until every leaf is coated.

FROZEN CHERRY PUDDING

Three cupfuls of milk, one-half cupful of rice, one and one-half cupfuls of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, three cupfuls of fresh cherries.

Put the milk in the top of a double boiler; add the well-washed rice, and steam for one hour and a half. Add the sugar and salt. Wash and pit the cherries; chop fine, or put through a food chopper. When the rice is cold add the cherries, and freeze at once. The amount of sugar must be guided by the kind of cherry used.

BAKED RAREBIT

One loaf of French bread, one pound of American cheese, three-quarters pound fried bacon, one-half Spanish onion, salt, paprika, Worcestershire sauce and mustard to taste. Cut the top off the loaf of bread, take out all the soft part of the bread, leaving it empty. Put all the other ingredients through a grinder and mix well together. Thin with about half a glass of milk or beer. Fill the loaf of bread, put on the top (tied) wrap in oiled paper and bake for about half an hour or forty-five minutes. Try it. It is fine.

Diet and Health

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

GLOVES FOR SORE HANDS

Mrs. K.—If your hands are sore only when you have them in soapy water a good deal, I judge you have an eczematous condition due to the soap.

Keep some ointment which you know agrees with your skin, on them. (glycerine, diluted four or five times with rose or plain water, agrees with most skins) and wear rubber gloves when you have your hands in water. If the condition doesn't clear up, I would see a skin specialist.

A BAD COMBINATION

Mrs. L.—A woman who is a cripple is more than usually unwise to allow herself to become overweight. Certainly she can reduce, and she should reduce, and she can begin immediately. The sooner, the better.

There is a big probability that the trouble with her stomach is due to the same thing which caused her overweight, and that is, overeating for her needs; and there is no doubt that her condition will be improved when she goes on the right reducing diet. Naturally, as she is a cripple and cannot get around very much, she needs less food than she would if she were normal.

(Our instructions for reducing are just as applicable to her as to a normal person, and I suggest you send for them. Inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope, and ten cents in stamps, with request, and allow at least two weeks to elapse for its receipt.)

Yes, she can reduce on a milk diet. It is a splendid method both for reducing and gaining, for milk is nearer a perfect food than any other food. In reducing, of course, you have to have less calories than you need, and in the gaining you have to have more. A glass of whole milk is 160 calories, and skim or buttermilk is 80. One who wants to lose should have around 1000 calories daily, and one who wants to gain should have up to 4000 (or more!) So the range would be from a quart and one-half to six or seven quarts of whole milk, a day, for the two kinds of cases. In taking milk, it is wise to have some fruit juice, preferably orange juice, during the day.

We have a list of books which tell how to take the milk cure, if you cannot attend any institution or put yourself under the care of a physician. (Send only a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.)

SLEEPING HANDS AND ARMS

L's hands and arms "go to sleep" at night, becoming quite painful at times, waking her up. She is in good health, feels well, works hard all day, and is not bothered with constipation.

If you are well, L., I suggest that your trouble is due to some sleeping position which cuts off the circulation in your arms, and therefore your hands also. If this is the trouble you must see that you don't have your arms under your head or your body. As it is most often during sleep when you are perhaps not aware of taking the cramped position, that you may do so, you might try wearing a gown with long sleeves and pinning them to the outside of the blanket. This may awaken you when you start to put your hands up under your head, but it won't be so disagreeable as the other trouble.

Massage, alternate hot and cold water applications and exercise of the parts will help remedy the condition at the time. Better have a general check-up by a competent physician, anyway.

F.—Send for our article on Headaches. (Enclose only a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.)

My dear Followers: When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose ten cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the stamped, self-addressed envelope if you expect me to send you the information I have offered. [Copyright 1926 by the George Matthew Adams Service.]

BATTLE WITH HI-JACKERS

Father and Son Fight With Intruders in Dark Basement At Residence

Police yesterday began a search for four men believed to be hi-jackers after they had received a report from Joe Kozinsky, retired merchant living at 1949 New Jersey street, that he and his son Frank had engaged them in a struggle in the basement of their home.

Kozinsky said he and his son, who is in the early twenties, went into the basement early yesterday morning upon hearing suspicious sounds. The elder Kozinsky entered first, and was felled in the dark by a blow on the jaw. He got to his feet, to be knocked down again. His son went to his assistance, and a blind battle took place in the dark.

The younger Kozinsky fought his way to a light and switched it on. He saw, he reported, his father struggling to his knees, and four strange men in the place, two of whom were drawing revolvers.

He switched out the light immediately, and dashed upstairs for his own gun. Returning, he saw the four men run out the door leading from the basement to the yard, and fired several shots at them. They drove away in an old automobile.

The elder Kozinsky was severely bruised. Police believe the intruders thought there was liquor in the basement.

EXTORTION INDICTMENT DISMISSED

Case Against Wallace Davis and James L. McDonald Ends as Witness Disappears

An indictment charging extortion, grand larceny and bribery against Wallace Davis, attorney, and James L. McDonald, former member of the Sheriff's prohibition enforcement squad, was dismissed yesterday by Judge McLucas on motion of Dept. Dist.-Atty. Voybada.

The dismissal was asked on the ground that the State's principal witnesses in the case could not be located. It was stated the statutory period of sixty days for bringing defendants to trial had elapsed and that a further continuance in the case could not be legally granted. Voybada stated the case would be taken before the grand jury again and a new indictment asked.

Attorneys for Davis and McDonald objected to the dismissal and insisted that the State proceed to trial at once. They took an exception to the order granting the motion for dismissal.

Three other indictments, charging like offenses, are pending against McDonald and others of his asserted associates. These latter cases are scheduled to be called for trial next Tuesday in Judge McLucas's court. The indictment dismissed yesterday, however, was the only one in which Davis was involved. Davis and McDonald were said to have obtained $500 from P. C. Metzelar and Diana Metzelar by threatening to cause their arrest on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

McDonald, asserted hi-jacker, caused a sensation when he escaped from the Watts jail a few months after his arrest. He was recaptured later in the northern part of the State.

INGLETON'S FUNERAL TO BE TODAY

Services for Film Historian Who Died in Auto Accident at Forest Lawn Church

Funeral services for George Ingleton, head of the research department of the Fox Studios, who was killed while driving through Dark Canyon on his way to the studio Wednesday morning, will be conducted in the Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn Cemetery, at 2 p.m. today.

Ingleton, in swerving to avoid a truck, struck a fence post with such force that the splintered wood broke his jaw and glanced upward through his head.

Mr. Ingleton was 65 years of age and one of the most noted historians and scenarists in the screen industry. Some time ago he sold his private library, which he had been accumulating for forty years, to the Fox Film Company.

Mrs. Ingleton is reported ill at her home in Kagel Canyon, near San Fernando. As author of the book and lyrics of "Patsy," Mrs. Ingleton also is widely known.

PROMOTER ARRESTED AT FROLIC

Rubber Company Founder Held on Warrant Charging Fraud at Riverside

A few minutes before he was to have introduced Sheriff Traeger to patrons of the El Patio Ballroom during the grand march as part of the evening program of the convention of the Nu-Air Rubber Company of America last night, Fred C. Roegge, founder and head of the company, was arrested by two of the county officer's deputies, on a telegraphic warrant from Sheriff Sweeten of Riverside charging Roegge with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Roegge told the arresting officers, Deputies Stephens and Ayers, he does not know what it is all about but declined to make any other statement. He was taken to the County Jail to await the arrival of an officer from Riverside. Bail was set at $5000.

The first State convention of the rubber company took several thousand persons to the El Patio Ballroom for a frolic in which men and women from the entire State took part.

The ballroom was especially decorated for the occasion, and a number of screen notables were present during the evening. Cups were awarded for dancing contests, specialty numbers were presented, and members of the Orange Grove Theater Company also offered a program.

Today members of the organization will open their business program at the ballroom, and plans for a big selling campaign will be outlined. It is expected 6500 delegates will attend.

DORICS ENTERTAIN WOMEN

After this affair, the guests will adjourn to the Barker Brothers auditorium, where a program arranged by Mort Stuart will be given.

GOODCELL LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN

Declares for Economy and Efficiency in Government at Alexandria Rally

Characterizing economy and efficiency in the administration of State government the outstanding political problems of today, Rex B. Goodcell, former judge of the Superior Court and collector of internal revenue, fired the first gun in his campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination last night at a political rally at the Alexandria. Approximately 800 persons attended the meeting that marked the inauguration of his campaign, resulting in the organization of a Goodcell-for-Governor Club here.

Advocating a change in the parole and pardon system in the State, a reorganization of the State Railroad Commission, development of the State natural resources and favoring a reduction of taxes and the building of a Colorado River dam at Boulder Canyon, the speaker said.

"True economy, the spending of all the money necessary to properly conduct and operate the government of the State, is one of the outstanding political problems of today. We want a reduction in taxes, but we should be honest about it. California will not stand for a decrease in its standards of living, but there are unlimited possibilities in revenue in the development of the natural resources of the State."

The speaker declared himself against the present system of taxation and characterized penal institutions as "incubators" of crime.

Many prominent Southern Californians were in attendance, including Mayor Holcomb of San Bernardino; Mayor London of Redondo; Mayor McBain of Glendale; Mrs. D. G. Stevens of Santa Monica; Dr. Harlan Shoemaker of Los Angeles; W. W. Bearman, Leo V. Youngworth, Alfred L. Bartlett and John H. Blair. Frank Jenal acted as toastmaster.

BAR BACKS KEELER TO KEEP BENCH

Beach Association Gives Indorsement and Jurist Indicates He Will Run

Judge Keeler of the Superior Court, appointed by Gov. Richardson last October, will fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Judge Wood, unanimously was indorsed as a candidate to succeed himself at the August primaries in a resolution adopted yesterday by the Long Beach Bar Association. It was said to be the first time in the history of the organization that such a recommendation has been given a candidate for the Superior bench.

Judge Keeler, before his appointment, had practiced law in the beach city for twelve years, and was given the Superior Court post after the Long Beach Bar Association had gone on record as unanimously recommending his appointment by Gov. Richardson.

Adoption of the resolution yesterday and the acceptance of the indorsement by Judge Keeler were considered as an official announcement that the jurist will make the race at the fall elections.

FUNERAL CONDUCTED

Services for Mrs. Leonard Take Place at Church of Flowers

Funeral services for Mrs. Fannie A. Leonard, 71 years of age, were conducted yesterday afternoon at the Little Church of the Flowers in Forest Lawn Cemetery, where interment was made.

Mrs. Leonard died last Tuesday as the result of an affection from which she had suffered many years. The death of her daughter, Mrs. C. B. Erb of Omaha, Neb., less than a week ago resulted in a shock from which she did not rally.

GINGER ALE SALES DISCLOSE PRODIGIOUS THIRST OF CITY

Los Angeles consumes more ginger ale than almost any other city in the country, according to Stanley Ponton De Arce, Pacific Coast representative of the White Rock Mineral Springs Company, who arrived at the Biltmore yesterday.

"During the last ten days our company has shipped ten carloads of ginger ale to this city," he said. "This is only a part of the total, however, for our company, which has only recently begun the manufacture of ginger ale, is only one of several firms supplying Los Angeles with this form of soft drink."

White Rock mineral water, which is produced at Waukesha, Wis., is extremely popular all over California, Mr. De Arce said. "Our shipments to this State run about 100 carloads annually, which means 2,000,000 bottles," he commented. "Most of this is consumed in Los Angeles and San Francisco, either in ginger ale or otherwise."

The sales of the product of the White Rock company have increased about 60 per cent since prohibition went into effect, according to De Arce.

GROWERS VIEW AVOCADO SHOW

Fifty Varieties Exhibited at Ambassador

State Association's Annual Convention Opens

Banquet at Night Attended by 450 Guests

Fifty or more of the 300 or 400 known varieties of avocados are on display at the exhibit connected with the eleventh annual meeting of the California Avocado Association, which opened yesterday at the Ambassador for a two-day session.

The meeting, which is under the chairmanship of E. C. Dutton, president of the association, will conduct its general program of speaking and educational features today. Yesterday's session was given over to committee meetings and inspection of the exhibition provided by some twenty or thirty Southern California growers.

Last night those in attendance at the meeting were guests at a banquet given at the Ambassador, 450 being present. The menu included virtually all the dishes that may appropriately use the avocado among their ingredients. Brief speeches were made by past presidents of the association including Edwin G. Hart, Drs. H. J. Webber and W. L. Hardin and F. O. Popenoe.

What was regarded as the prize exhibit at the avocado display was the collection shown by J. M. Elliott, chairman of the board of directors of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, which comprised thirty varieties, ranging in size from a pound to three pounds.

"The avocado, which came here from Mexico and Guatemala, promises to become one of Southern California's important fruit crops," said William McPherson of Los Angeles, in charge of the exhibit.

In 1925 Southern California produced about 400,000 pounds of avocados valued at about $175,000. The indications are that the 1926 crop will be double that of 1925."

To facilitate marketing, maintain a high standard of quality and educate the public in the use of avocados the association has recently formed an avocado growers exchange. The exchange has adopted a trade name for California-grown avocados that meet certain requirements, this grade of fruit being known as the Calavo brand.

The program for today's session includes lectures and motion-picture films devoted to the intricacies of avacado growing. Among the speakers who will address the meeting are Prof. Robert W. Hodgson of the University of California, C. O. Smith, plant pathologist of the Riverside Citrus Experiment Station, K. L. Wolff, deputy horticultural commissioner of Los Angeles, and others.

FILM CHIEFS TO SPEAK AT CONVENTION

WM. BEAUDINE

Leaders in various branches of the film industry will address delegates to the Motion Picture Theater Owners of America convention here, June 1 to 5, next, at the daily business sessions in the Fiesta room of the Ambassador.

Among the motion picture persons who have been invited to speak on the convention floor are Sid Grauman, representing Los Angeles theater interests; Reginald Barker, president of the Motion Picture Directors Association and William Beaudine, past president; Winifred Dunn, for the scenario division and Joe Rock and Hal Roach for the comedy producers. Other members of the film industry will be added to the invitation list before the opening of the convention, according to Glenn Harper, secretary of the California Division, M.P.T.O.A.

Preceding each business conclave a band concert will be given on the lawn in front of the hotel with various guest musical organizations participating. To date the Los Angeles Letter Carriers Band, Carlyle Stevenson's El Patio Ballroom Orchestra and Harry Carey's Navajo Indian Band are scheduled for the event.

NOSE LEADS DRY HEAD ON STILL QUEST

Telltale Odor Wafted by Breeze Causes Arrest and Seizure of Apparatus

Smashing into a cellar whose entrances were blocked by bolted doors of heavy oak, Federal prohibition agents, led by Ray S. Adams, chief field agent, yesterday arrested J. H. Phillips, said to be an Italian, on charges of manufacturing liquor and possession of a still, and seized 130 fifty-gallon barrels of corn mash and a 175-gallon still at 2416 South San Pedro street.

Agent Adams's nose "knew" the odor of fermenting mash and his motor car was brought to an abrupt stop near the cellar yesterday when the breeze wafted the telltale evidence. Hurriedly summoning his aides the "Ferret," as he is commonly known among his coworkers, "crashed the gate" with great success.

Phillips was arraigned before United States Commissioner Head and his examination was set for Tuesday. Bail was fixed at $2000.

Los Angeles Times-Zain $10,000 Ad-Writing Contest

(Copyright, 1926, Z. A. S.)

Five prizes will be given each week for the best ads written for each concern listed below. Winners announced each Sunday. Contest lasts eight weeks, closing June 22.

In addition to above, a $50 prize will be awarded weekly for the best ad of all submitted each week.

200 SPECIAL PRIZES

In addition to the regular prizes, there will be 200 extra prizes for the week beginning May 19 and ending at 6 p.m. Tuesday, May 25, making a total of 401 prizes to be given for this week's contest.

A grand prize of $500 cash will be paid for the best ad of all ads submitted during the campaign.

Each week's contest will close at 6 p.m. each Tuesday and ads arriving too late will be automatically entered in the following week's contest.

Ads submitted for the grand prize must be received prior to 6 p.m., June 22, 1926.

Everyone may compete except professional advertising writers and newspaper employees. A person may win more than one prize. The contest may be entered at any time. You may write about any one or all of the concerns or products listed and submit as many ads as you wish. An ad may consist of a word, phrase, slogan, poem, letter, essay or regular advertisement.

Each ad must be written on a separate piece of paper, at least postcard size. Any number may be inclosed in the same envelope. Put name of advertiser on top of the ad, and your name and address on the back. Ads will be judged by a committee of Los Angeles advertising men and women. Illustrations, layouts, etc., do not count; all ads judged strictly according to the advertising merit of the idea expressed. All ads sent in become the property of the advertiser, to be used as he sees fit. No advertisements returned.

Mail ads to Ad-Writing Contest, Los Angeles Times, Los Angeles, Cal., or deposit them in special box in lobby of Times Building, Broadway and First street.

DATE SET IN ELECTION AT LONG BEACH

Ordinances Providing for Vote on City Government and Bond Repealed

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, May 21.—The special bond and board of freeholders election originally set by the city Council for the 27th inst., the holding of which was made legally impossible through the failure of city Councilmen to attend council meetings, is to be set for June 16. The city Council, today repealed the ordinances providing for the original election date and authorized the drawing up of suitable legislative measures providing for the new election date.

The only Councilman absent at today's meeting was Councilman Brent. At the election voters will be asked to authorize the issuance of $900,000 in bonds, to be spent in providing a new right of way for the Union Pacific's entry into Long Beach and the removal of the present railroad tracks in the downtown section of the city. A board of fifteen freeholders will also be elected, for the purpose of revising the city charter. A strong fight is expected to develop within the next four weeks against the present city Manager-city Council form of government and it will be centered upon electing a board of freeholders who are favorable to return to the old style, Mayor and Councilmen elected from the wards type of city administration.

Free Publicity Discussed at Ad Club Meet

The round table division of the Los Angeles Advertising Club held its last meeting for this season in the assembly room of the Alexandria yesterday at noon and listened to two talks presenting the question of free publicity from the standpoint of the newspapers and from that of the publicity man. Burton L. Smith, State editor of The Times, gave the newspaper's side of the argument, while Walton Farrar presented the case of the advertising men.

The meeting was attended by a larger representation of the organization's membership than usual as a tribute to their retiring chairman, D. L. Scott of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, who received, as a gift of the club, a handsome traveling bag.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mr. Scott called all members of standing committees of the club to the speakers' table and because of reasons which he briefly outlined discharged all from the job. In conclusion Mr. Scott discharged himself, left the room, and in going said that now as the club was without a chairman no one was left to entertain a motion to adjourn so that he expected to find them in session when he returned again when the fall work was to be taken up.

DEATH ENDS FURY OVER LOST LOVE

Husband Shoots Wife and Sends Fatal Bullet Into His Own Body

Made furious because his wife no longer loved him, John Carlson, about 30 years of age, shot and perhaps fatally injured her and then turned the gun on himself, dying almost instantly. The tragedy was enacted late last night on the sidewalk in front of the little house where Mrs. Amelia Carlson had been making her home at 1326 Yosemite Drive.

When removed to the Receiving Hospital, Carlson's clothes were searched by Supervising Nurse Pearce, revealing a note supposed to have been written by Carlson, which showed the attempted murder and suicide had been contemplated.

The letter, addressed to Mrs. A. G. Dwyer, 1324 Hepner street, a cousin of the dead man, asked that if anything should happen to him he be buried in Los Angeles and "not sent back to Boone."

When residents in the vicinity of the Carlson home were aroused by the shots, they found Carlson lying on the sidewalk dead. Mrs. Carlson was lying about forty feet distant, having apparently tried to run from her husband.

At the Receiving Hospital, Police Surgeon Carey said the woman had small chance to recover.

NEW RECORD IN CONTEST URGED

Angeles public averages greater in brain power than any other city in the country. Such, at least, has been our experience with other contests. We'd like to show 'em that in this contest we're more right than ever. We'd like to prove to the merchants and firms who are co-operating with us in this test of intelligence that nowhere else in the United States will be found the volume of real returns that our Los Angeles public can give us.

So let's make it a race! In Boston, Mass., the Boston Post received more than 3,000,000 replies to a contest similar to this. It was over the same ten-week period—an average of 30,000 a week.

Can The Times readers write more than 30,000 advertisements between now and next Tuesday night? We believe they can—let's do it!

In another part of the paper you will find a list of rules of this easy, simple and entertaining contest. There, also, is printed a list of the "Famous Forty," the firms who are co-operating with The Times to make this competition a success. You are simply asked to write your thoughts about these firms and their products—for advertisements, after all, are but written thoughts.

Today is a good time to begin. Tonight is just as good. And say—what are you going to do Sunday?

Don't be missing something.

SALESMAN
AND MUCH MORE

If you are willing to work.

That is what you should average if you can make 1 sale a week for us. It all rests with you. Hard workers are what we want. If you are used to pushing door bells all day selling some low-priced article, we can show you how to make much more money with the same amount of work, without having to canvass for your leads.

This job pays steady money rather than big money. But you can work up a fine volume if you will follow our simple selling methods and keep going. If you would welcome $300 to $600 per month see us at once.

You must have a car. Ask for J. W. FRAWLEY, at 1010 S. Hill St.

DUAL PROGRAM GIVEN BY KHJ

Baptist Young People Again Before Microphone

Two Student Orators Heard by Radioland

Children's Bill Opened by "Little Minister"

BY PAUL SHEEDY

Radioland last night was entertained by a dual program from the tower studio of KHJ on the main concert period. For the hour from 8 to 9 p.m. the Southern California Baptist Young People were again before the station's microphone with another splendid broadcast entertainment, followed by an hour of diversified vocal and instrumental music by Times artists and then a period of dance music by Aspen's Pasadena Night Hawks.

The Baptist Young People's program was opened by the University of Redlands Male Quartet in a group of excellent numbers, followed by Helen E. Lumpkin, possessor of a splendid soprano voice; Harry Decker, ukulele soloist, and Harry James Beardsley, baritone, known over the air from the tower as "Cousin Jim."

Arthur Edwin Wake, assistant pastor of Wilshire Presbyterian Church, appeared before the microphone at 9 p.m. with another of his engrossing series of talks on the general topic of "Success," with the evening featured by two other outstanding addresses when William Behnke of Whittier High School and Alen Bible of the Fallon (Nev.) High School delivered the orations that won them high places in the recent Times finals for the National Oratorical Contest. Others of the winners are to appear on ensuing evenings.

The musical entertainment during this latter period was given by Grace Currey, long a prominent harpist of the station; William MacDougall, well-known Scotch comedian and singer, and others. At the conclusion of their program the hour of dance music was started.

In conjunction with the opening of the series last evening of the youthful orators, Judge Bledsoe spoke on the "Constitution" during the fore part of the evening, following the nightly Scripture lesson, which was delivered by Rev. W. S. Dysinger, pastor of the First English Lutheran Church.

The children's-hour program was opened by Richard Headrick, the "Little Minister," followed by Billy Lord, the "Police Comrade;" Bettiemae Pfefferkorn, the "Bobolink of KHJ;" Laura May Schuler, 7-year-old reader; Billy Schuler, 9-year-old reader, with the musical portion of this twilight broadcast given by the Piggly Wiggly Girls' Instrumental Trio.

June Park, always a favorite with her blues songs, was featured at noon yesterday when LeRoy Parry and his Elite Orchestra gave the concert from 12:30 to 1:30 p.m.

Discussing the censorship angle of the Dill-White radio bill, an authority points out that broadcast stations are protected against libel. A section of the present bill provides that no person shall knowingly utter any false or fraudulent radio communication nor any libelous or slanderous communication by radio.

The word "utter" placing the responsibility directly upon the speaker rather than on the station, it is contended. This section, it is felt, is designed to protect the stations which have no authority to censor or even edit matter transmitted.

The other radio bills covered this subject in phrases containing the words "utter or transmit," thus making the broadcast station equally liable.

A curious omission is that coastal broadcast stations are not required to close down when an "SOS" is heard, although it is required that when necessary a watch for "SOS" calls must be maintained.

The voice of "Eek" Barnes will be missing from the station of KHJ for the next few days, but there is every likelihood that he will be called upon to perform as guest announcer by Maj. Lawrence Mott over KFWO at Catalina Island as the assistant manager of the tower studio is taking a rest at Avalon, leaving today in a party with Walter Biddick, who is also well known in Radioland.

While on the island, the party plans visiting the mammoth location for the filming of "Old Ironsides" at the Isthmus, where James Cruze, director, is making a great screen spectacle. Radio plays an important part in the spectacle as Cruze uses a special broadcasting set, linked over the air with twenty-seven receivers, to direct the sea battles in this re-creation of the war against the pirates of Tripoli.

NICKEL COSTS JOSEPH $2475

Valuable Securities Stolen From Him as He Stoops to Pick up Coin

By stooping for a nickel, Joseph L. Cadieux, 632 Stanford avenue, yesterday lost $40 in cash and $2435 in securities.

But he got the nickel.

Cadieux was in Pershing Square. He heard a coin jingle to the concrete, looked down and saw it rolling toward him. He bent down and picked it up. Some one took advantage of his position to abstract his wallet, but he did not miss this till he gave up looking for the owner of the vagrant bit of currency and decided to put the nickel away.

Then he reported the occurrence to the police.
